SPORTS

WASHINGTON HUMBLES P. M. C. IN GRUELLING GRIDIRON BATTLE AT CHESTER, PA.—OTHER NOTES OF SPORTING REALM

Washington College sprang a decided surprise upon the Pennsylvania Military College at Chester Saturday and won a fine victory, 3 to0. The score came from a well-directed field goal by Pryor Armstrong, of Chestertown, in the second quarter from about the 25-yard line, after two successive forward passes had netted 30 yards or more.

Washington was unfortunate at the outset in losing Dumschot, Cavanaugh and Kelley, three of their outstanding stars, from the game, and the home rooters on the scene thought that with their elimination from the game went Washington's hopes for victory. This did not, however, prove to be the case and Washington outplayed the military team at every department of the game.

Washington began the game by pitting the kicking ability of Cavanaugh against Overhalt for Penn Military. The result was a gain of from six to eight yards with each exchange of the ball, with P. M. C. being forced gradually toward their own posts, while Washington backs began to hammer their way through their line mercilessly for a touchdown.

The expulsion of Cavanaugh from the game for slugging after a man had deliberately rammed his knees into the face of Washington's quarterback, sent Washington's chances to gain in this manner aglimmering, and while McGrann, who succeeded him in kicking the ball proved the equal of the P. M. C. punter, Washington suffered a decided disadvantage by Cavanaugh's dismissal.

The first period was about an even exhibition. Krieg kicked off for P. M. C .to Cavanaugh, on Washington's 35-yard line. A fumble gave P. M. C. the ball on Washington's 45-yard line. At this point P. M. C. fumbled and Cavanaugh recovered the ball on the 40-yard line. Neither team was able to make their distance rushing the ball and the punting duel was well in progress toward the close of the period. At this point Cavanaugh left the field and local indignation ran high, because of the fact that none of the spectators perceived any foul on the part of the supposed offender.

The second period began with Washington's backs hurtling through the P. M. C. line for decided gains and the ball was soon on the P. M. C. 35-yard line. Here Washington lost the ball on a fumble and P. M. C. punted the ball out of immediate danger. W. C. again started for the P. M. C. goal line with a force which was not to be denied, but P. M. C.'s line stiffened and the ball was punted to P. M. C.'s 5-yard line, where Wagner was downed in his tracks by Rieger. Overholt, from behind his goal posts punted 40 yards. Washington immediately unloosened a brilliant forward pass attack, which, together with fearful line plunges placed the ball on P. M. C.'s 25-yard line. P. M. C. lost 10 yards for holding. With this advantage and with Washington's backs ripping the P. M. C. line for big gains, Carrington, fearing that the time was too short to carry the ball over, sent Armstrong back for a try at goal, which he successfully completed and put W. C. into the lead, 3 to 0. While the time was decidedly short, and the quarterback knew not how short, it turned out that there would have been sufficient time to have made a touchdown, provided Washington's backs were able to keep up their gains and not lose the ball by a fumble. Washington had possession of the ball when the half ended.

In the third quarter, Crowe, who up to this time had been unable to make substantial gains, became the biggest factor in the game for line plunging and soon broke through the P. M. C. team for a run of 25 or 30 yards, the run, at one time, looking good for a touchdown as the fleet Waterbury boy bowled over the tackler who made for him. By steady ground gaining W. C. soon began to force the ball toward P. M. C.'s line and again it looked as if Washington would be able to score. P. M. C. braced and held and, in turn, made a strong bid for a score, but were unable to gain when the goal posts were near and Washington took the ball on downs, kicking it out of danger.

In the fourth period Washington was able to take the offensive from the start and maintain it for a great part of the time. About the middle of the period Washington started a tremendous drive for P. M. C.'s goal line, which they seemed unable to halt. Several forward passes were completed in fine style, while Washington's backs literally tore the opposing line to pieces. On P. M. C.'s 40-yard line, on the fourth down, Washington punted, with only about two yards to go for a first down. In doing this W. C. voluntarily relinquished the offensive and took the defensive. P. M. C. took advantage of this and completing a forward pass and a long end run made them a contender once more, while a few seconds before they had been hopelessly defeated. They then made a decided drive for Washington's line, but were held for downs, and with this went their hopes for winning or even tying the score.

Taken altogether, the game was one of the hardest fought and best played that Washington has participated in this year. The team showed good offensive and defensive work at all stages of the combat, while, at times, individuals shone brilliantly as stars of more than ordinary luster. Perhaaps the all-around work of Armstrong was the feature of the game, while Crowe made the most ground, with Negri a close second. Carrington ran the team smoothly and efficiently, while McGrann punted the bill well. Capt. Duffy was a strong man on the defensive and offensive, while Keenan was a bulwark of strength on the defense. The ends, while not having the work to do as usually, were down on the punts well and frequently nailed their man as he received the ball.

Washington is rounding into a most powerful aggregation and will doubtless win several a number of the state contests in the near future.

While there will be no football game played at W. C. today, on next Saturday week Mt. St. Mary's will line up against Washington College on the Chestertown field. Mt. St. Mary's and Washington College contests are always among the hardest fought of the state teams. The Mountaineers are a hard-fighting aggregation and will give Washington a hard battle. As a usual thing Mt. St. Mary's wins from Washington, but this year they will have a harder job on their hands than in the past, and the probability is that W. C. will defeat them. Every lover of football, all over the Peninsula, should see this game.

Eastern Shore lovers of sports have always bemoaned the fact that there was no chance to see football on Thanksgiving day without going away from home. This year they have been given a chance to see some real sport. On that date Washington College will play Lebanon Valley College on Washington Field. Lebanon Valley College is perhaps the best college team on the W. C. schedule and the game will, without doubt, be one worth going miles to see. Eastern Shore fans will bear this in mind and make their schedule to include this big game on the national holiday.

A long-established football precedent was broken Saturday, when all the big football games were played true to form. To be sure several of the favored eleven won their games by small margins, while some others fell short of the predictions, but in every instance the favored teams won. Noteworthy among the happenings of that unusual day in football were Notre Dame's slaughtering of Princeton, 25 to 2; Cornell's one-sided win over Colgate, 34 to 7; Harvard's difficult 6 to 0 victory over Holy Cross; Army's remarkable comeback, 28 to 6, against Auburn; Penn State's 21 to 3 swamping of the Navy; Dartmouth's 27 to 2 revenge upon Vermont and West Virginia's high-scoring display in rolling up 81 points on Marshall.

The light Chestertown High School football team was swamped by Dover Friday afternoon, 60 to 0. Dover presented the heaviest team a high school team on the Peninsula has shown in years and Chestertown was no match for them at any stage of the game. The two teams were matched to play here yesterday afternoon, but Chestertown cancelled the game. During the game at Dover Frank Estes injured a bone in his right foot.

Zev, the American horse, scored a smashing victory over Papyrus, the English horse and Derby winner, at Belmont Park, N. Y., Saturday, by the decisive margin of six lengths over the mile and a half course. With his sensational victory went $80,000 of the $100,000 purse for which they battled, besides the 3-year-old championship of the world. Sixty thousand were present. The track was heavy. Papyrus got the lead at the start by virtue of scoring more readily, but Zev quickly overhauled him and won the match easily. Horse racing is a sport which often stirs up bad blood, but this particular horse race seems to have left only good feeling and friendly admiration behind it. One could wish that that might always be said of international contests which have sometimes led to brandished fists instead of clasped hands across the sea. Zev's victory restores a balance of international sport which had once more been trending rather heavily in favor of Britain. True, the latest British competitors among us, the Oxford debating team, have been losing their debates; but they won a double moral victory in that they forced their American opponents to adopt their method of argument and also their method of decision—by vote of the audience, instead of the calm conclusion of a small group of judges. Papyrus, too, had the crowd against him, but since he lost they chered him with the approval which even a crowd of winners can usually muster for a good loser.

Easton is endeavoring to get into the Eastern Shore League for next season —and they will doubtless succeed. Chestertown and Kent baseball fans are pulling hard for them to be successful. This would give them a good opportunity to attend the games conveniently. Should Easton be successful they would draw from Caroline, Queen Anne, Kent and Cecil in large numbers.

Fans all over the country are becoming excited over the "New York Menace" in baseball. It seems that this city has monopolized the championships of both leagues and seems intent upon holding them again next season. The world's baseball series is always more interesting, nationally, when both championship do not go to the same city. This, however, is not to be decided by sentiment, but rather by which are the best teams.

An Imperishable Gift

When you make a Christmas gift of a year's subscription to The Youth's Companion you think, of course, of the first great thrill that comes when those first holiday issues are opened and read But you are giving more than that. You are giving the assurance of fifty-two more thrills before the capacities of the gift are exhausted. You can't do that with any gift that is made for immediate consumption, like candy or fruit. Today it is here; tomorrow it is but a memory. But The Companion is imperishable. Its last taste, a year from now, will be as appetizing as the first on this coming Christmas day. You cannot put your money to better use or advantage in Christmas giving than in a subscription to The Youth's Companion.

The 52 issues of 1924 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscribe now and receive:

have not simply brought out a complete new line of motor cars. They have done something infinitely wiser and better than that.

They have brought out New Beauty, New Riding Ease and New Mechanical Perfection to the Product on which their Reputation as Builders has been Founded.

They have built a better and a more deservable line of motor cars—yet basically and fundamentally the idenity of their product remains the same.

The same Sturdy Engine is under the hood, the same dependable chassis, improved in numberless details, underlies the body.

But the rear springs--now underslnng--have been materially lengthened. The wheelbase, too, is longer, and the combined result is a notable improvement in riding qualities.
