WOMANHOOD

Now Successfully Corrected Without Operation

A remarkable statement and truth too!

Thousands of woman who formerly considered the knife the only means of relief, now turn to the Drugless Method of Chiropractic.

Numerous Kent County woman have found in Chiropractic the only absolute and PERMANENT relief for their ailments after all other methods have failed.

95% of the ailments peculiar to the female are the result of nerve pressure between misplaced joints of the spine.

AN EXAMPLE

Woman age 30. Suffered intense pain in side, great distress, bearing down pains, dull tired feeling, Headaches and constant aching in the back. She tried the local medical doctors without relief. Finally an operation was suggested. The cold blade of the surgens knife frightened her and rightfully too, so she called on Dr. Dill the Chiropractor and obtained complete and permanent relief, making the operation unnecessary. The name of this lady is not published to avoid embarrasing publicity, but will be given to any lady upon personal request.

Consultation and spinal examination free of charge. Phone 326 for appointment.

Farmers, List Your Repair Needs

It would be hard to find a farmer who at some time or another had not lost valuable time waiting for necessary repair parts. Take this territory and total up the time lost in this way and it will astonish you. And all because repairs are not odered as early as they should be.

There is no better time than right now—just before the busiest season on the farm—to go over your machines carefully, make a list of repairs you are likely to need and send it to us. With this list in our hands, we can order our stock so as to be prepared to meet every call promptly.

Repair part service is a necessary part of our business. We realize what it means to you in time and money to get what you need at once. Help us to help you by making up your list now and sending it in to us.

AUTHORIZED AND APPROVED BY
MR. L. C. ROBINSON, County Sup't Schools, Kent County, Md.

Do not look for wrong or evil,
You will find them if you do;
As you measure to your neighbor,
He will measure back to you.

Look for goodness, look for gladness,
You will find them all the while;
If you bring a smiling visage
To the glass, you meet a smile.

To have done whatever had to be done;
To have turned the face of your soul to the sun;
To have made life sweeter for even one;
This is to have lived.

Our Reading Campaign

As reported for several weeks now, the Kent County Elementary teachers are in the midst of an enthusiastic READING CAMPAIGN.

At our group meetings we all agreed that READING IS THE FOUNDATION FOR ALL OTHER SUBJECTS. In fact we had been talking all year about reading being the paramount subject but not until we all got together by groups and enjoyed these meetings and discussed them intimately did all reach the conclusion that reading must take first place for a while if we succeeded in preparing the boys and girls for their life work.

Everywhere we visit schools we hear and see evidences of this work. We hear it in the oral classwork, we see it on the blackboards, we see it in the written work, we see it in the friendly contests that are engaged in from time to time. In only a very few schools have we found the work lagging but we trust that "these few" will catch the spirit from hearing what the other schools are doing and take this opportunity to get their children on the same plane as the children in other schools.

Nearly every teacher is considering the work as paramount. Even extra preparation for programs will not disturb this work. This will not prevent dramatization in the reading lessons and story work being used for program work.

Kent County schools will forge ahead one hundred percent this year if we all continue to "put our shoulders to the wheel," if we improve our opportunity to master this work. We have abundant faith that the teachers will inspire the boys and girls to do their best to master the situation in their own schools.

A Challenge

The following most interesting letter came to our desk Monday morning:

Millington, Md.
January 25, 1924.

My dear Miss Florer.

Cherry Lane's Seventh Grade, composed of four pupils is on the warpath! They challenge this same grade in any one-room school in Kent County in a word-meaning contest to be held one day the last week of February.

The list of words for the contest is to be made up by you and given by you and the results to be published in the Educational Department in the county papers.

If this meets with your approval, let us hear from you.

Very sincerely,
Anna M. Hague, teacher
Cherry Lane School.

The following letter was sent to Mrs. Hague by return mail:

Chestertown, Md.
January 28, 1924.

Mrs. Anna M. Hague,
Millington Md.

My dear Mrs. Hague: Your letter of January 25th in which your Seventh Grade challenged all other seventh grades in the county to a word-meaning contest the latter part of February has been received.

Congratulations to both yourself and your pupils on this fine spirit of cooperation, and manifestation of a desire for efficiency. It is the kind of a spirit that will help to bring us thru our Reading Campaign with wonderful results.

Your letter will be published so that all other one-room schools in Kent County will know that you have made this county wide challenge.

Wishing you unbounded success in your splendid efforts to promote the best interests of your school and your community in this and other ways, I am

Most sincerely,
Alice Florer.

Broad Neck

A masked social was held by the Parent-Teacher Association at the Broad Neck School on Friday evening January 18th, 1924. The school children were all masked, some representing clowns, fairies and one representing Rip Van Winkle. We also had one representing a pig. A number of the patrons were masked. Games, music and singing were the principle features of the entertainment of the evening. At a late hour brick ice cream was served by the pupils of the school. Fancy cakes were served with the ice cream.

The P. T. A. of Broad Neck has done much toward the improvement of the school and we have also all enjoyed the evenings together. More than $55 has been made for improvements in the school, since our organization in October.

The association decided to spend another social evening together Friday evening, February 22 St. Valentines Day.

Chestertown Elementary School

In response to an invitation from the Sixth Grade, the grammar grades met in the Assembly Hall, Friday afternoon, January 18th and heard a very instructive talk upon "Citizenship" given by Mr. Hugh Hartman of Queen Anne, County.

The Chestertown Elementary School is making plans to establish its library upon a firm basis. The books on hand at present will be catalogued and a card index system introduced. New books will be added from time to time. The School Board gives ten dollars when the school raises ten and patrons of the school are helping with contributions of both books and money.

The prize money which was given to the seventh grade from the Pageant some years ago has been used to buy some new reference books for that grade.

The older pupils will be instucted "How to Keep Library." It is hoped to put this work upon such a good foundation that it will be a help to the pupils all thru the school.

CHESTERTOWN

The banner won by the Chestertown Junior Chautauqua was sent to the Elementary School. As a courtesy to the president of the Jr. Chautauqua, Ida Spielberger, it will hang in the seventh grade room for the rest of the year. At the close of the year the banner will be placed in the assembly room by the side of the other one which was won in 1914.

We hope the interest in the Junior Chautauqua will be so great that they will try to win the 1924 banner.

Millington

The teachers of the Millington School, presented a splendid program to their community on Wednesday, January 23, at 7:30 p. m. in the assembly room of the school building.

Miss Clara Bryan served as chairman of a committee consisting of the elementary teachers, to decorate the room for the occasion. The decorations were in red, purple and gold, the colors of both the high school and the elementary schools.

Principal W. E. Ritter presided and introduced the speaker of the evening. The orchestra consisting of saxaphone, violin and piano by Dr. Brice, Mr. Tobin and Mrs. Feddeman delighted the audience with music before and after the lecture. Richard Comegys and Carlton Wallen are always appreciated with their piano duets and this was no exception.

Rev. ——— Saunders delivered a lecture on "The Unwritten and Unemphasized History of the South." He is a "Wizard" at quoting statistics and gave evidence of having gotten his information first hand. Rev. Saunders was a journalist on one of the leading daily papers for several years while he was living in the South and has gathered a fund of information that has never been published but that is very interesting.

Judging from the attention of the audience during the lecture and the friendly remarks following the program, the audience was very much pleased with the entertainment. Millington may well be proud of the fact that such a high class entertainment can be put on with all "Home Talent."

Rev. Saunders will be glad to make dates for this or a religious lecture on a fifty-fifty basis with churches, schools or other organizations.

A Boy Scout Troop was organized in Millington last October under the supervision of W. T. Ritter, Principal as Scoutmaster. We have ten members all of whom have passed the tenderfoot testss The boys show great interest in the scout work and are now working to become second class scouts.

The Millington P. T. A. will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, February 6th. An interesting program will be rendered by the school children and a few of the patrons.

We hope everybody will come out and help to make this the banner meeting of the year.

Galena

The Galena community was represented by a large number of interested people on Wednesday, January 23, when they answered to a call of Supt. Robinson to meet at the schoolhouse at three o'clock for the purpose of considering the organization of a Parent-Teacher Association. It was a most enthusiastic group and they seemed to have come with the idea of organizing. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Hadley, President; Mrs. Jones, Vice President; Mrs. Scott Secretary; Miss Ware, Treasurer.

A committee was appointed by the president to draw up a brief constitution to be presented at the next meeting.

Sassafras

On Wednesday, January 22, a group of patrons of the Sassafras School gathered at the school house to discuss the advisability of organizing a Parent-Teacher Association. It was a cold day and not nearly all of the patrons were there but those who were there were anxious to have a community organization and reported that they felt sure it was the weather and not a lack of interest that kept the others away.

After considering the matter carefully they decided to organize and elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Harry Robinson; Vice President, Mrs. Raymond Thornley; Secretary, Mrs. Scott Rosin; Treasurer, Mrs. William Bailey.

We expect to hear fine reports from Sassafras judging from the spirit of the people who met to organize.

Practical Suggestions for Producers of Beef

N. K. Carnes of the animal husbandry division of the University of Minnesota offers several suggestions to producers of beef as to how to improve their position in these times of narrow margins and high taxes. He says beef producers can get larger returns by:

Producing what the market demands.

Marketing through co-operative associations.

Investing the minimum of capital only in buildings and equipment.

Keeping good typed animals rather than scrubs.

Providing good pasture, and

Feeding comparatively inexpensive rations during the winter.

Mr. Carnes lays emphasis on feeding and type. "Good cattle command a premium on our live stock markets," he says. "Good typed animals do not consume less feed than the scrub, but they make more economical use of it. The bureau of animal industry maintains that a steak from a high-class beef animal contains 40 per cent more food value than does a steak from a scrub."

Mr. Carnes holds that feeds for wintering the breeding herd need not be expensive. Silage supplemented with dry roughage and some protein concentrate will carry beef animals along economically. If the dry roughage consists of a legume hay the protein concentrate can be omitted from the ration. "Under some conditions," he says, "it might be more economical to sell part of the legume hay and substitute for it the cheaper roughages with some highly concentrated protein feed. Relative prices should determine."

Horse's Ear Adds Much Expression to His Face

The ear of the horse adds more expression to his face than any other feature. Objectively it indicates his state of mind. Curiosity, fear, anger, impatience—how clearly a horse shows these by the attitude of his ears; and how much more plainly these emotions are shown by some horses than by others. An experienced horseman watches his horse's ears continually, because they invariably signal him when the horse is about to change his gait. If you know your horse, you will see that he has a perfectly understood code of ear signals which you may watch to advantage in critical places. You will understand by the positions and movements of the ears what is on the horse's mind. Horses surely do think.

The size of the ear, its quality, texture and its setting are all very important. Long and well-shaped ears denote intelligence. Many people admire small and pointed ears, carried close together at the tips. They generally indicate nervous dispositions, however. The long, broad ear, characteristic of the Hambletonian line, denotes a gentle, kindly disposition. A medium ear, not too small and not too large, carried well and used actively, is the one which gives beauty and character to the head.

Care of Mare and Colt Needed in Fall Months

It is an old saying that animals going to winter quarters in good condition are half wintered. It is particularly true of brood mares and colts. The bleak winds and cold rains of the fall months, together with the chilly nights, take more out of animals than months of feeding will restore. This is particularly true of brood mares that are low in condition and of the young colts. They should be stabled every night from now on, and should be fed a small feed before being turned out in the morning to fill up with cold or frozen grass, which is very liable to chill and even stop the work of digestion. It never pays to let mares and colts stand around shivering during the cold autumn nights and then attempt to make up by extra feed during the winter. Protect the mares and keep the colt growing, if results are wanted.

Area Plan of Wiping Out Dread Disease of Cattle

In the interests of improved live stock throughout the surrounding country, the First National bank of Petersburg, N. D., is not only actively supporting the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign, but is aiding in financing it. An officer of the bank, in a recent letter to the United States Department of Agriculture, states that there are now over 60 pure bred sires in the immediate vicinity, most of them shipped in by the bank. In addition the bank has arranged to ship in 18 carloads of breeding ewes from the West to place among its customers, and along with the ewes there will be distributed pure bred rams of four leading breeds.

The relatively low price at which pure bred live stock is now available has encouraged officers of the bank in their activity, thus laying the foundation for herds and flocks of good quality that will be valuable assets to the community later.

Wheat After Soy Beans Particularly Desirable

The idea seems general that a soybean hay crop removed from a piece of land leaves it in particularly desirable shape for wheat sowing as far as fertility is concerned. Such is not the case. When soy beans are removed as hay there has been, practically speaking, no fertility added to the soil by the legume while, on the other hand, both phosphorus and potash have been removed. Wheat on land from which soy beans have been removed as hay will respond to a 2-12-6 fertilizer in a very satisfactory manner and some such fertilizer should be used. Only by turning under the beans is there any appreciable addition of nitrogen to the soil and wheat will always respond to a small amount of nitrogen when following soy bean hay.

"RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT"

At the regular meeting of The Young Mens Bible Class of the M. E. Church, the following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas it pleased Almighty God in His divine mercy to take unto Himself our beloved friend and brother, Norman Crow, and remove him from our midst, therefore be it

Resolved that it is but a just tribute to the memory of the departed one to say that in regretting his removal from among us, we mourn for one who was in every way worthy of our respect and esteem.

Resolved that in the death of Brother Norman Crow, we recognize that the Class has lost an upright and faithful Charter Member and Past Secretary and the Class at large, a fearless exponent of its principles.

Resolved that in their bereavement we tender the Mother and Sister of the deceased the sympathy and friendly feeling of the class, and with them, we mourn our mutual loss.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the mother of the deceased brother, inscribed in the minutes of the class, and published in the county papers at large.

TRIAL ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Trouble Between Kent and Queen Annes Men Result In Hearing Before Magistrate.

A trail that attracted much interest to Church Hill people and vicinity, took place in the Town Hall there last week. The case was Jamar vs. Pew. Rubin Jamar accuses Harry Pew of stealing his black and tan fox hound.

Jamar was represented by H. E. Perkins, of Chestertown, and Pew was represented by M. Brown, of Centreville.

Jamar stated that he raised the dog from a puppy, having now the dog's mother. In 1922 the dog was affected with distemper. A while ago the dog disappeared from his farm, and hearing that it was at Pew's, went there to get it. He said Pew refused to let him see the dog, but was told to do so by a man living at Pew's. Pew refused to give the dog up so Jamar had him arrested.

Pew stated that the dog was given to him when a puppy, by a man named Robinson. In the year of 1922 the dog disappeared and he never knew where it was until Jamar brought the dog near his home fox-hunting. Some people in the hunt saw the dog and told Pew about it. Pew then went to Jamar's home and Jamar not being there, he went to the straw stack got his dog and took it home with him.

Justice of the Peace Anderson decided the dog belonged to Pew, Jamar took an appeal to Court.
