Poultry Notes

An Interesting Article on Turkeys—May an Ideal Poultry Month —Other Notes of Interest

The writer of this column is not a turkey raiser. nor does he know anything worth while about the raising of turkeys except the fundamentals of raising birds in general. This article comes from "Everybody's Poultry Magazine," and will be of interest to our turkey raisers of Kent. It is as follows:

Plan for a first class turkey flock, by having the best breeding stock, possible.

Plan for the number in the fall flock now. Ten or twelve hens may be safely mated with one tom. Given good care and attention, it is not above the average to expect ten mature turkeys from each hen.

Plan for a substantial shelter house, that they may be wtll protected on zero days. At this season the egg factory is storing material which ought not be used for "keeping warm."

Plan for a complete grain ration—1 part whole corn, ½ part oats, ½ part wheat. As spring advances, lessen the corn, substituting oats.

Plan for sour milk as a noon relish. thus increasing vigor and vitality. No better containers than common earthen crocks.

Plan for artificial incubation and breeding. This method may mean success. If rightly managed, there will be no lice and early maturity.

Plan for limited range until midsummer, no matter how many acres in the farm. One solution is a wire-covered runway, opening into a large yard.

Plan for succulent green food, from the hatch to the hatchet. Two varieties of lettuce, May Kieg and New York, sown in roys at the edge of the garden will furnish this; using Big Boston for a fall crop. Just now chopped apples or cabbage will have good effect on fertility and general health of the turks.

Plan for an Epsom salts dose on the first and fifteenth of each month. In the morning, dissove one level teaspoonful of salts for each turkey, in warm water. Pour this over the evening's grain feed. By the middle of the afternoon, the grain will have absorbed tht liquid and should be fed early. Have plenty of drinking water. for this treatment causes thirst.

Plan for well filled grit and shell hopper, with one division of charcoal. Lady Turk is now looking about for rough stuff.

The season is passed for the early chicks. Those who last fall and winter vowed they would have a lot of early chicks this year have gone through the same old experience. They found out that winter eggs did not run as high in hatchability as expected—brooding factilities were not conducive to proper care of the chicks—close confinement on hard floors were bad for the chicks—direct sunshine was not available without the additional dangers from cold drafth and other dangers not foreseen took their toll and the breeder finds himself about where he always is at this time of the year, and he decides to still raise his quota by hatching some May and June chicks—and he is wise in so deciding. When the seasons are normal, which they haven't been for the past few years, April is the ideal month for hatching, especially of the heavier breeds. With it should come the warm sunshine, the warm rains, the bugs the grass, the worms and all that play an important part in the growing life of the chick. For the heavier breeds we should say that April was the best month to hatch them. It takes six good months to properly grow and mature the heavy breeds. But for the Mediterraneans, give us May and June.

There can be no question that it is desirable to have plenty of room where poultry raising is carried on. The fields and meadows over which the young birds roam in summer and early fall are popularly called range and such stock as is unconfined is known as free-range stock. The opportunity afforded birds that wander where they will to get plenty of exercise, lots of green food and a variety of animal life is great and such birds are ordinarily strong and healthy. The shade afforded by the trees and bushes is extremely beneficial and the birds pick up a variety of minerals from the soil that tone them up and balance the ration in an excellent manner.

In the care and handling of any live stock, good growth of the young animal is essential to success. In securing good growth, the one fundamental requisite back of it all is to avoid checks and set-backs and to keep the animal, which is the growing chick in the case of poultry, growing uniformly and continuously. It is a fact that any check or set-back in the growth of the chick during the summer, retards its ultimate maturity, dwarfs the birds in size, lowers its resistance to isease, impairs its market poultry quality, injuries its appearance of plumage and in general, impairs the efficiency of the birds so checked. A uniform, continuous, normal growth from hatching time to maturity is what we are after in caring for our growing chicks.

IT HAS LASTED

Chesttertown People Must Believe Such Convincing Testimony as Mrs. Kirby's

No one in Chestertown who suffers backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this twice-told story of a Chestertown resident. It is confirmed testimony, telling of lasting benefit from Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. It's evidence that no man or woman in Chestetrown can doubt.

Mrs. S. E. Kirby, 101 N. Queen St., says: "I used Doan's Pills with good results when I was troubled with a slight disorder of my kidneys and backache."

Over Five Years Later, Mrs. Kirby said: "Doan's Pills cured me of kidney complaint and the cure has been lasting. I always recommend them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Kirby had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs. Buffalo, N. Y.
