DEATHS

Other Deaths on Page 6

William F. Watson, aged 73, retired farmer, director of the Queen Anne's Bank and former clerk of the Circuit Court for Queen Anne County, died at his home near Centreville Wednesday, Sept. 10.

While in poor health for some time, Mr. Watson was able to be about up to a week ago. H was one of the best-known men in this section, was prominent in Democratic circles and a Mason He was twice married and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Edward B. Emory and Miss Frances Watson. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 p. m. Mr. Watson was well and favorably known this county.

Suddenly on September 7, 1924 Anna M., daughter of the late Dr. Thos. H. and Anna E. Crane (nee Smith,) died in Baltimore. The funeral service was held at the Holy Cross Chapel Millington. Interment in Millington Cemetery. She was long a resident of Millington where she leaves many friends, but in recent years she has lived in Baltimore.

Capt. Thomas Howard, for years commander of the Maryland oyster navy and later manager of the Annapolis Claiborne ferry, died of heart disease Wednesday. While in charge of the McLane as executive officer, he had a notable fight with oyster "pirates" in Chester river. Dredgers declined to recognize the legality of laws setting aside certain bottoms for tongers and banded together to defy the law. On the night of December 10, 1888, a number of dredgers fastened their vessels together and sailed down to meet the McLane. Commander Howard ordered the McLane backed off, and then, putting on full steam ahead, rammed one of the vessels, which was nearly cut in two. This fight occurred at the mouth of Chester River and is remembered by our older watermen.

It is said the guns of the McLane then were turned on the oystermen, who had been firing at her.

Wm. L. Rollison died at his home in Piney Neck yesterday, Friday morning, aged about 82 years. He was a highly respected citizen in that section of the county. Fuller particulars next week.

Globe Flyers Return

America's globe-circling flyers, arriving at Washington Tuesday from Mitchel Field, were welcomed on Bolling Field by the President of the United States and his Cabinet and a large group of Navy, Army and civillian officials. The President made a speech, speaking on terms of highest praise of them. Great crowds greeted them at New York, Baltimore, Washington and elsewhere.

Lewis On Tariff Commission

President Coolidge announced Monday the reappointment of David J. Lewis, of Maryland, formerly Representative in Congress from the Sixth district, as a member of the United States Tariff Commission. Mr. Lewis' reappointment is for the recess of Congress only, but it is understood the President intends to nominate him for the 12 year term when the Senate reconvenes. His present term expires September 30. Mr. Lewis is well known in Kent, where he has many friends.

School Notes

The Kent Schools opened on Monday last with good attendance.

Miss Gladys Beauchamp, has resigned as teacher of Turner's Creek School. Miss Sarah Ruth has been appointed teacher in her place.

Mrs. Eva. McCauley has resigned as teacher of Galena School and Miss Catherine Gilpin is substituting for her. Mrs. McCauley has taken a school in Baltimore.

Fire-Bugs At Marion

That the same person was responsible for the five fires which during the spring and summer, have terrorized Marion is believed generally there.

The fire which destroyed Trinity Methodist Protestant Church and damaged the parsonage occupied by its pastor, the Rev. Carl H. Wareheim, was the fifth of the chain, all aimed apparently at the community life at large and in no case at an individual. This fire was preceded by the destruction of the high school and three unsuccessful incendiary attacks on the Pennsylvania Railroad Station and freight station.

Bramble Hatchery Enlarging

The hatchery at the Bramble Poultry Farm, which concluded hatching for the year Wednesday last, after a continuous operation since January 10, is being considerably enlarged. Messrs. Duyer Brothers are doing the work. The addition will be 50 x 24 feet. Two new incubators will be installed of 16,000 capacity each. This will give the Bramble Poultry Farm a hatching capacity of about 80,000 every three weeks. The building is devoted entirely to hatching and will be 125 feet long when completed. This firm also has about 1500 breeding hens of the White Leghorn, Barred Rock and Rhode Island Red breeds.

Sad Accident To Student

Paul Calvert, an Elkton boy, who for the past two years has been working his way through Western Maryland College, will be unable to finish his course this year, due to an accident that occurred to him at the Elkton pulp works, two weeks ago. During the summer months Young Calvert had ben working in the mill in order to obtain funds to see him through college; in some unaccountable way he got some acid in his eyes. He was taken to the local hospital and later to an eye specialist. The sight of one eye was completely destroyed and the sight of the other eye is so impaired it is feared he will lose the sight of both eyes.

School Days Here.

Summer is really over! The school bell is ringing again and children are truding their way to school. The world is waking from its lassitude. Only the farmer the Ice man and the seller of cold drinks find more lesure coming to them, now after a busy season they may rest on their oars.

This is a good time to begin new resolutions—new ways.

The churches are arranging new programs for the winter. Chautauqua has come and left many of us with new ideas and new ideals.

The summer has been kind, in spite of a long rainy spell which delayed planting and a hot, dry spell which dried up much of the corn, yet all told the crops have measured up better than expected.

NOTICE.

Mrs. William R. Howell will open her Fall term of instruction in Piano and Theory of music September 15th. Specializing with chiffdren.
