WASHINGTON, D.C. BYPASS

Citizens are encouraged to participate in the third of a three part series of public meetings to be conducted by the Maryland Department of Transportation and the Virginia Department of Transportation on the Washington Bypass Study. The study is designed to evaluate not only the need for a bypass, but also the effects and costs of each alternative corridor.
The purpose of the Pre-Hearing Informational Meetings is to provide the public with the opportunity to review the findings of the study, including the environmental impacts of each of the possible bypass corridors, in advance of the public hearings. A continuous slide presentation will also be shown, with representatives of the Maryland State Highway Administration, Virginia Department of Transportation and the consultant team available to answer questions, respond to concerns and provide additional information. Individuals will be able to convey their views and concerns in several ways. A court reporter will be available throughout the meetings to record public comments. Also, comment sheets will be available for written comments, that can be turned in at the meeting or mailed in afterwards. Both the verbal testimony and written comments will be made a part of the project record. At the public hearings, in addition to the information provided at the Pre-Hearing Informational Meetings, the sponsoring agencies will provide a formal presentation and a forum for public testimony. While formal verbal testimony will be limited to five minutes, additional testimony can be provided in writing or recorded using a court reporter.
The formal presentation will last approximately one hour and will include information on the proposed corridors, environmental effects, right-of-way, and Title VI of the Equal Opportunity Program.
