Strange Bug Does Damage.

Discovery of a peculiar bug, after it had practically ruined an orchard of Stayman winesaps, was made by R. J. Donovan, a prosperous farmer residing near Shawnee,Del. According to Mr. Donovan he was making an inspection of his orchard when he found a number of apples with several holes in them. A more careful search revealed the fact that a small bug, a little larger than a honey bee, was doing the damage. Mr. Donovan captured several of the bugs. He sent some to Harrington together with some of the damaged fruit, which are on exhibit at Sharp & Fleming's drug store. Some more of them will be sent to the University of Delaware for inspection. Another peculiar thing about the bug is the fact that it does not seem to bother any other variety of fruit. Other farmers in that locality state they have not seen any signs of the damage in the orchards.
