Kent Talent Scores

Kent talent scored a most decided hit at "Bloomfield," Talbot County, last Saturday night, when Mrs. William Dixon, with her Worton Point Dramatic Company, gave their entertainment for the benefit of the health associations of Kent and Talbot. "The Lost Governor," a short play, was especially well done. Mr. and Mrs. William T. Dixon acted their parts with real skill, and the play in itself brought out the best in histrionic effort run in.

In "Caroline's Christmas," another one act play, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon made several local hits, and the dialogue was thoroughly appreciated. After the plays, the spot-light was turned on the river, and into the light came a canoe in which sat Miss Dixon and Miss Dobbin. They sang "Indian Lament," and other songs. With the display of fire works—Niagara Falls and rockets of every hue bursting in the distance, it was a scene of rare beauty. Mrs. Dixon is to be complimented upon the success of the affair and her spirit of Co-operation.

Bull Plays "Fight"

Up at Betterton, one of Kent's prettiest and most popular summer resorts, the hundreds of summer guests were treated to a rare bit of excitement on Tuesday morning upon the arrival of steamer "Emma Giles" of the Tolchester Steamboat Company. It seems that some farmers in the Betterton neighborhood wanted to get to market an immense and powerful bull and were attempting to load the animal on the steamer. The animal, evidently, did not relish his journey and made a vicious lunge to escape and went overboard. The dwellers in cities at Betterton were not used to this form of recreation and, parking upon building, safe from the battle between man and beast, they watched a short and unequal struggle. The vicious animal upon going overboard, immediately started to swim about the wharf, but was soon lassoed and led around to shore. Then the struggle began again, but enough human strength could not be mustered to haul the untamed animal to his fatal trip. Finally horses were hitched to the rope and he was dragged aboard the steamer.
