TRANSCRIPT

this, the last issue of this before the election, Nov. 6, we impress upon the Democratic of this county the necessity of to the polls on Tuesday next, 6, and voting the entire Democratic ticket. Over-confidence in the of the Democratic ticket may s defeat. Democrats, though cause you some inconvenience ss of time, to go and vote, n't a Democratic victory more compensate for that inconvence or loss. While Maryland is naturally a Democratic state, and Kent County normally Democratic, yet the Democrats cannot win unless the Democratic voters go to the polls and cast their votes. Let us urge upon you that your vote is absolutely necessary for a Democratic victory. There can in our judgment, no valid reason any Democrat to cut one single didate on the Democratic ticket. state ticket and our local ticket re fairly nominated and they certainly are entitled to your support. You may not have gotten the candidate or the candidates you wished in the recent primary nominated, but those who were nominated were the choice of a majority of the voters of this county and we contend that the majority should rule. Don't cut this candidate and that candidate because of some personal feeling, because every time you do you stab your party. Hold party loyalty above personal feeling. Democrats, we appeal to you to do your duty next Tuesday by going to the polls and voting the straight Democratic ticket.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF KENT COUNTY:

While we have no opposition in the coming election, we sincerely hope every Democratic voter in Kent County will go to the polls on Tuesday next and vote for every Democrat whose name appears on the ballot.

Our associate candidates will need your votes, and we feel that we cannot urge you too strongly to do two things:

FIRST—Every voter go to the polls next Tuesday.

SECOND—Every voter cast a ballot for the entire Democratic ticket.

Kent County is a Democratic county and should be governed by the Democrats.

SPORTS

The local stage is all set for the big Washington College—Mount St.Mary's football game today on Washington Field at 3 p. m. Coach Kibler's team is in fine shape for the game and are literally "straining at the leash" for the combat. The morale of the team, as is always the case with Coach Kibler's athletic aggregations, is exceptionally high. See "Sports," page 11, for full particulars of the game and a forecast as to the outcome.

Zev and My Own, two of the best race horses living, are in fine shape for the championship contest today at Latonia, Ky. We pick Zev, conqueror of Papyrus, as the winner.

The Chestertown High School football team was easily defeated at Bridgeville Thursday afternoon by the score of 53-6.

Washington College football team will play Catholic University at Washington, D. C., next Saturday.

Arrange your Thanksgiving dates to include the big game on Washington Field. Washinton College will play the fast team from Lebanon Valley College on that date. This team plays Penn State and other big northern elevens and will be the hardest game on the latter half of Washington's schedule.

The Renault-Johnson fight last night attracted nation-wide attention. Both are near heavyweight champions.

Hundreds of gunners were at Betterton this week awaiting the opening of the season for killing wild ducks on Nov. 1. The hotels have been well filed by sportsmen from the north and south. Many crack shots are on hand for the big occasion on the Susquehanna flats.

The season for killing wild ducks, etc., opened Nov. 1. Guns could be heard booming down Chester river early yesterday morning, showing that there are some ducks flying.

"Legislature of 1924 Should Be the Legislature of the Farmer," Says Governor Ritchie

Stand of the Governor Has Back of It Pledge of Democratic Party

Speaking at the convention of The Maryland Agricultural Society, Maryland Farm Bureau Federation at Frederick last January, Governor Ritchie said:

> "The Legislature of 1924 should be the Legislature of the farmer. . . . It must be the farmer's turn now. It is his right to look to the Legislature of 1924 to give him whatever legislation his needs and interests require: and it is his right to look to the State Government to place nothing ahead of helping him to solve his problems."

PROGRAM BEING FORMULATED

Later at a meeting in Annapolis of representatives of agricultural societies, the suggestion was made that a committee be appointed by Governor Ritchie to study the agricultural situation throughout the State and draw up a program for its betterment. This committee was named. It in turn appointed a sub-committee to which all suggestions are referred. That committee is now doing its work. Its program will soon be completed.

Mindful of the fact that such a program was being evolved, the Democratic party in its platform made this pledge to the agricultural interests of Maryland:

> "We pledge our party to the continuance and proper extension of the State's agricultural activities in all branches, and when the non-partisan Agricultural Commission appointed by the Governor recommends its program for the development of agriculture in Maryland, we will give all the aid we can consistent with the public good, to put that program into effect."

LEGISLATION WILL BE NECESSARY

Every farmer knows too well how complicated are the problems that baffle him—how sensitive his interests are to the ever changing order in the industrial and commercial world. He must be prepared to meet each situation as it arises. Organization would seem to be the first step. Without it such a thing as concerted and successful action is out of the question. When the committee on agriculture makes its report, legislation will be recommended—certainly such legislation as may be necessary to give the organizing farmers of Maryland the aid they need in making their organization effective.

The Democratic platform pledges all the aid it can give.

Governor Ritchie declares that the farmers' interests shall come first in the Legislature of 1924. The Governor says:

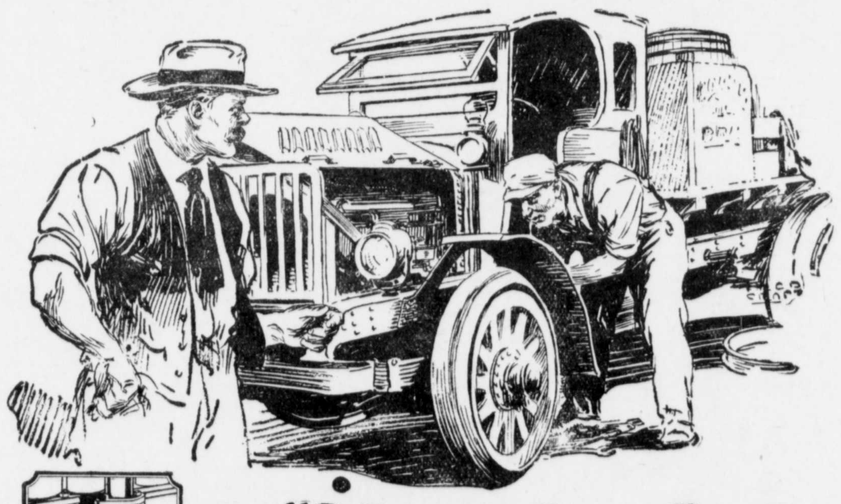

> "And it is his (the farmer's) right to look to the State Government to place nothing ahead of helping him to solve his problems."

"How's that float in the carburetor?"

Trust this live experience!

ONE of the drivers reported a falling off in gasoline mileage. Come to find out, as the experienced Fleet Boss promptly suggested, the float in the carburetor wasn't set properly. When the level was changed 1/16 of an inch, without making any other adjustments, the driver got 2 more miles per gallon out of his gasoline.

The superintendents who have charge of making Polarine have spent the better part of their lives in the refinery. When you use Polarine, your motor gets the benefit of their long experience, as well as that of a splendid staff of chemists and practical lubricating engineers. Experience has made Polarine the best oil you can buy today. You can depend on it 100% — and it's moderately priced, too, considering its outstanding quality.

THE MODERN FUNERAL

The methods and systems in vogue a few years ago, and still adhered to by many, are no longer applicable in this age and generation.

A better understanding of the duties of the funeral director has changed the old order.

One of the most difficult problems confronting the modern funeral director will be solved when the public realizes that SERVICE is the principal, and, in fact, only commodity which we have to offer.

The casket and funeral appurtenances are negligible, or practically so, requiring little or no experience, and, in the matter of expense, consistent with the cost of production.

SERVICE is the main consideration—the care and disposition of the body of the one who has passed on, knowledge or ability, and a readiness to relieve the burdens of the ones who are left to mourn.

The principal reasons for EMBALMING are: (1) Sanitation, for it is an absolute prevention of communication by infection; and (2) the restoration of color and form.

Embalming is not, as is generally supposed, a lost art. The modern EMBALMER is a thoroughly trained sanitarian, a student of anatomy and chemistry. In his work he employs none of the crude and barbarous methods used by the ancient Egyptians.
