THE TRANSCRIPT

THE closing week of the Maryland Legislature has put over on the tax-payers of this State large burdens. Just how the action of some of the Senators and representatives will be received by their constituents remains to be seen. We are thankful that Kent county's representatives are not numbered among the group, who are responsible for fostering most of these extravagant measurers upon the tax payers of this state.

M. E. Conference In Session.

The Wilmington Episcopal Conference is in session in Harrison Street M. E. Church, Wilmington, this week Bishop Wm. F. McDowell presiding. It is the fifty-sixth annual session of the conference.

Some changes will probably be made in this district, but few are expected in Kent charges.

There will be the usual services at Christ M. P. Church tomorrow Sunday.

The music which was rendered by the Orchestra, was very much appreciated and we wish to thank them at this time and congratulate them upon the success, which they have shown in such a short time. FARM BUREAU NOTES

Tomato Growers Holding Firm--Packers Getting Uneasy.

MANY TENTATIVE OFFERS OF 25 CTS. 30 CTS. A BASKET SHOULD MEAN LESS THAN 5-8 OF A CENT PER CAN MORE TO THE CONSUMER.

Tomatoe growers, who joined the pool and especially Farm Bureau members, will be pleased to know that the situation in the counties that pooled their tomatoes is well in hands.

Dorchester, making sure progress toward a practically 30c average contract. Queen Annes and Kent with the exception of those localities which signed contracts prior to the formation of the pool, are holding for practically the same price.

The Bureau officers in both counties have been busy during the week, training up and proving false various rumors as to contracts and prices. The same old tactics of misrepresentation which have produced results in the past, have so far failed.

Very few land lords are urging tenants to contract at any prices, realizing that tenant farmers must get a profit this year or their farms will be vacant. Why not be honest about this situation.

We openly challenge the Tomato packers of Kent, Queen Annes and Balto. City to meet representatives of the farmers and lay their cards on the table. We feel sure we can prove the farmer is getting very little of the 17c per can for which No. 3 tomatoes are selling today and that a handsome profit is being divided among the packers, brokers, and retailers.

30c per basket should mean less than 5-8 of a cent per can extra to the consumer for No. 3. We ask the county papers and daily papers to be represented at such a meeting so that the public, which is so vitally interested may know the true situation.
