New directories distributed

There's something new contained in the most widely-read book in town.

That something new is a listing of community service agencies—defense of non-profit, public service and governmental agencies with offices in the Baltimore area and state. The book, meanwhile, is the latest edition of the Greater Baltimore Metropolitan White Pages.

Located on pages 2 and 3 of the directory, the Community Service Numbers pages list the names and phone numbers of agencies that deal with such varied topics as drug abuse, voter information, pregnancy options, gay resources, fuel assistance, help for the disabled, veterans assistance, health services; and much more.

The special section is published as a community service by C&P Telephone, and was prepared by the Information and Referral Planning Council and the Health and Welfare Council of Central Maryland.

The 1981 directory is now being distributed to nearly 1,000,000 phone subscribers in the Baltimore area.

After the directory is distributed, it will be supplemented by an Error Correction List. Customers will have until December 23 to call the company's Business Office to report an incorrect or incomplete listing. A list of corrected names and phone numbers will be printed and sent to all area customers in February.

Also being distributed at this time are the 1981 editions of the Baltimore Suburban East and Baltimore Suburban West Consumer Yellow Pages.

Each Consumer Yellow Pages directory contains an Emergency Medical Guide. This guide advises readers on steps to take before professional help arrives in the event of a medical emergency.

Information in the medical guide includes the safest and quickest method to stop bleeding, ways to treat burns and broken bones, and steps to take when someone has a heart attack. The eight-page guide was prepared by the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services.

As with the Greater Baltimore White Pages, each Consumer directory will be supplemented by an Error Correction List. Suburban East customers will have until December 21 to call the C&P Business Office with corrections, while Suburban West customers will have until Dec. 25. Corrected names and phone numbers will be distributed in February.

Marylanders part of cancer study

More than 24,000 Maryland residents will be part of the 1 million Americans surveyed in an effort to discover causes of cancer and other chronic diseases, an American Cancer Society spokeswoman says.

"What we are trying to do is take a huge cross section of the population and ask them about their habits, their lifestyle and their work place," Margaret Mushinski, one of the society's research associates, said.

"We will look at their death rates six years later on and study what diseases they have contracted — hart disease, cancer, strokes and so on," she said.

In Maryland, about 24,000 people over the age of 45 will fill out forms given them by American Cancer Society volunteers, Ms. Mushinski said. All members of the respondent's family over 30 willpaiso be asked to fill out a questionnaire.

The four - page form will include questions about a person's smoking, drinking and coffee consumption patterns. In addition, it will ask if a person dyes his or her hair, chews tobacco or drinks diet soda.

Those involved in the study, which is slated to begin next September, will be asked to describe their living and working conditions—Volunteer workers will then contact the respondents and their families every other year until the end of the six-year period.

Faulty flue cause of fire

Anne Arundel County fire officials are blaming a faulty flue on a woodstove as the cause of a fire that killed a 6 - year old girl.

Officials say Suzanne Williams was sleeping in the family room where the woodstove was located.

The one - alarm fire that destroyed the family's $120,000 home was reported at 11:25 P.M. Tuesday. The blaze was under control about five hours later and officials said there were no other reported injuries.

Coming Events

Airman 1st Class Jeanette A. Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. (Mary) Coleman of Baltimore, has completed basic training at Fort Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Ms. Coleman now is attending Technical School at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss. She is being trained as a personnel specialist for the Air Guard Reserve.

She is a graduate of Lake Clifton High School and the Community College of Baltimore. Ms. Coleman also is employed by the Department of Defense at Westinghouse.

An unusual "stocking stuffer" for holiday giving is available through the Creative Arts Center at Essex Community College.

Gift certificates for twelve weeks of learning fun offer something far more lasting than toys that barely survive twelve days of Christmas, said Carol A. Kingsmore, director of the center.

A certificate entitles a youngster to the entire semester of high quality group instruction in music, dance, art or drama at the center.

Courses, which are geared to several levels of ability, are scheduled to accommodate students in elementary or high school. Classes in piano, guitar, violin, voice, dramatics, exploratory art or in some aspect of dance — whether jazz, tap, or ballet — begin February 8.

Gift certificates as well as class schedules are available through the Creative Arts Centre at Essex Community College.

For more information contact Carol A. Kingsmore at 522 - 1433.
