WASHINGTON COLLEGE $250,000 ENDOWMENT FUND CAMPAIGN

The Washington College $250,000 endowment fund campaign opened with a bang Thursday evening when the workers of Kent County shared their hospitality with those from the other eight counties of the Eastern Shore in an opening meeting.

Among those who spoke were Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, George W. Williams, of New York City, Judge Lewin W. Wickes, Rev. N. O. Gibson and Preston B. Heck representing the students. Allan A. Harris, Chairman of the Kent County organization presided.

Running through the addresses of all like a scarlet thread was the idea that this fund must be raised as the most vital interests of the entire Eastern Shore were involved, interests which center about Washington College.

Dr. Titsworth emphasized the importance of cooperation and said there were no reasonable things impossible where the spirit of cooperation prevailed. Mr. Harris said that there was so much at stake for Kent county that the workers must make sure that Kent led the way and set the pace for the rest of the state. Following instructions to the workers by Mr. Williams; Preston P. Heck was introduced and made a great speech that brought applause that made the rafters ring as he announced that the present students had subscribed 100% to the fund, not one of them being left out of the list and that the total of their subscriptions reached $10,300, Irving T. Kepler, chairman of Cecil county brought greetings from their organization and assured the meeting that the same spirit prevailed in Cecil county and that they would surely subscribe the quota assigned to them. The first report from the Kent county workers will be made at the report supper Tuesday, April 1 when it is expected that an additional $10.-000 will be reported.

The first subscription from the Western Shore came from an alumnus and was $500; it was in response to an appeal from General Chairman James W. Chapman, Jr., and came in the mail Friday morning.

The preliminery organization plans in the Washington College $250,000 Endowment Fund Campaign are rapidly nearing the stage where actual operations will begin in solicitation.

The opening gun of the campaign will be a "Get-TO-Gether" supper in Reid Hall on college campus at Chestertown, Thursday March 27th, when the forty-five workers of Kent County will have their first meeting which will also be attended by probably sixty representatives of the campaign organization from all of the Eastern Shore. During the past week, Wicomico County, under the leadership of Mrs. George A. Bounds, Chairman, made progress in completing their county organization. In Cecil County Chairman, Irving T. Kepler and Vice Chairman Albert B. Mackey held a conference with the seven town chairman and perfected plans for getting under their quota. A meeting was held also at Denton where Wm. I. Norris and Edward N. Noble as Chairman and Vice Chairman are in charge of Caroline County. Another meeting is scheduled for this week in Queen Annes County and several of the southern counties will be well under way before the first of April. The Alumni and friends of the college in New York City, under the leadership of Col. Clarence Hodson and Dr. Joseph J. Genthner, are organizing with the purpose in mind to endow a professorship in Washington College. Philadelphia Alumni and friends are organizing under the leadership of Harry P. Ford and in Baltimore, General Chairman, James W. Chapman, Jr., has appointed Robert L. Langsdale as Chiarman. The students, at present attending Washington College do not intend to be left out either and under the leadership of Preston P. Heck they have organized to do their share in a permanent upbuilding of their Alfa Mater. Just at present it is a secret what they do, but before the next issue of this paper, they expect to make an announcement that will make citizens of the Eastern Shore sit up and take notice. All over the Eastern Shore the reaction of the citizens to the challenge of Governor Albert C. Ritchie is favorable. It is realized everywhere that this citizens movement for the permanent endowment of Washington College must succeed; that it would be a disgrace for word to go out over the country that Marylanders are not sufficiently interested in higher education to endow their only college, which has a record reaching back to colonial times when Gen. George Washington headed a subscription list with a fight of $500.00 which founded the institution.

It is generally recognized also that while large universities and colleges are growing by leaps and bounds, it is of the utmost importance that the small colleges,scattered over the country should be well supported as it is upon them that the nation depends for approximately two thirds of its leadership in all walks of life.

As General Chairman, James W. Chapman, Jr., recently stated, "The newly adopted state policy concerning state support of higher education in Maryland has put it squarely up to citizens of the state particularly those on the Eastern Shore, to determine the future of Washington College. The situation now presents our citizens with the opportunity of making sure for all time the continuance and maintainance of our college as a first class educational institution for the youth of Maryland and particularly the Eastern Shore. In order to insure future state aid which in any event must be proportionately decreased our citizens must do for Washington College now what the citizens interested in other small colleges all over the country have long since done for small college."

The campaign excutive has arranged for all the expense incident to the campaign, so that every dollar subscribed and paid during the next five years upon this fund will go into the fund without any deduction whatever. Senator W. B. Copper of Chestertown, Maryland, is the endowment fund Treasurer. It is expected that the intensive appeal in most of the counties will be completed by the middle of April.

Two Additional County District Committees Completed.

The Betterton District Committee of the Washington College Endowment Campaign is made of the following members:

Howard Turner, Chairman; Jesse B. Coleman, Arthur H. Brice, Chas. H. Brice, Mrs. James A. Brice, Mrs. T. Bayard Crew.

The Fairlee Committee is composed of the following: ?

H. C. Willis, Chairman; A, Earle Nicholson, H. S. Startt, Frank Wheatley.

The entire county organization is completed. The workers throughout the county will come together for three different reports. They ?will meet for supper at 6:30 on Tuesday evening April 1st., Thursday evening April 3rd. and the final report meeting on Tuesday evening April 8th Supper will be served the members of the committee in Reid Hall, Washington College.

The Committee in charge of the Campaign again wish to inform the friends of the college that every dollar contributed will remain intact, as the entire cost of the campaign has been contributed.

AMATUER THIEVES AT WORK.

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS MAKE ATTEMPT TO BREAK OPEN SAFE AT BROOKS' MILL—BURGLAR AIARM INSTALLED.

Amateur burglars made a fruitless attempt to break open the safe at Brooks' Mill Chestertown, Saturday night, but failed to make much headway, and only succeeded in mutiliating the front knob of the same, with out doing much damage.

Mr. Brooks' mill stands in a somewhat isolatted position and offered what appeared to be a good chance for young burglars to try out their skill. After entering the mill, they immediately set to work to force open the safe, expecting to find a rich loot within. The safe is particularly well made and successfully resisted their bests efforts, although they wrung off the knob with a pipe wrench, and still being unsuccessful, they proceeded to uncrew the hinges on the other side of the big door. Successful in this, they found their efforts were still useless, because of the fact that the safe was made proof against this attempt by fitting into a well protected grove. With a pair of scissors they then proceeded to pry the door from its position in the safety groove, but were again unsuccessful.

Mr. Brooks says that nothing was missing, but that he would give a good sum to find out just who the burglars were who were attempting to burglarize his property. Immediately afterwards. Mr. Brooks made arrangements with Mr. Owen C. Smith to install a burglar alarm, and anyone now entering will find themselves in the hands of the law in a few minutes.

The safe came through Mr. Simon Westcott, who says it is almost impossible to open the safe by anything except explosives.

—Mr. B. F. Rash, one of our progressive farmers and large apple growers disposed of the last of his fine apples this week. Mr. Rash placed a large quantity of his crop in cold storage last fall, where they remained until a few weeks ago, when they were brought back to this county and sold to our citizens. Mr. Rasin's first apples went on the market last July and our people were supplied continously until this week.
