Scenic Beauty of the Poconos

The Hall Mark of Service

DELAWARE WATERGAP-POCONO MOUNTAINS

You may have reveled in the pleasure of a vacation at the seashore—perhaps traversed the Allegany Mountains of Western Pennsylvania and marveled at their impressive grandeur but if you have never visited the Deleware Water Gap or roamed amid the scenic beauties of the upper Delaware River or enjoyed a restful vacation at some one of the famed resorts of the Pocono Mountain Region you have a rare treat in store for you.

Every mile of the journey is a vision of scenic delight. From Trenton, N. J., the Pennsylvania Railroad follows the winding course of the Delaware River, whose bosom is dotted with verdant isles and shores fringed with majestic mountains, lofty cliffs and densely wooded slopes.

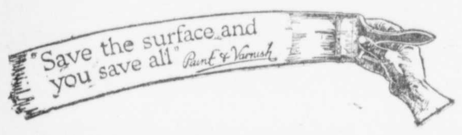

The Delaware Water Gap is a colossal gorge hollowed out of the rock by the waters of the Delaware River, with Mounts Tammany and Minsie, towering as portals 1600 feet on either side. Here hotels and boarding houses provide abundant facilities for comfortable vacations for all classes.

Beyond with Stroudsburg as the gateway lie the Pocono Mountains, some 300 square miles of slopes and plateaus rising to altitudes of nearly 2000 feet, with splendid hotels, pure water, dry piney, invigorating air and with such delightful spots as Mt. Pocono, Buck Hill, Tobyhanna, Cresco, Dingman's Ferry, Bushkill, Buck Hill Falls, Pocono Summit and a myriad of others of equal merit, to conjure up pleasant memories and contribute to an indescribable atmosphere of relaxation and pleasure.

A vacation in the mountains of the Pocono Region or at the Delaware Water Gap for the late summer or early autumn, amid forest, stream or lake, will prove restful, invigorating, delightful.

The number of season tickets are limited and positively no tickets will be sold after noon on opening day, Aug. 30. Purchase your tickets now, so as to relieve the ticket selling committee as much as possible. Prices $1, $2 and $3.

—In the case of John T. McNaney against Shank, in which an injunction was asked to restrain Shank from destroying a road at Love Point, testimony and arguments were heard last week. The court gave Shank ten days in which to restore the road to its former condition and stated if this was not done in this time the writ of injunction would be issued.

—Kent county farmers have received notice that there will be an advance in the price of milk at the cooling stations effective July 1, amounting to 12 cents, making the total price $3.19 per 100 pounds for 4 per cent milk. Seventy-one thousand pounds of milk are shipped from the five stations in the county every week and some farmers are receiving monthly checks that show quite a profit in their business.

—A number of rather unfortunate auto mishaps occurred in this section Saturday night and Sunday. A large touring car went over the embankment on the state road near Betterton, severely injuring several of the occupants. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Newton, while driving on the state road near Goose Hill, were run into by another car and Mrs. Newton received painful wounds about the face and head. Messrs. Jack Hackett and Budd Potts met with an accident in their car, resulting in severe injury to the former.

John S. Mullin Dead

John S. Mullin, prominent Wilmington merchant died Tuesday night in the Delaware hospital, of apoplexy. He was senior member of the firm of Mullin & Sons of Wilmington and well-known all over the Peninsula. Interment will be made in Brandywine cemetery today, Saturday, conducted by Rev. B. M. Johns, pastor of Grace M. E. Church. His death was a direct result of a stroke of paralysis which he suffered Monday afternoon while transacting business in his store.

CHURCH NOTES

The Methodist Protestant Sunday School enjoyed a day's outing at Tolchester Thursday.

The monthly meeting of the Shrewsbury Auxiliary will be held at the residence of Mrs. J. E. Ireland in Galena Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 14, at 2.30.

The meeting of Bond Church Aid, held at the parsonage last Thursday evening, was well attended. After the business meeting, the following program was enjoyed by all present: singing; recitation, Lewis McClintock; quartet, Messrs. Faulkner, McClintock, Lee and DeFord; reading, Mrs. Wm. Faulkner; recitation, Miss Doris McClintock; trio, Mrs. Newnam, Mrs. Faulkner and Miss Anna DeFord. It was decided to hold the annual church festival during the month of September. The next meeting of the Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. R. H. Starr Thursday evening, Sept. 6. The Church Aid held a picnic and fish fry on Hendrickson's Shore on Tuesday afternoon. The excellent bathing was enjoyed by many. About 70 persons enjoyed the afternoon's pleasure.

Massey Defeats Galena Twice

The first game of the five game series between Massey and Galena for the championship of the two towns was played on Galena grounds last Wednesday, August 4. It was a hard-fought contest from start to finish. Both moundsmen twirled well. Groff, for Massey, got ten strikeouts and Horsey got seven. Massey won the game by the score of 5 to 1.

The second game of the series was played on the Massey grounds Saturday, Aug. 4. Pryor was on the hill for Massey and twirled well, while Loller did the honors for Galena. The game was very exciting at times. Massey kept the honors home by the count of 5 to 2.

The next game will be on Massey grounds on August 8. We look for a tight game.

B. S. Ford Engineer A Suicide

John H. Gardner, 64 years old, of Baltimore, chief engineer on the steamer B. S. Ford, was found Monday morning on the floor in front of the engine room of the steamer as it was tied to Pier 9, Light St., with a bullet hole in his right temple and with a 32-calibre automatic revolver lying at his right side. Capt. W. I. Woodall, skipper of the ship, and P. S. Crockett, dock watchman, who were in the dining room of the boat, eating their breakfast, heard the shot and rushed to the engine room. They lifted the body of Gardner and had it sent to the South Baltimore General Hospital, where physicians said death had been instantaneous. The body was then sent to the morgue in the southern district patrol pending the investigation of Coroner Blades.

Kent Pastor Classmate of President

Rev. R. P. Nichols, director of religious education in the Wilmington M. E. Conference, and a former pastor of Still Pond charge, was in the same class at Amherst College with President Coolidge, the new executive. Both were members of the class of 1898. Rev. Nichols says that President Coolidge is quiet and unassuming, but always led in student activities. He said he was a loyal alumnus and attended all the reunions.

First New England President In Sixty-Six Years

It is sixty-six years since New England has had a man in the White House and almost one hundred years since a citizen of Massachusetts has held the office of President. The last New England man to hold the office of President prior to Coolidge was Franklin Pierce, of New Hampshire. He was President four years, from 1853 to 1857. John Quincy Adams was the last Massachusetts resident to hold the office. In the entire history of the United States there have been only two Presidents from Massachusetts, John Adams, the second President, and John Quincy Adams, his son.
