KENT COUNTY PROVES TO BE 100% LOYAL

Washington College County Campaign Goes "Over the Top" Total of $27,159 Subscribed.

Great was the rejoicing on the part of the large number of workers who met at Reid Hall, Washington College, Thursday evening for the forth and final report on the Kent County end of the campaign for the Washington College Endowment Fund. The team Workers were looking to reaching the goal of $25,000, with the certainty that this would be made possible, but their enthusiasm was doubled when the reports were called for and the total showed that the County had gone "over the top" by over one thousand dollars, with more to follow.

The committee in charge of the Kent County campaign have arranged to have all names of contributors to the County Fund published in this paper next week, following a careful checking up of all pledges reported and those that may come in previous to the 15th. Many friends were out of town. or had not been seen owing to the condition of the roads in some parts of the county. These will undoubtedly bring the total up to $27,000 or more. No amounts will be given in the publication of this Honor Roll of fine men and women who showed their love and devotion for Washington College by making possible this fund. It is interesting to note that nearly five hundred men and women contributed to the Kent County quota.

STILLS DESTROYED NEAR CHESTERTOWN.

Revenue officers from Baltimore who, it is said, had received a tip about the illicit manufacture of moonshine liquor on three places in Queen Anne county near Chestertown, made a raid on the farms where they found a number of large stills and great quantities of mash as well as a supply of corn liquor. They arrested the three men, who were charged with operating the stills. The officers confiscated the liquor and destroyed it and the stills and mash. The men were ordered to report to the United States Court in Baltimore.
