Distinct Telephone Speech

Best results are secured in telephone conversation by speaking directly into the mouthpiece of the instrument. If you try to telephone with your lips turned away from the mouthpiece or while smoking a cigar, your conversation is certain to be indistinct at the other end of the line.

INDISTINCT SPEECH CAUSES DELAY, OFTEN RESULTS IN NEEDLESS MISTAKES AND IS ANNOYING TO THE PERSON TO WHOM YOU ARE TALKING, who may be reluctant to ask you to repeat or to speak louder.

Should you be asked to "Speak louder, please," move closer to the mouthpiece and talk with a full natural tone. Then there can be no misunderstanding.

There is no doubt that DISTINCT TELEPHONE SPEECH PREVENTS ERRORS, MAKES YOUR TELEPHONE CONVERSATIONS MORE SATISFACTORY AND PLEASANT, AND GIVES DEFINITE RETURNS IN IMPROVED SERVICE.

THE LAST TRAIL
By Grantland Rice

One whisper runs across the world—
"When I come home again;"
The last great dream of all unfurled
By street or lonesome den;
That lives by sword or pen,
Something beyond the flare of fame
Beyond the greatness of the game
The ancient torch leaps to a flame—
"When I come home again!" .. ....

The shadow falls on sword and shield
Where friendly maples sway;
The starlight faint upon the field
From far and far away;
The wind that whispers through the pine,
Old moonlight on the glen—
Lost fragrance gathered from the vine,
Perhaps remembered eyes that shine
When I come home again.

A lane that leads to friendly hills
Where friendly poplars nod;
An orchard where the sunlight spills
Dim shadows on the sod;
Faint echoes which the winds might blow
From dreams that beckoned then,
And as a ghost from long ago
Perhaps a voice I used to know,
When I come home again.

The years march by as days once passed
When morning ruled the sky;
The gaunt and motley crowds are massed
Wherever one may fly;
And goals that gleamed upon the height
As oak tops crown the fen,
Would fade before the greater light
Of some one—and a moon-swept night
When I come home again.

Somewhere beyond the bitter goad
Of endless strife and gain,
The farm at twilight down the road,
The cabin in the lane;
And yet, since now the hour is late,
And years have slipped my ken,
I wone how I'll face my fate
To find Youth missing at the gate
"When I come home again!"

WASHINGTON FOOTBALL SQUAD GETTING IN SHAPE FOR OPENING OF SEASON—DEMPSEY OUTCLASSES FIRPO—OTHER NOTES

Washington College football team will open the 1923 season on Saturday, Sept. 29, with the U. S. Marines at Fredericksburg. This game will be a hard one on the young team of Washington College and perhaps should not have been scheduled. The ones that follow it will be ones that are far more important. The Marines will outweigh Washington College many pounds and will be more rugged and more fit in every way. It is to be hoped that W. C.'s team suffers no hardships from this contest.

As predicted in this coulmn and by newspaper writers throughout the country generally, Dempsey won a quick and decided victory over Firpo in New York last Friday night. Firpo was a dangerous man but a few seconds in the fight and then was not near so dangerous as the average follower of fighting believes. Many figure that Dempsey was in danger when knocked out of the ring. The only danger, according to our view, that Dempsey experienced was that of being hurt when falling. The fact of the matter is that we have seen many a man knocked from the ring and have yet to see a man who was severely hurt except by the fall itself. A knockout punch usually drops a man in his tracks, while a "push" blow knocks a man from the ring. Had Dempsey not been close to the ropes when given the blow, it is doubtless if he would have been knocked down even and certainly not injured. This is illustrated somewhat by the fact that Dempsey, after being knocked from the ring, was back fighting in less than five second from the time of going out. Firpo got his chance for this blow after being put to the floor for five counts, the last one being for a count of nine, and, many contend, for a count of ten. Taken altogether, Firpo was no match for Dempsey, he being on the floor about as much as he was on his feet during the bout. By being knocked from the ring, put to his knees for a count of three and then coming right back and beating his man to the ground the next round, Dempsey has demonstrated clearly that he is a fighter in a class to himself—the greatest of all time.

Dover, of the Eastern Shore League, won the five state baseball championship series from Martinsburg, of the Blue Ridge League by capturing the sixth and deciding contest Saturday, 9 to 5. Martinsburg won the first two, but Dover captured the next four.

Sportsmen report that game is going to be plentiful in Kent this year and are looking forward to the greatest season for many years. Dry weather in the spring and the early summer during the hatching season for partridges is said to be the cause. Birds are found in large coveys in all sections of the county where heretofore they have not frequented. Rabbits are said to be more plentiful than for four or five years, and the weather conditions in the spring and summer helped to save them as it did the birds. A great drawback to hunting in Kent is the fact that many dogs are allowed to roam at will at night and destroy much game.

Messrs. Gilbert and William Hadaway are getting their dogs in shape for the openeing of the season for running raccoons. The season for killing them does not open until the first of January. These hunters have the best raccoon dogs in this part of the state and have one that they have been offered a big sum for.

Naming the best football aggregation at this time is an almost impossible thing. In the east the Army will be one of the best, while Syracuse and Colgate will be exceptionally strong. The Navy will again be powerful. Harvard and Yale return more seasoned material than Princeton can muster, but the Tiger upset too many calculations last fall to be checked off the list. The coming season will be the most interesting for years, due to the fact that the big teams are taking on stronger scheduels and are not content to play among themselves.

William T. Tilden 2d retained the lawn tennis singles championship of the United States Saturday afternoon when he defeated William M. Johnston, of San San Francisco, by the scores of 6-4, 6-1, 6-4.

The Birds

Said the robin to the sparrow—
"I should really like to know
Why these anxious human beings
Rush about and worry so!"
Said the sparrow to the robin—
"Friend, I think that it must be
That they have no Heavenly Father
Such as cares for you and me.

Chesapeake And Delaware Canal

The government estimates that it will take about $12,000,000 to bring the canal up to date.

About $2,000,000 a year is now being spent upon this project.

The plans call for the elimination of the lock system. The modernized canal will be a sea-level waterway.

The canal is large enough only to permit passage of ships not more than 24 feet wide and drawing not more than 12 feet of water. When it is completed it will be a waterway 90 feet wide at the bottom and 110 feet on the surface and 30 feet deep.

A new entrance on the Delaware Bay will be provided near Reedy Island, straightening the line of the waterway.

Contracts for the excavation of 12,000,000 cubic yards of earth have been let.
