ASPARAGUS SEASON ON

Warm Weather Starts Crops Two Weeks Earlier Than Usual

The following letter issued by the Stewart Fruit Co. to Kent Asparagus shippers, gives some interesting information on condition of the asparagus crop here:

The writer spent three days in Kent and Queen Anne's counties last week making hurried calls upon asparagus growers. It may be interesting to report that nearly all asparagus patches or fields have been worked up in fine shape and with the beautiful warm weather, first cuttings will be made first cuttings will be made to-day. about two weeks earlier than usual.

Our first consignmnt arrived last year April 30th from Mr. N. P. Massey, Worton, Md., followed May 1st with shipments from John Carter, Lester M. Carter. Chas. B. Shirley, Caulksfield Farm and E. W. Emory. Opening prices being $5.00 to $6.00 per dozen.

We are expecting a shipment via Tolchester Boat to-day noon. Prices will probably range about as last season, although Baltimore market on Friday and Saturday of last week was the highest in the country, being $7.00 to $7.50 per dozen, while in New York $5.50 was extreme top on California Colossal, $5.00 top on Georgia and $4.50 on South Carolina. Philadelphia reshipped to Baltimore and Washington is $1.00 per dozen lower than Baltimore.

Subscription to the Transcript $1.50 per annum.
