THE two-dollar bill is slated to go into discard soon. One of the reasons assigned for discarding it is that it is found susceptible to counterfeiters. The two-dollar bill is not at all popular, for some reason, with the masses.

Mrs Josephine A. Matthews, wife of Vaughn A. Matthews, died early Monday morning at home on the Haven. The deceased was 69 years of age and had been ill four years of progressive paralysis. She was of a most lovable disposition and a devout Christian, having been connected with the M. E. Besides her husband, to whom she was married nearly half a century, she leaves two sons, William and George of Baltimore, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Thomas, of Rock Hall, and Mrs. Bliss Somers, of Baltimore; also 15 grandchildren and five great grand-children. Dr. H. Arthur Mitchell, one of Elkton's most prominent physicians, died Friday, April 6, after a brief illness of heart trouble. He had been ill but a few days and his death was a great shock to his many friends. He was a native of Elkton and a son of the late A. W. Mitchell, for many years Clerk of the Circuit Court for Cecil county. He was a leading member of the surgical staff of Union Hospital, Elkton, and physician for the Pennsylvania Railroad. CHESTERTOWN CHECKER CHAMPIONS BARELY NOSE OUT THE BARCLAY PLAYERS—W. C. LOSES TO NAVY ON THE BASEBALL FIELD

The Chestertown checker players, consisting of champions and near-champions, journeyed to the peaceful hamlet of Barclay Friday afternoon, in quest of new laurels to add to their already overstocked supply. Barclay nestles among the pastoral valleys and peaceful fields of Queen Anne's in a most unpretentious manner and a passer-by, looking at it lying there in all its homely charm, would little dream, in the wildest flights of his imagination, that it could muster an aggregation that would hold the "famous"(?) Chestertown outfit to a single-point victory. But that is what happened and had it not been for the masterly work of Mr. Wm. C. Smyth, Chestertown would have tasted the humble ignominy of defeat. In fact, Mr. Smyth's work on the board won for him the title of "the hero of Barclay," and he justly deserves it, and while it might not rank in prominance with the famous slogans of history, it, nevertheless, carries with it an honor of which one may be justly proud. Mr. Joseph N. Wheatley, "plumed knight of the board," was in fine form and maintained his reputation as a champion of a county should do. While many contend that it is only a question of time when he will be dethroned, until that time he should be headed and crowded with all the honors that a champion should have. It is said that "uneasy is the head that wears the crown," Mr. Wheatley carries his honors well. May he continue to do so until some one more capable and more modest appears to succeed him. Prof. Owen C. Blades, who shares honors with Mr. Wheatley as Kent county champion at frequent intervals, broke even in his contests, and failed to show as much form as heretofore. Mr. George Rouse was in good shape and won some sharp contests, while Mr. Matthews was defeated and will doubtless be relegated to the minors for more experience. Altogether the match was a most pleasing one. The Chestertown players will probably go to Wye Mills for the next contest, which will likely eclipse anything heretofore attempted, both from a standpoint of importance and as a spectacular event.

The Washington College baseball team, after holding a lead over the Navy for several innings, was finally defeated at Annapolis by the Navy on Wednesday by the score of 10 to 6. The game marked the opening of the new stadium, Lawrence Field.

The Washington College boys got a run in the opening frame as a result of errors by Barchet and Capt. Hederman. They tallied another in the third on an error, single and a fielder's choice. Bradford, who started on the hill for Washington, held the Navy lads at bay until the fourth, when he weakened and getting wild, made a gift of a brace of tallies. A wild pitch with the bases loaded was responsible for one and a free pass, again with the sacks occupied, meant another counter. He then retired in favor of Simmons. The Middies had a big time of it in the traditional seventh. Four singles and a sacrifice had brought in two runs and with two on, Harris cleaned up by a fine drive between center and right gardens. Simmons was again hit hard in the eights. W. C. bunched hits for a run in the eighth.

Georgetown was on the schedule for yesterday at that place.

NOT A STROKE DOES FAIR GLORIA SWIM!

Star of "Beyond the Rocks" Risks Life Bravely During Filming of Great Picture

Gloria Swanson, Paramount star, can't swim a stroke!

That didn't deter her, however, when it became necessary for scenes in "Beyond the Rocks," her latest starring vehicle, which will be the attraction at the Lyceum Theatre, Friday and Saturday of this week, from plunging into the ocean near Catalina Island, out of her own boat and then keeping up to the best of her ability until rescued by Rodolph Valentino, who plays the leading man's role.

"I never knew it was so hard to deliberately fall out of a boat into the water until I tried to do it in a natural way," observed the star, after the perilous scenes had been secured. "One of my oars accidentally slipped out of the oar-lock, however, and that gave me the idea. By pulling hard on one oar and then letting it slip out, and throwing my self to one side, I would seem naturally to fall right over the side of the tipping boat into the water.

"The camera started and gathering all my courage, I splashed over the side into the water. When I got my breath, I screamed for the rescue signal and soon Mr. Valentino had reached me. At first I ducked him in my struggles, but finally I got my senses together and calmed down a little. Then they pulled us in a boat. We were in the water about twenty minutes altogether and after the scenes, I was sick for a little while, due to having swallowed the salt water."

Although Miss Swanson was formerly heralded as a Mack Sennett bathing girl, she has never learned to

Price

Some folks judge price by the figures on the tag, and complain because things they buy don't give satisfaction.

The price ticket with the lowest figures may be on the most expensive piece of goods.

It is what you get for what you pay that counts.
