HEALTHIER COWS, MORE MILK—
AT LESS COST!

Proper stock feeding is a matter that deserves the serious attention of every progressive farmer. The right feed results in healthier, happier stock—more milk production—increased earnings. A proper balanced ration is important. Experiments show that seven cows fed GROUND feed produce as much as ten cows fed whole grain.

GRINDING DEMONSTRATION

We will have public demonstrations of this combination grinder at our store, when we will grind hay, fodder, corn, etc. Don't forget the dates below and come in and see this mill in operation.

LOCAL ITEMS OF INTEREST

—It is reported that the Piggly Wiggly stores will open in Chestertown in January.

—A Special Christmas Article, written for this paper, will be found on page six of this issue.

—Rains this week have helped considerably the almost dry wells and springs throughout the county.

—Mr. John H. Clendaniel and family, of near Kennedyville, moved on Queen street, Chestertown, this week.

—Corn reached the highest prize of the season here Saturday when 75 cents per bushel was being paid for it.

—Mr. Abe Sachs has a change of advertisement in this issue in which he suggests appropriate Xmas gifts for your friends.

—This is a good year for the Kent oystermen. One day recently oysters brought $1.25 per bushel. The supply on the beds seems to be good.

—Mr. J. D. Bacchus, agent for his sister, Miss Hattie I. Bacchus, has sold the corner brick building, on High and Queen streets, to Mrs. T. H. Topping.

—Mr. Robert J. McWhorter expects to move near Clayton on a grape and fruit farm next March and Mr. P. V. Hendrickson will occupy the Wilkins farm.

—William Elliott, of Queen Anne's, had the misfortune to have his carriage badly damaged on Monday morning when he was run down by an automobile.

—F. C. Hanna, of Pennsylvania, advertised that he had lost his red setter in this section of the state recently. Mr. Lee Robinson located the animal for him.

—More beautiful holly wreaths are being sold in Chestertown this Christmas than for many years. The holly is beautiful and full of red berries this year.

—Mr. Jesse Medders has purchased from Mr. John E. Barnes a building lot on Queen street and has contracted with Stavely and Bowers for the erection of a home.

—Joe Wilmer, colored, was sentenced to nine months in the House of Correction, and Parker Maize was fined $25 for engaging in a pistol fraccas in Chestertown recently.

—After driving an angry hen off her nest in a pile of fodder which filled the manger, the Fredericksburg, Va., police found nearly 100 gallons of moonshine on a farm near that city.

—Christmas merchants and business people have been unusually busy the past week, while farmers have also been quite active, bringing produce, poultry, corn, etc., to the local markets.

—Three Washington College students walked to Claiborne Saturday to take the ferry and go to Annapolis to see the W. C.-Navy basketball contest. When they arrived at Claiborne the boat had just left.

—A cold wave struck Chestertown Monday afternoon and by night the weather was freezing cold. On Tuesday morning the thermometer reached 15 degrees, which was the coldest of the year.

—A few of Betterton's business men joined together last week to talk of the Ferry that is to run from Betterton to Havre de Grace. The work will begin in the spring and is under the supervision of F. S. Groves.

—The house of Mr. Duncan Derringer, of near Locust Grove, had a narrow escape from fire last Sunday, owing to a defective flue. Fortunately, the family was at home and they put it out before any great damage was done.

—Deputy Game Warden Edgar J. Watson has notified all trappers that the law imposing a fine of $25 and costs will be rigidly enforced against every person violating the law governing the trapping of muskrats before January 1.

—Mr. Gilbert M. Hadaway, of the progressive firm of Hadaway Bros., has accepted a position as salesman with Wilson & Co., the well-known meat packers of Baltimore. Mr. Hadaway will still continue his meat business here.

—Mr. Belt Townshend, who represented the insurance companies in which the Miller Strong property in Piney Neck was insured, delivered the last check this week in settlement of the insurance losses on the property. This was prompt settlement.

—Given hearings before Magistrate R. L. Alderson, of Cecilton, charged with violating the game and hunting laws, Thaddeus Brown, of Cecilton, was fined $25 and costs for killing a muskrat out of season, and Philip Regging, of Fredericktown, wasfined $15 and costs for hunting without license.

—The second entertainment of the Lyceum Course at Washington College Tuesday evening last was a big success in a musical way, although only a small crowd attended. Our people should attend these entertainments whenever possible. They have been secured at a big expense by the college and are worthy of larger crowds.

—Easton is one of the most progressive towns on the Shore—if its control of its public utilities counts for anything. By an overwhelming vote the citizens of the town on Thursday decided to acquire ownership of the Easton gas plant, so that now the people own every one of the public utilities by which they are served.

—The County Commissioners have organized as a Board of Review for the purpose of handling work on the new assessment. The assessors have completed their work and all data is at hand for the new valuation to be placed on all property in the county, both real and personal. The board will soon begin the sending of notices to the taxpayers. Should there be any complaint on the assessed valuation, the person complaining may appear before the board and show cause for a change in the same.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our darling baby, Edna Mae Crew, who departed this life three years ago, Dec. 25, 1919.

She is not dead, the child of our affection,
But unto that school
Where she no longer needs our poor protection
And Christ himself doth rule.

Not as a child shall we again behold her,
For when with raptures wild
In our embrace we again enfold her
She will not be a child.

But a fair maiden in Father's mansion,
Clothed in celestial grace,
And beautiful with all the soul's explanation
Shall we behold her face.

By Her Loving Parents,
MR. AND MRS. HARRY CREW,
Betterton, Md.

No Surrender

During the unneighborly war between England and France, in one sea-fight H. M. S. Marlborough was engaged in a severe battle, and got the worst of it. The captain and second lieutenant were dangerously wounded, the vessel was so shattered that to handle her was impossible, and the officers and crew were deep in conference as to a "surrender." One officer protested, declaring he would would nail the colors to the mast and go down fighting. There were some poultry-coops on the deck, and during the fight the coops had been broken and the poultry were roaming at will. At the moment when the protest against "surrender" was going on, a young rooster happened to fly on the stump of the broken mast, and, having reached the top, flapped his wings and sent out a lusty clarion cry of "cock-a-doodle-doo." The sailors gave a loud cheer and vowed there should be no surrender. A few minutes after H. M. S. Aquiton came to their help and towed the Marlborough to a place of safety. The gallant young rooster became a public hero.

Lives Of Unremitting Toil

Laborers in America who think they have a hard life should see the Chinese coolies. Imagine wheeling a barrow with a four or five hundred pound load for hundreds of miles over roads difficult to travel even on horseback! Usually there are two men to a barrow. The one at the handles, by means of a strap over his shoulders, takes much of the weight from his arms, leaving his hands more or less free to guide and balance the load; the one in front drags it forward with a ten-foot rope. Panting and straining, with the sweat streaming from their half-naked bodies; pulling through foot-deep yellow dust, lifting over rocks and dragging up hills; at night gulping a bowl of soup or macaroni and, half dead with fatigue, falling asleep on the ground in the inn courtyard among the pigs, chickens and mules—so they live, day after day, year in and year out, with nothing else to look forward to.
