Rural Carriers Elect.

The Kent and Queen Annes Rural Letter Carriers Asociation has elected the following officers for the year. President, Norman Wallen, Millington, vice-president, Harry Jones, Sudlersville; secretary, Herbert M. Matthews, of Chestertown; treasurer, Thomas Willis. Chestertown; delegates to the State Convention, which meets in Baltimore, July 26, P. H. Feddeman, W. C. Stevens, Herbert Matthews, Harry Jones and Thomas Willis.

News From Convention By Radio

Chestertown people have been very fortunate in being able to hear the news direct from the Democratic National Convention through public radio which have given them news up to the very minute. The public radios of Messrs. L. Bates Russell, A. S. Turner & Sons and S. W. Granberry have been the chief instruments through which this information has been received. Prof. Louis J. Thibodean has been at the Lyceum Theatre radio night and day and has kept a tabulated account of every ballot taken.

Marriage Licenses Issued.

Clerk of the Court Robert R. Ayres has issued the following marriage licenses during the past week: Glenn E. Berbaun and Helen Gardner of Centralia, Ill.; W. L. Crowder and S. C. DeMere, of Philadlephia; Gilbert P. Upton and Thelma P. Juengst, of Baltimore; Alpheus Smith and Charlotte Luike, both of Kent county; Francis M. Lally. of Elmhurst and Margie Mae Johnston, of Elkton; Glenn McKelvey of Coatsville and Mary Elizabeth Gary of Kent county; Adolph Dublin and Mollie Stein of Philadelphia; William H. Cowgill and Emily B. Little, both of Wilmington.

Office To Remain

A large delegation of women were before the County Commissioners of Kent on Tuesday in an effort to have them restore an appropriation to help maintain the office of Home Demonstration agent, which was omitted from stration agent, which was omitted that if the county refused to appropriate this money. both the State and Federal governments would withdraw their annual appropriations and the office abolished. The Commissioners granted the request of the women and appropriated the sum of $600 for their share of the expense of maintaining the office.

CHESTERTOWN MAN ATTACKED

Mr. William Lambert, the genial proprietor of the Cannon Street Billiard and Bowling Room, while returning to his home on Cross street from his place of business on Saturday night was stopped by a negro who threw him to the ground and threatened to kill him. Mr. Lambert was attacked so suddenly that he hardly realized what had happened and uttered a loud call mechanically. The negro released him and fled. While unhurt, Mr. Lambert was badly frightened. It is believed that Mr. Lambert was attacked for robbery as he is understood to carry considerable money on Saturday night.

BETTERTON BOOMING

The summer months are always gay at this ever-popular resort on the Chesapeake and these rare June days are being heightened by the increased throngs of sojourners there for their annual recreations, there also being more cottagers than previously. The surrounding roads, crowded with inbound motorists during the day, resound with the glee of evening merrymakers enjoying the always pleasurable strawrides, now modernly conducted in motor trucks, with barn dances at the destination. Watermelon parties and joyous marshmallow toasts on the beach, that follow twilight bathing parties are the current social vogue.

May Enlarge Postoffice.

Inspector Chambers, of the Postoffice Department was in Chestertown in consultation with Postmaster Bennett this week endeavoring to settle the postoffice difficulty. It seems that the lease for the present location expires August 1 and that Mr. L. Bates Russell has submitted a lease for the present building at a new figure, which includes taking in the room alongside the present location, thus making room for the growing business of the office. A number of property owners of Chestertown have been approached regarding a lease, but no one is willing to accept the terms of the government. The present location, remodeled and enlarged, would make the ideal place.

Mr. Rust Retires.

Mr. T. Benjamin Rust of this town, who has been employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad since March, 1881, reached the retirement age, Monday, and will be retired as a section foreman of the local branch road at once.

Mr. Rust entered the employ of the railroad company on March 6, 1881, in charge of the Oxford branch of the Clayton & Easton road. He came to Chestertown in May 1889, where he has since been in charge of the Massey & Chester branch road section force.

Mr. Rust has been a capable official and at no time has the company found it necessary to discipline him on account of poor service. He frequently won prizes offered by the company for the best kept stretch of road on the Maryland-Delaware peninsula. Mr. Rust was 65 years old Monday.

Silos Suffer By Storm.

During the recent storm which swept over Kent county, which we noted last week, the silos of Kent particularly suffered. Those who had silos that were blown over or damaged were: Roger Williams, of near Galena; Joseph Edwards. of near Massey; John Clendaniel, of near Kennedyville; L. R. Vansant, of near Galena. Over on the Cecil side of the Sassafras lightning struck in several places. On the A. P. Prettyman place lightning struck a tree and then went into the ground tearing a big hole in the earth.
