Guydon on Garcia

Hopkins defection seen no great Bear deterrent

By Samuel Davis

Morgan basketball coach James Guydon hears it almost every day.

Have you replaced Garcia Reynolds?

Hopkins, who led Morgan in scoring and rebounding, left the school for the NBA as a hardship case, only to be cut by the Washington Bullets.

Guydon's response:

"It's strange, we're going to miss him but we do have a better team overall," said the second year coach, who came to Morgan after stints at Wichita, Iowa, and his alma mater Drake.

Hopkins was not Guydon's only substantial loss. His club will also have to perform without second and third leading scorers Anthony Young and Darrell Davis, respectively.

Despite a successful 18 - 12 record, Guydon felt his weak spots were ball handlers and outside shooters, so he went hunting last summer.

He does have last season's starting point guard, 5 , 10 Robert Brown who averaged just over six points a game, and dished out 105 assists.

Pressing Brown for his spot is 6 - 1 Roderick Barber from Baltimore's Cardinal Gibbons High School. While quarterbacking the club to a 27 - 5 mark, he averaged 15 points and six assists a game.

Steve Jenkins, a 6 - 3 guard from Mackin High School in D.C., is expected to strengthen the guard spot, along with reserve returnee Erwin Thomas.

Yarborough Roberts from Pembroke High School in Virginia, may have been Guydon's best catch.

The 6 - 5, 175 - pounder can play both the guard and forward spots, as he did at Pembroke where he shot 65 percent from the floor and averaged 29 points a game.

Guydon's recruiting also brought 6 - 7 Jeffrey Tucker from Overbrook High in Philadelphia. There he played on a team that at times ranked first in the nation, and ended with a 34 - 1 log.

Washington prepsters Frank Isaac and Reginal Fuqua, both 6 - 7, look to fill the voids left by Hopkins and Young also.

Aaron Wells, a 6 - 8 center also from Philadelphia is the last of the newcomers.

Morgan's top returnee unquestionably is all - MEAC center, 6 - 7 Byron Witherspoon. The junior averaged better than seven points and rebounds a game.

Last season reserve forwards Darrell Emerson and Mike Warren, and center Albert Bussie complete the 1979 - 80 Golden Bears.

Shootout Sunday in NFL

Sunday's action in the National Football League will feature several crucial contests for division titles and playoff berths among various teams.

But there also will be a grand shootout in the ranks of the players.

The league's four top runners will go toe-to-toe for the rushing title at Chicago and Houston.

Earl Campbell, last year's rushing leader, has a seven-yard lead on Ottis Anderson, the St. Louis Cardinals' prize rookie. Campbell hoiled his way for 104 yards in 33 carries against Pittsburgh Monday night to surpass Anderson — who gained 140 yards against the New York Giants last Sunday.

Campbell has rushed for 1,563 yards to Anderson's 1,556.

Anderson has said the Cardinals' season finale in Chicago Sunday will be "showdown city" for the NFC rushing title with the Bears' Walter Payton, who is third among rushing leaders with 1,453 yards.

There will be a similar showdown in Houston where Campbell will try to regain his crown against the Philadelphia Eagles. The Eagles' Wilbert Montgomery also has a shot at the title. He is fourth in rushing statistics with 1,452 yards.

Coppin's Bates ignores heart attack, dropouts

By Samuel Davis

Considering what basketball coaches go through during a regular season, perhaps they should have physicals like their players, before beginning play.

One who may agree is Coppin's John Bates, who after three games, suffered a heart attack during a contest in Baltimore's Metro Tournament last year. Afterwards, Bates was instructed by his doctor not to coach for the remainder of the 78-79 campaign.

Under the direction of interim coach, Lewis Smith, last season's squad compiled a 19-8 mark, but the beauty of it all is that at least 10 of the members of that team were expected to return along with coach Bates.

Well, Bates returned, but only two of the players did. The others decided to find jobs or just quit the game.

Because of his illness and the expectancy of at least 10 lettermen, Bates did not recruit and when he learned of the situation, he didn't have time for the task.

His only alternative was to take the two reserves he had returning and work from there.

So with 6-4 forward, Fred Stringfield and Darrell Singleton, he added five names with no college experience and little high school play, in an attempt to at least salvage the program.

"What I have to do is block out the record. I've had my shares of wins, so that's not important," Bates explained. "We have to try and at least salvage the program, and then we can start from the bottom and rebuild."

Bates is not trying to fool himself or anyone else. He knows that his club is not going to set the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics on fire, as Coppin teams have done in the past.

The Eagles are a relatively small team with 6-1 Nathaniel Terry, Robert Wilson, and Michael Howard, all playing forward spots. Ervin Lewis and Mark Johnson are but 5-10.

"If we can keep the team thinking of more than just the scoreboard," Bates explained, "I think we can be respectable."

"But with all due respect to what Coppin teams have done in the past," he continued, "this season's team will show that the program can go on no matter what happens."
