One of the strongest assets of this bank is not listed in this financial statement--it is our "good-will."

And we like to feel that this good-will has come to us in some measure as the reward of good service.

Won't you give us the opportunity to win your good-will?

Elementary School Supervisor Resigns

Miss Alice Florer, Supervisor of the Elementary Schools in Kent County, Maryland, during the past year has resigned her position to accept an unusually attractive offer elsewhere.

Although it is the opinion of educators generally that a supervisor can do but little more than get acquainted with teachers and conditions in the schools of a county the first year, Miss Florer in addition to this accomplished much constructive work. It is to be regretted that she will not be here next term to continue the work for which she so ably laid the foundation.

The position she is leaving was offered her last year on the condition that she would stay at least two years provided her work was satisfactory. The excellent results that she produced, wherever her assistance was welcomed by teachers loyal to the cause of education, surely merited for her the renewal of her contract. The Kent County Board of Education accordingly reappointed her for another year. She would have stayed and declined to accept any offer outside the county no matter how attractive had conditions looked favorable for the discharge of her duties without any interference from outside the schools. Undermining influences operating against her staying in the county caused the writer to consider it unjust to ask the Board of Education to require her, under existing circumstances, to turn down a much larger salary than she would have received here and face the possibility of an unpleasant year solely for the purpose of carrying out her agreement. He therefore, assumed responsibility for releasing her from the conditional obligation which she assumed when she accepted the position as supervisor last year.

Judging from the host of friends among pupils, teachers and school patrons which her courteous manner at all times and her deep interest in the education of the boys and girls of Kent won for her the loss of her services will be generally regretted.

LOUIS C. ROBINSON,
Superintendent of Schools.

FIRE AT CHESTERTOWN

Chestertown came dangerously close to a serious fire on Monday night, and only for quick work by the local fire department it was averted. The fire occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Coleman on High St., starting in the attic. It seems that colored help of the family left the electric wire attachment in contact with an electric iron in the attic during the day When retiring for the night some member of the family turned on the electric switch, heating the iron until it ignitted the ironing board upon which it was setting.. Mrs. James Allen lives next door, and was up late on Monday night. She saw the light in the attic and gave the alarm. Quick arrival of the fire department and a fire extinguisher did the work quickly. The paper on the walls of the room, as well as the painting, besides several articles, were badly damaged

ANOTHER BANDIT APPEARS

Scarcely had the search for the bandit who held up Mr. Wm. Lambert recently ended, when another nuisance appeared before the local scene Tuesday night to disturb the quiet serenity of a usually peaceful neighborhood, when Mr. Frazier Russell, Esq., saw the peering face of a would-be law-breaker, peering into his Mt. Vernon street home through a screened window. Mr. Russell, going to his home on Tuesday night, his family having retired, saw the handkerchief covered face at the window. Going for his pistol, Mr. Russell opened the back door which led into the kitchen and went into the yard after the masked man. He fired twice at the man, who quickly made off to a nearby building and began peering around the building toward Mr. Russell's house. Mr. Russell notified the local officers, who came at once to his home, but failed to locate the nuisance.
