Dr. Harvey Webb, Jr. a resident of Columbia and Executive Director of Constant Care Community Health Center located on Division Street in Baltimore is seeking contributions from clubs and private donations to be used for medical equipment and audio visual equipment. Please call the Center at 383-8300.

Constant Care is a nonprofit organization, established to deliver comprehensive health care to the citizens of West Baltimore. Dr. Webb said that most of the patients are members of the black community which seems to have a low priority in Washington.

Among their 13,000 patients a substantial number are little children, teen-agers and senior citizens, many are very poor and some are ill.

The Center relies on private contributions to take them beyond their minimal funding and contacts. Club groups may tour the Health Center at anytime by calling 383-8300.

Please consider making a contribution today in order for the Center to continue giving excellent health care to patients.

Honor Awards Program held

By Marjorie R. Green

The 1981 Honor Awards program held this week in the auditorium of the Altmeyer Building saw many deserving Social Security employees from across the country receive the Commissioner's Citation and other special awards.

Noticeably missing from the list of names called were many of the analysts, secretaries, typists, file clerks and mail clerks who helped establish SSA's "unparalleled reputation for efficiency" that Commissioner John A. Svahn alluded to in his remarks printed in the Honor Awards program booklet.

In comparison to yesteryears there was a surprising number of top managers and executive staff members from the field operations as well as Central Headquarters who received awards.

It was interesting to note that the combined efforts of the Office of Central Records Operations and the Office of Disability Operations netted less than 10 local minority recipients of the coveted Commissioner's Citation.

We extend congratulations to some of the local honor award recipients whose noteworthy contributions did not go unnoticed or unrewarded.

PEARL R. TURNER, a supervisor in the Division of Claims was recognized for outstanding personal contributions as Acting Section Chief of the Metro West mailroom; RAE C. HILLEN was awarded for her ability to consistently meet critical deadlines while performing difficult and arduous tasks in the Division of Adjustment Operations.

NORMA DAVIS, a supervisor in the Division of Operations Services successfully merged the files, mail and case control section into a well operated mail and distribution branch thus reducing all backlogs to an unexpected level.

DORIS HUFF an Inquiries Specialist in the Office of Disability Operations was commended for excellence in complying job responsibilities and in enhancing the image of the Social Security Administration.

PEARLIE JACOBS received the citation in recognition of his outstanding contributions to operational efficiency by improving the quality of information on the case control system.

Outstanding effort and achievement in the distribution and timely delivery of correspondence and materials was the basis for mail clerk SAMUEL MACER's award.

Congratulations are also extended to JOHN B. TROLLINGER JR., a member of the press staff in the Office of External Affairs. John's citation reads "For sustained exemplary performance and an outstanding ability to work effectively with the media."

RAQUEL F. HODGE, a Claims Representative, traveled from St. Thomas, Virgin Islands District Office to receive her award for continuous exemplary service personified by dedication to duty, self - discipline, initiative, leadership and the respect of fellow workers and the community. Raquel informed us that she started in a District Office in Puerto Rico eighteen years ago.

Keynote speaker, the Honorable David B. Swoap, Under Secretary, Department of Health and Human Services gave a slight boast to SSA employee morale when he told them that "Each of you deserve an award for the dedication and professionalism you have brought to your jobs."

A buffet luncheon sponsored by the employees activities association was held in the cafeteria following the awards program.
