Women's organization buys apartment-office building

Concluding several years of intensive effort, the National Council of Negro Women, headed by Dr. Dorothy Height, purchased the apartment-office building at the Cambridge Apartments, 1250 Fairmont Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C., on March 30.

"This represents the fulfillment of the dream of our past president, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune," stated Dr. Height, president of the Council, in her remarks at the ceremony. Mrs. Bethune, the founder of the Council, in 1935 purchased the Historic Home in Washington, D.C., which is now the National Headquarters of the Council.

Dr. Dorothy Height said that the Council has grown from 5 women in 1935 to 4 million women in 27 states in the United States and Virgin Island, and 4 million women that the national office will create and of the Cambridge Apartments will be able to expand its leadership skills and manpower resources to meet the challenges of the 1980's. Approximately 75 percent of the apartment owners who are league members.

The Cambridge was purchased from Columbia Realty Venture for $3,450,000. Designed by the well-known architectural firm of Cohen and Haft, and built in 1965, it is a 10-story elevator, air - conditoned building, containing 231 apartments and 15,000 square feet of office space on the first floor.

Among its many amenities are a real - by swimming pool, a party room and underground parking garage. It is located just a few blocks away from the site of the new convention center being planned for Washington and is within walking distance of the downtown area.

"We decided to buy this building for a number of reasons," said Dr. Whickam. "In the first place, we knew it would be a good investment for our organization, now and in the future.

"The plan, because of the first-class office space, will more than pay for itself. The Cambridge is a very well-managed apartment complex, and we intend to maintain the high standards which will make every hundred pennies.

"We will be contacting business that will be interested in our new offices. We are also planning to offer apartments for rent to the general public, and advertising our availability of the building.

"We are very pleased with the new and great opportunity for our organization to take in the operation field," said Dr. Whickam. "We feel that the building will be able to expand its facilities and manpower resources to meet the challenges of the 1980's. Approximately 75 percent of the apartment owners who are league members.

One of the league's first activities since taking over the Cambridge was a program planning session of its board of directors.

Aside from Dr. Whickam, other officers and members in attendance included Mrs. Maude Gadsen of New York City, first vice president; Mrs. Gladys W. Davis of Washington, secretary - treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth J. Lee, first of Washington; Mrs. Lena M. Saunders of Chicago; Mrs. Lillie Mae Foskey of Norfolk, Virginia; Mrs. Margaret H. Miller of Anderson, South Carolina; Mrs. Lillie W. Snipes of Greensboro, North Carolina; Mrs. Hermiana Carroll, Monroe, Louisiana; and Mrs. Ruth T. Matthews of Washington.

Mabs' Diary

A Spring Celebration with the Alpha Wives

By Mabs Kemp

The Alpha Wives of Washington, D.C., an organization composed of wives of men of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., was involved in and was the leadership of Mrs. Bernice B. Jenkins.

Illustrated to service, the group has made substantial contributions to national organizations, hospitals, homes for senior citizens, and to educational and cultural causes.

Specifically, funds raised through the projects of the Alpha Wives go to the Alpha Wives' Scholarship Fund, the Henry A. Callis Scholarship Plan, the hospital for Sick Children, Howard University Hospital, Clothing for Kids, Inc., the Stoddard Baptist Home, Children's Hospital Medical Center, the Louis R. Whipper Home, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

They repeat fund raiser, "A Spring Celebration, '79", was held in the Palladian and Palaca Park Rooms of the Sheraton - Americana Hotel. The theme, in keeping with the International Year of the Child as set forth for 1979 by the National Commission, emphasized children, even including a beautiful montage of pictures of their children when they were very young which appeared in the souvenir program; and, featuring six - year - old Joan Newsome (she has been playing the violin since he was four) who played Concerto No. Two, Third Movement, by Beitz.

It all began with a reception in the Island Park Room where guests mingled, talked and sipped cocktails, or whatever. It was a refreshing hour when one got to see and talk to friends and acquaintances.

It was during this time that I saw Ellen Williams whom I had not seen for many years; Elizabeth Cook, Bea Sorrell, Esther Jones, Nan Pendergrass, Athene Jackson, Muriel Barnett, Arise Malone, Johnnie Hough, Sarah Brown;

Calbert, Chaplain, Mu Lambda Chapter, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity; greetings by Mrs. Pearl Roper, the violin solo previously mentioned, rendered by John Newsome, accompanied by Mrs. Velma L. Simpson at the piano; the introduction of dais guests by the MC; a presentation to Mrs. Lucille W. Bethea, president of the Wives, in absentia and accepted by her sister, Mrs. Aretta Moore; of the Myre C. Callis Scholarship Awards, by Mrs. Edna McClellan and a special presentation by Mrs. Maureen Ayton.

Lunch, fashions and the drawing of door prizes occupied the remainder of the program.

Fashions by Lillie Rubin, Inc. and coordinated by Ms. Sandy Sullivan were very colorful and exciting, particularly the housing guests models were Alpha daughters Joy D. Ayton, Cecilia Calhoun, Marjorie Booker Darden, Patricia Haywood Moore, Sylvia Peppers Mimby; and, they paraded the ramp like professionals.

The dais guests included Peggy Strauss Griffiths, Esq., who was the honored guest and is a government attorney; Mrs. Maureen Ayton, MC; Dr. Elinor Bennett, president of Mu Lambda Chapter, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.; Mrs. Edna McClelland, Sean Malachi, award recipient; Mrs. Arlene Brooks, award recipient; Hilda Mason, D.C. councilwoman-at-large;

Rev. William Calbert, chaplain Mu Lambda Chapter, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity; Mary Donnelly, Children's Hospital; Mrs. Burma Whitted, Howard University Hospital's Pediatrics Department, Willie Mae George, luncheon co - chairperson; Cilla Marks, Madlyn Calbert, wife of Chaplain Calbert and Aretta Moore, wife of Alpha Phi Alpha's Mu Lambda Chapter and sister of Alpha Wives' president.

Members of Alpha Wives are: Barbara Alston, Fred Anderson, Elizabeth Atkins, Maureen Ayton, Josephine Bland, Thomye Booker, Lucile Bridges, Minnie Brown, Madlyn Calbert, Cecelia Calhoun, June Campbell, Rosette Carrington, Fern Collins, Marian Cowan, Juanita Dosey, Etta Drayton, Josephine Edwards, Ruth Evans, Madeline Franklin, Willie Mae George, Ostrice Gilliam, Dorothy Green, Ruth Greer, Dorothy Harris, Marie Haywood, Frankie Hensley, Bernice House, Elaine Jenkins, Sylvia Jones;

Mohawk Anderson's invitation to her birthday party began with the question: "Would you believe I still celebrate my birthday? They went on to say: It's true, I do and I would be so happy to have you share this festive occasion with me and my favorite people at the Capitol Hill Club for a cocktail buffet reception.

Call for boycott of Krugerand, wine

A Washington coalition of religious, peace, human and civil rights groups is urging the students to boycott products imported from South Africa and China, especially the Krugerrand gold coins and wines.

The consumer boycott was announced at a press conference held by the coalition's Washington Office on Southern Africa and Allen Mahlangu, Freedom Fighter for Humanity.

A spokesman for the coalition said the boycott would be one measure which would serve to focus attention on growing Nationwide protest against United States enterprises in collaboration with the South Africa's apartheid regime.

He said the boycott was also aimed at the Carter administration pressure China and Brazil to South Africa and there have been severe human rights violations in that country since the military coup there five years ago.

The coalition has called on Mayor Marion Barry to use his executive discretion as city authority not to approve for city institutions foodstuffs from "the two offending countries," and has requested D.C. City Council Chairman Arrington Dixon to place before the full council for immediate action a ceremonial resolution welcoming the consumer boycott.

Groups initiating the boycott are Clergy and Laity Concerned; Women Strike for Peace; the Chile Legislative Center; the Southern Africa Support Project and the South Africa Project of the Institute for Policy Studies.
