Morning Star holds outdoor summer services

OUTDOOR BAPTIZING — According to the Rev. Samuel Ray, pastor of Morning Star Baptist Church, 1063 West Fayette St., (AFRO Photos by Roman Hankewycz) more than 200 people have been baptized in Franklin Square during the 10 years services have been held outside.

Long time members of Morning Star Baptist Church seen last month in Franklin Square for evangelistic services shown from left are Joseph Fowkles, Mrs. Della Hyler and Mrs. Rebecca Sallee.

SPEAKER — The Rev. Douglas Wilson, pastor of Fulton Baptist Church on North Avenue was one of the ministers who preached at the evangelistic services last month sponsored by Morning Star Baptist Church.

Ten years ago, the Rev. Samuel Ray pastor of Morning Star Baptist Church in the 1000 block of West Fayette St., decided to take his ministry to the street.

"There is a positive need for it. So many people are lost from God," he told the AFRO. Last month, evangelistic services were held for two weeks in Franklin Square. Rev. Ray said, "We want to reach the unchurched and the sermons are geared toward evangelism." Local ministers from various churches and their choirs participated in the services.

Rev. Ray believes that there is a "stronger need" for churches to bring the gospel to people outside. He said, "There are people who will sit in a park or square who will not come in the church."

Members of the Evangelism Outreach Team of Morning Star with William Reddick, as president try to work closely with people who join the church at the outdoor service.

Rev. Ray said there is a follow up group of people on a month to month basis and it is one of the toughest jobs because people move and it is hard to get in contact with them.

Communion and baptizing is also part of the outdoor evangelistic services.

Another well know local minister who believes in outdoor prayer and religious services is the Rev. Antoinette Phillips, assistant pastor of New Bethel Christian Community Church and founder of the We Need Prayer Headquarters.

For seven years, Rev. Phillips has sponsored prayer services in Druid Hill Park. Last Saturday Aug 7, services were held from 9 a.m until 7 p.m. with local choirs singing and ministers preaching. For six years, the Rev. Dr. John R. Bryant, pastor of Bethel AME Church has been the noon speaker.

Rev. Phillips says the purpose of the service is to "reach people to come to Christ. You are not judged by clothing or how you look, you come because you feel the spirit of Christ."

Rev. Phillips stated, "We make sure those converts who come to Christ get into a church of their choice. We have an evangelistic crusade committee who does a follow up. She said she would like to see more churches, choir members and pastors participate in the annual prayer in the park services.

"Our prayer services is the only city wide annual event that takes place in Baltimore and it seems like more ministers would have their members participate. In this day and time everybody ought to go back to God in prayer, said Rev. Phhillips.'
