For Continuous Service

The Central Office Operator

FORTY-EIGHT years ago the telephone was a toy, thought by many to have no commercial value; today it is an indispensable factor in our daily lives. Day in and day out the flashing of myriads of tiny lamps, the calling signals, on the switchboards continue, and day in and day out the operator must be on the job.

¶Good telephone service is only possible because the central office operator is intelligent, willing and interested in her work.

¶From expecting little, the American public has been educated to demand a high quality of service, and gets it ---the most efficient in the world.

Aptly has the telephone been called "The Sentinel That Never Sleeps"

Gill Bros. Formula Is An Open Secret

A young man once suggested "that we sell our formula for Gill Bros. Ice Cream to manufacturers in other towns who wanted to know how to make ice cream as good as Chestertown enjoys."

We told him we had no formula to sell. Any chemist could readily analyze Gill Bros. Ice Cream and find just how we make so delicious in flavor, so rich and so pure.

Gill Bros. Ice Cream contains the same choice fruits, nuts, berries available to any other ice cream manufacturer. More than this, it is made from our pure cream furnished in constant plenty from the pasteurized output of our private sources of superior milk supply.

Above all, it is produced with all possible skill and care to maintain the GILL BROS. reputation for highest quality—and to keep faith with a public that has put the stamp of approval on our daily production. There is no richer, no better-flavored, no purer ice cream anywhere.

Sheepmen, Watch Your Flocks.

Kent County sheepmen are now in or about to enter the critical period of their year's work with the flock. Lambing time and the period that follows it calls for careful attention to details if a good crop of lambs is to be raised and sent to market in good condition.

Failure to save the lambs at birth, followed by failure to provide abundant, suitable rations, will prevent satisfactory profits from being realized. The higher price per pound and the increased weight will abundantly pay for the care and feed required to effect superior production. Suitable care and feed are not difficult to provide. Money spent for feeds, if purchased feeds are necessary, will be returned and increased in a very short time. for the healthy, generously fed lamb will be ready for market at an early age.

An abundant suitable grain ration should be fed both to the ewe that is supplying the milk for the growing lamb and to the lamb itself if best results are to be secured. The best of good alfalfa, clover, soybean or cowpea hay, should be provided when abundant pasture is not available.

Tramping over the fields is not conducive to rapid fattening and the little lambs that are being forced for the early market should be given good shelter—though this need not be costly shelter—and should not be required to travel far for its feed.

A "creep" to which the lambs, but not the ewes, have access should be provided; and in this crop the best of good roughages and concentrates should be supplied to tempt and satisfy the appetites of the lamb.

Failure to dock and castrate for too often results in the prodution of undesirable market lambs.

The County Agent will gladly supply information to any one who desires to produce better lambs and. if it is desired. will arrange for the Animal Husbandry Specialist from the University of Maryland Extension Service to visit the County and advise with sheepmen concerning their problems. Conditions in Maryland favor the production of high-class lambs for the early market, and unless sheepmen take advantage of the favorable location and climate, profits will be smaller than they should be.

Special printed matter is being prepared and will be sent to the citizens throughout the county previous to the intensive appeal which will made from March 27th to April 8th.

The entire expense of the campaign is being taken care of by friends of the college. This means one hundred cents out of every dollar contributed toward this Endowment Fund will be invested for the future work of the college for all the time.

SPORTS

It is a far cry to the football season—but the college banner sports has its interest at all seasons.

The Washington College football team promises to have a successful season next year. C. Malcolm Jarman, who will lead the team next year, is a hard, aggressive player and an ideal leader. He is six feet tall, and tips the scales at 170. Coupled with this, he is fast and rangy, and filled the position at center, where he carried his letter last season, as capably as any in the State.

Captain Jarman is popular with his teammates and is constantly encouraging them. Because of this, he was the unanimous choice of the letter men when the elections were held.

Before coming to Washington College, Jarman attended the Centreville High School, where he was a varsity man in all three sports. He played tackle on the football team. and captained it during his last year. He is a leader in scholastic work. in addition to taking part in all campus activities and will graduate next year.

Manager Knight is arranging quite an attractive schedule for the coming campaign. Most of the State teams will be met, including University of Maryland, which appears on the schedule again after a lapse of four years. The game with St. Johns. Washington's traditional rival, has not as yet been closed but it is hoped to have it arranged soon. Two dates remain to be filled and as soon as negotiations are completed for these the schedule will be announced.

The Baltimore Sun has picked an All-Maryland basket-ball team on which the names of Carroll and Carrington appear. If they will add Dumschott, Fiore and McGrann, we will agree with them.

Coach Kibler is preparing to get the candidates for his base-ball team at work. Prospects for a winning team at Washington College are not as rosy as in past years. The return of Hickman to school gives W. C. one dependable hurler. If some of the new men come thru a fairly successful season should be enjoyed. We can, however, expect about a 25 per cent. better team than the prospects justify.

Firpo will have difficulty in working back into a fight with Jack Dempsey. He should not be considered until Gibbons, Renault and several others more worthy are disposed of by the champion.

Jack Carroll is the greatest basketball man who ever played the game for Washington College—and this is saying something of a wide range when you consider that Dumschott, Carrington, Brown, Pierson, Caldwell, Cain, Robbins and many others have occupied the spotlight here and each, for a time, has held almost undisputed sway. Carroll, however, is in a class by himself, the premier basketball man of all time in this state. Carroll could undoubtedly, make any team in the country. He is to basketball what Mathewson have been to baseball; what Poe, Shevlin, Thorpe, Hinkey and their kind have been to football; what Tilden and Johnson are to tennis and what Dempsey is, and Jeffries and Fitzsimmons were, to pugilism. His game can't be stopped when he cuts for the basket without fouling. He plays easily when ahead and shines brightest when things are breaking badly for his team. In the recent game with Mt. St. Mary's, when the game was lost, with but a few seconds to play, he rose to supreme heights in basketball and, casting aside all who sought to intercept him, went reeling toward the opposition basket, brushing aside practically the whole team in one mighty effort. He was successful and placed his team in the lead, and practically won the game for them, only to see it lost on an unfortunate play. Washington has produced some mighty basketball men in the past, but we nominate Jack Carroll to lead the list on the permanent roster in the hall of fame.

Mt. St. Mary's College regained its State championship basket ball crown lost to Washington College last year when it gained a thrilling hairline 28 to 27 decision over the W. C. in the second of a scheduled best-two-out-of three-games series for the title at the Fourth Regiment Armory Friday night.

Not a dull moment passed during the time the two rival quintets stepped upon the court from the beginning of the game until the final whistle With but three minutes to go. "It was anybody's game," each team zizagging into the lead and then relinquishing it twice during that period.

Captain Danny Hart's two field goals virtually won the championship for the Mountaineers. With Washington College leading, 25 to 24, and three minutes to play, Danny produced a short dribble in front of the enemy's basket, which led to a field goal, giving his team a 26-25 advantage. Then Jack Carroll, Washington ace, almost defeated the Saints on a good cast into the basket, sending his quintet to the fore. The timers' wathes only had 60 fore seconds to tick when once more Captain Hart played the hero's role by caging a double-decker. It was all over but the shouting now, the game ending without any further scoring.

Washington played a great game, but lost the "breaks."

MILLINGTON

The Home Talent play entitled "The Brightville Indoor Chautauqua," which was given in Comegy's Hall on Thursday evening of last week, was largely attended and very much enjoyed. —Faith Methodist Protestant Church at Cannon, four miles north of Seaford, the Rev. R. W. Sutcliffe, pastor, was destroyed by fire recently, entailing a loss of $3,000, with $15,00 insurance. The flames originated from a defective flue, breaking out while Sunday School was in session. There were about 70 children and teachers in the church at the time, all marching out quietly, no one being injured.

PAY, PAY, PAY

Do not run your car without a 1924 license plate on. You might get fined. File your income tax report before March 15 or you might have to go to jail. Pay your taxes before April or a heavy penalty will be added. And you had better pay up the interest on your mortgage or they will take your home away from you. Get your money ready for your grazing fees or your stock will have to stay in the barnyard this summer. Get your coin ready for your fishing license. Also pay the grocer and the butcher and baker. And pay up your doctor bill and also return the money you borrowed from a friend. Pay your dues in the lodge or they will drop your name. Pay up what you promised to give the preacher. Then there are the installments on the auto and you must pay the premium on your life insurance or your wife's next husband pay, pay—for the saddest word of may be penniless. Pay up the premium on your fire insurance and pay, tongue or pen today is P-A-Y.

Attention, Farmers

It is better to be glad than sorry therefore do not neglect to place insurance on your HAY and WHEAT as soon as in stack or barn with
