A FEW MAXIMS

Life tests real Character, Not 'til Winter comes do we know that the pine is an evergreen.

Regarding Success, Some men grow, Others only swell.

He who cannot be discouraged cannot be defeated.

Attention, Application, Accuracy, Method, Punctuality and Dispatch are the principal qualities required for the efficient conduct of business of any sort.

Faithfulness to duty will save regrets for lost opportunities.

Cultivate a smile and it will frequently arrive without premeditation.

To keep clean, to do good work, to earn friends, to be happy and bestow happiness, to develop opportunity, to serve where possible and learn not to whine—this is a success. There is no greater. There is no other.

Those who talk without thinking, run more risk—than he who thinks without talking.

Never judge a man by appearance. The man with the biggest goggles doesn't always own the machine.

The biggest tree takes the most chopping, but it's worth the most when it falls.

Fight your vices and keep peace with your neighbors May each year find you a better person.

How well we all get along considering how little we all know.

Most people do what makes them happiest in this world, regardless of the next.

Stop, look and listen at lots of places in life besides a railroad crossing.

Growth in our business is measured by the satisfaction of the Customers we serve.

A TRAGIC DEATH

Chestertown Man, Falling From Phone Pole, Killed Almost Instantly

Human pathos almost reached a breaking point in Chestertown on Thursday, when Mr. Edgar M. Selleck, an employee of the C. & P. Telephone Company, fell from a telephone pole in front of the home of Mrs. Marion deK. Smith, on Washington avenue, at about 11.30 a. m., and was killed almost instantly. His neck was broken, skull injured and arm fractured. He was found by Messrs. Jesse Hurd and Page Hickman, who were passing a few seconds after the fall. The telephone company was immediately notified, and several employees came at once and gave the stricken man aid in an effort to restore the fast fleeing life but without avail. Dr. H. P. Copeland was summoned and pronounced the man beyond human aid.

It seems that Mr. Selleck, who was combination man for the phone company, was at work on the pole making some adjustments or tests upon the wires when he fell. Whether he lost his balance, or became sick up there thirty or perhaps fifty feet from the earth, or else came in contact with an electril light wire, which is fastened to the same pole, is a matter of conjecture, and there is no authentic information from any source regarding this phase of the sad affiair. Mr. Car Bordley seems to have been about the only one who saw Mr. Selleck on the pole. He states that, looking from his window nearby, he saw the unfortunate man up the pole about fifteen or twenty feet; when he looked again he had disappeared and people were rushing to the scene of the disaster.

Mr. Selleck was born in the upper part of Pennsylvania, near New York State line. He came to Chestertown from Centreville about five years ago as an employee of the telephone company and has resided here since. His wife came from Roberts, Queen Anne's county, where her parents now reside.

The death of Mr. Selleck is one of the saddest events in history of Chestertown, and the heart of the whole community goes out to the young wife, who with her infant of but four weeks, were awaiting his arrival home for dinner when fate stepped in and dealt its deadly blow. Mr. Selleck had in his pocket a present for the babe when death overtook him.

Mr. Selleck was a young man of about 32 years. He was of a retiring disposition, quite and unassuming, and made many friends by his willing manner as an employee of the telephone company and by his hospitality and gentle friendship which he displayed toward others. He was a member of Chestertown M. E. Church, as well as his wife, and both took active parts in both the work of the church and the various societies of it, as well as the Sunday School, in which he was a member of the class of Mr. John N. Bennett.

And thus tragedy stalks in the very shadow of pleasure and happiness, blighting lives, wrecking homes causing untold grief. The whole community sympathizes with the bereaved in their period of sorrow.
