Century To Have Big Attraction

The film version of the sensational novel by Homer Croy, entitled "West of the Water Tower," with Glenn Hunter, star of "Merton of the Movies," and May McAvoy in the leading roles, will be shown at the Century Theatre during the week beginning Monday, January 7. In this story there is atremend ous theme ofparents responsibility to their children. A minor theme also runs through this intense play showing how the latent qualities of the typical American boy are brought out by adversity.

Thanks Transcript For Co-operation

My Dear Editors:

On behalf of the Eastern Shore Council Boy Scouts of American permit me to take this opportunity to thank you and the members of your staff for the splendid co-operation given our movement through your press during the last six months.

Scouting on the Eastern Shore has grown by leaps and bounds, but this would have been impossible had it not been for the splendid cooperation on the part of your paper. July 1, 1923, there were but three Boy Scout Troops on the Eastern Shore. Today after six months of hard work on the part of the officials of the Eastern Shore Council there are twenty-eight Boy Scout Troops, representing approximately five hundred boys who are not only reaping the benefits of the Character Building and Citizenship Training Program, but who actually do a "good turn" to somebody every day without receiving a reward. Training of this kind, without a doubt, places the fine edge on character.

The following towns on the Eastern Shore have Boy Scout Troops: Still Pond, Millington Chestertown, Betterton, Rock Hall, Galena, Federalsburg, Preston, Fruitland, five troops in Salisbury, Sharptown, Nanticoke, Allen, Ocean City Pocomoke, Whaleyville, Upper Fairmount, Princess Anne, Crisfield, Easton, St. Michaels, Tilghman's, Oxford, Centreville and Church Hill.

Thanking you again for past courtesies and wishing the Chestertown Transcript a prosprous New Year, we are,

Yours In Scouting,
EASTERN SHORE COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA,
W. Goldsborough Bradford,
Scout Executive.

EMMA GILES DAMAGED

Tolchester Company Steamer Hit By Big Liner And Disabled

Twenty-five passengers aboard the side-wheel steamer Emma Giles were marooned aboard that vessel all night Monday when it was rammed and disabled by the 8000-ton steamship Steel Trader off Sandy Point about eight o'clock. The Emma Giles was so badly damaged that she could not make port under her own power. The Steel Trader stood by during the night and pulled her to Fort Carroll, where she was taken in tow by the tug Britannia and brought to Baltimore.

Capt. John T. Kirwin master of the Emma Giles, said there was little excitement among the passengers on his vessel.

More than 250 square feet of planking on the starboard side of the damaged boat was torn away. Her propelling wheel on that side was disabled, but at no time was the vessel in danger of sinking.

The Emma Giles is one of the Tolchester Company steamboats.

Cost Of World War

The World War cost the American people in cash $40,000,000,000, according to final calculations made by officials of the Treasury while engaged in preparing the annual budget for submission to Congress.

This, it is believed, exceeds, in dollars and cents, the outlay of any other belligerent, with the possible exceptions of Great Britain and Germany, and probably exceeds the total of all the Allied powers during the period this country was at war. When the enormous total of American war expenses was first footed up it seemed incredibly high and the figure was disputed in many official quarters. But the expenditures were checked and rechecked, with the result that the $40,000,000,000 aggregate was found correct.

May Supply Electric Light On Shore

Engineers who have been at work for the Susquehanna Power Company to locate a site for the immense hydro-electric plant to be built along the Susquehanna river, near Conowingo, have finally decided upon one about about 2000 yards north of the present state vehicular bridge at Conowingo. Under the present plan the line will from Oxford will go down to Childs, North East, Elkton and Chesapeake City, splitting at the last named place into two routes. Of these two one will be carried through Cecilton, Galena Chestertown and Centreville, where it in turn will be subdivided into two lines, one going through Queenstown and Easton to Cambridge and the other down the Shore to Salisbury, with spurs from that place. Electric current down the Eastern Shore would be one of the biggest assets to this section that could be imagined.

Maryland's Tax Rate May Be Lower

Maryland's tax rate for next year will be at least as low as 28 cents and perhaps even lower, according to predictions. The Governor recently said he would be able to make some reduction in the present rate of 30 cents. This reduction may be as much as 2 cents and perhaps somewhat more according to the Baltipapers.
