Millions To See Baseball Series

Millions will take interest in the World's Series which begin today at Washington. Listen to what the Baltimore American says regarding the series.

"At least 10,000,000 people will be sufficiently interested in the games to watch the returns o nthe scoreboards in newspaper offices, theatres and elsewhere. Assume that each of them thus pays attention to three of the games, and spends two hours on each of them. The 10,000,000 non-attending fans would thus devote 60,000,000 hours to the series.

"This is equivalent to 7,500,000 eight hour days, or 25,000 years of 300 working days each. Paid at the rate of $3000 each, these 25,000 years would be worth $75,000,000.

"That is not all. These 10,000,000 scoreboard fans will spend at least one extra half an hour per day, after each of the six games, reading about the game or discussing it with their friends a total of 30,000,000 hours, or 12,500 years, worth $37,500,000.

Another 20,000,000 people, not interested enough to go to the games or see the scoreboards, will spend at least half an hour a day discussing each of the six games among themselves or with the game attendants or the score board fans. These 20,000,000 half hour discussions for six days will make another 60,000,000 hours, another 25,000 years, worth $75,000.000."

below 1913 level

If you need an engine, if you can use more power, read this message.

The Fairbanks-Morse "Z" Engine, famous for its dependability and economy of operation, is now priced 19 per cent below the 1913 Fairbanks-Morse advertised engine price.

This is the genuine "Z" engine. More than 1,250,000 horsepower in use today prove it the best for farm use.

Quantity production, engineering genius, and care in manufacture have made this price reduction possible. The tremendous saving is passed on to you.

Come in and see this engine. It is the cheapest "hired help" you can buy. Let us prove it!

The girls became frightened and ran from the office for assistance leaving the cloth on Mrs. Taylor's face She was carried to the hospital and by hard work on the part of doctors and nurses she recovered from the effects of the so-called joke.

Cosden Residence Destroyed

Fire last night destroyed the main residence on Rappahannock Farm, the estate of J. S. Cosden, near Warrenton, Va.

The house was erected some years ago by the late Temple Gwathmey, of New York. The place then was known as Camterbury Farm. About two years ago Mr. Cosden purchased the estate adding to it a race track, and the name was changed to Rappahannock Farm. Mr. Cosden's race horses are wintered on the estate. Mr. Cosden was reared in this section, where he is well known.

Illustrated Travelogue On The Far North.

"Beneath the Aurora" is the title of a Canadian travelogue, illustrated by 160 beautiful views, which will be given by Dr. F. W. Johnson, of Newark, N. J., in the William Smith Hall of Washington College on Thursday evening, October 9, at 8 o'clock. The admission is free and the public is cordially invited.

Dr. Johnson, a seasoned traveller, an experienced lecturer, and a delightful scholar and gentleman, comes to Washington College largely upon the recommendation of Dr. Frank J. Milman, of New York, who last year gave an illustrated lecture before the college and its friends on coal and coal mining.

These public lectures are given by the college to the students and people of Chestertown with the desire to bring something of merit and interest from the life of the world and with the hope that the speakers may enjoy a good hearing.
