Tuesday, Oct. 16, is for transfer only. You cannot register on that date.

OUR COUNTY TO THE FRONT

Kent County Demonstration Teams Make Fine Showing

During the summer, Girls Club members from all over the county have been conducting home demonstrations in canning, baking and sewing. In addition to the splendid work that has been done in the homes, a number of girls formed demonstration teams to assist in getting across home practices to girls who might be interested in better homes.

Kent Co. was asked to give a baking demonstration at the State Short Course at the University in August. A team composed of Ann Matthews, Julia Williams and Louise Startt volunteered to put on this demonstration. As a result of this demonstration the girls were asked to demonstrate at the State Fair at Timonium, and Ann Matthews and Julia Williams were selected to attend Camp Vail, the universoty of club work, held annually in co-operation with the Eastern States Exposition of Springfield and the United States Dept. of Agriculture.

Ann and Julia were chosen as two of five girls to represent Maryland at the Eastern States Exposition, and if the admiration of State leaders of the Northern and Eastern States means anything, Girls' Club Work in Maryland was well represented by the Kent County girls.

Ann Matthews is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Matthews, of Worton, and Julia Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams, of Worton. Ann and Julia are all-around farm girls and won the affection of many club members on this trip.

Many expressed themselves as believing the demonstration given by the Maryland baking team as the best given by any team of the Northern and Eastern States.

Other Maryland girls attending were Rose Famous, of Harford County; Irene Baker, of Washington County; and Frances Hancock, of Worcester County. Miss Susan V. Hill, Home Demonstration Agent of Kent Co., had charge of the Maryland demonstration teams. The teams spent a week in Massachusetts which should mean a great growth to club work in Maryland this year.

WEDDINGS

Mr. Steve Kendall and Miss May Jacobs, both of Rock Hall, were married at the parsonage of Wesley Chapel M. P. Church on Saturday, Sept. 22, at 8 p. m., Rev. Charles H. Reed officiating. The couple have the best wishes of a host of friends.

On Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 8 p. m., Mr. Raymond Powers, of Baltimore, and Miss Mildred Rollison, of Rock Hall, were married at the home of Mr. Lonney Hubbard, Rev. Charles H. Reed officiating. Many friends and members of the family witnessed the ceremony. The Rock Hall orchestra entertained with enlivening music and appropriate decorations added to the splendor and gayety of the occasion. The bride wore a dress of pure white, beautifully beaded; the groom wore a neat suit of black. A beautiful arch enhanced the beauty of the ceremony.

The wedding of Miss Eleanor Curtis Davenport, daughter of Bishop and Mrs. George W. Davenport, of Easton, to Earle Dudley Wood, of Boston, took place at Trinity Cathedral, Easton, on Thursday, Sept. 27.

Just where does your state stand in the dairy industry? Visitors to the National Dairy Show at Syracuse, N. Y., October 5-13, will be able to tell at a glance on the map showing relative importance of each state in dairying, prepared as an exhibit. It shows what each state is leader in, what progress it has made and many other interesting facts. It will be only one of the many exhibits of interest to dairymen, according to Horace B. Derrick, county agent, who says everyone interested in the dairy industry should seize the opportunity to visit the show.

Juniors To Ceelbrate

The Junior Order United American Mechanics of Chestertown will have a most enjoyable occasion at Fraternal Hall, Chestertown on the evening of October 17, commencing at 7.30 p. m. Appropriate speeches will be made by well-known speakers, which will be well worth listening to. Refreshments will be served. All the members are invited to attend. These celebrations by patriotic orders are always interesting as well as enjoyable. They are held primarily to instill interest in the principles of the order, and they seldom, i fever, fall short of their object. dom, if ever, fall short of their object. This meeting will, without doubt, be a big success.
