GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. John Smith (Emily) of Lutherville were recently feted by their children with a surprise celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary at Edgewood United Methodist Church, Lutherville.

The John Smiths mark golden year

SMITH'S GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Recently John and Emily Smith of Lutherville, Md. were surprised when their seven children feted on their 50th wedding anniversary.

The anniversary celebration was held at Edgewood United Methodist Church, Ballona Ave. Over 100 guests attended.

Mr. Smith is a retiree of the W. A. Taylor Co.

The Smith's children presented a program for them in the sanctuary of the church, which the Rev. Robert Waters, a cousin from Philadelphia, opened by leading the devotional service.

During the program honoring the Smiths, their children presented them with an acrostic plaque, which bore the word "Parents."

Each letter of the word spelled out an inspirational quality which they felt their parents possessed — very touching. They also thanked their parents for the 50 years of joy they had given them.

The Smith's 9 grandchildren presented the honorees with a picture of themselves, when they were 32 years old, inscribed "50th Anniversary."

Following the closing of the program with the benediction by the Rev. Albert Staton, former pastor at Edgewood United Methodist, and a close family friend, a dinner party was held in the church dining hall.

A lovely, three-tiered white wedding cake, trimmed with yellow flowers and gold leaves with a bride and groom on top, graced the banquet table.

The couple received many gifts of gold, money and cards of good wishes and congratulations.

So suprised was Mrs. Smith that she almost didn't let the photographer take her picture.

When she got over her surprise her joy came through as she gave thanks for being spared up to her 50th year of marriage. She and Mr. Smith thanked their children for the lovely affair.

The Smith children are Mrs. Emily Maddox, Mrs. Alice Adams, John Q. Smith Jr., Mrs. Bessie Beard, Miss Ann Smith, Jerry and Randy Smith.

Interestingly enough, the latter three children were born 18 years after the first four.

In addition to their seven children and 9 grandchildren, the Smiths have 13 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Millard serves as a Youth Advisor at Wayland Baptist Church. Her involvement with the youth activities resulted from an inquiry she made concerning the NAACP youth council in Howard County and her desire to help young people.

Mrs. Millard lives in West Baltimore and has attended Wayland approximately 25 years. She is the mother of three girls and one boy. Diane and Harriett, the two oldest, are seniors at Morgan State University. Harriet is also an SSA Computor Operator.

Nettie, who served as a capitol page last year, is a freshman at Howard and eight year old Demaune attends the Mt. Washington County School for Boys. The entire family attends the Wayland Life Style Sunday School.

Along with her Church involvement, Mrs. Millard is involved with the Walbrook Parent Teachers Association's Executive Committee and the executive committee of the Windsor Hills Neighborhood Association.

Mrs. Ashby is a native of Baltimore, where she resides with her husband and children.

Woodlawn Highlights

Osalee Millard, diligent worker with youth

Osalee "Lee" Millard has been a Communications Relay Operator for the Social Security Administration most of her 15 years in Federal service.

Like many young women in the SSA work force, Mrs. Millard entered on duty as a Card Punch Operator and gradually worked her way into her current position in the Office of Data Communications.

Her duties require her to maintain close contacts with the Program Service Centers and Health Insurance Agencies throughout the United States.

A totally involved individual, she recently helped coordinate a Black History Program for the Wayland Baptist Church's NAACP Youth Council.

The program theme was "Awareness and Survival." In addition to Miss Nettie Millard and Anthony Pressley who spoke on Youth In Education and Youth in Politics respectively, John Parker Jr. Youth Advisor for the Maryland State Conference of NAACP Branches, also served as a panelist. He spoke on Youth In Action.

Mrs. Millard serves as perform their work.

He also called upon all employees to support the special initiatives being launched by SSA in conjunction with the International Year of Disabled Persons.

Since the United Nations has designated 1981 as the International Year of Disabled Persons, Doggette stated that "We at Social Security have a commitment to create an atmosphere in which all persons handicapped or not, have the right and opportunity to compete on equal terms. Our goal is to develop a work force best qualified to carry out our mission and handicapped individuals can and must be a part of that team."

Mrs. Margaret Wilson's latest and most important venture is her entrance into the new Sojourner - Douglas College as a Sociology major. She is also working with the Radio Committee on a WEBB Saturday morning radio program called the "Sojourner - Douglas Times."

Currently on detail to the Division of Personnel, Mrs. Wilson is permanently assigned to SSA's Employee Health Services.

Agency for Handicapped

In a recent Commissioners Bulletin, Herbert R. Doggette Jr., who was at the time Acting Commissioner of Social Security, stated that a special agency fund was being established to purchase equipment needed by severely handicapped employees to help them
