FROM THE EDITOR

Linda Harris

Let's hear it for cool breezes and crisp air! It is finally possible to have clear thoughts about everything from fashions to football. Goodbye Summer of '88!

If you are thinking about fall fashions and wonder about showing your knees, read our cover story. I won't be wearing mini skirts this year but some designers say many of you will.

If you are sending a child to college soon, or already have, you may be interested in a new booklet published by the National Urban League. It is full of good information about scholarships, work-study programs, fellowships and career preparation. To get it, write: Career Paths, c/o Education Department, National Urban League, 500 East 62nd Street, New York, New York 10021.

The Dawn staff hopes you enjoy our combined, expanded fall issue.

We have your favorites, in the Stars and Celebrity Roundup and for all of you who have been asking for it . . . a page of poetry.
