SOME STARS OF THE WCAP STUDIO

Hardell, Hood, and Lambdin Have a Direct Appeal to the Public.

"Hark! the numbers soft and clear,
Gently steal upon the ear;
Now louder, and yet louder rise,
And fill with spreading sounds the skies."

Everett Hardell, Gretchen Hood and A. L. Lambdin

Plucking music from the air is a popular pastime during the long winter evenings. Radio programs now include well balanced selections of music, both vocal and instrumental, sermons, talks and other interesting features that have a direct appeal to the public.

Listeners in may frequently hear such popular artists as Everett S. Hardell, Miss Gretchen Hood and Arthur L. Lambdin, who have entertained from the studio of WCAP, over a network of stations that includes the eastern half of the United States.

Mr. Hardell has a mellow tenor voice, which is very popular with the radio audience. He studied music under Mme. Morey, at Boston, and Doctor Archibald P. Davison, at Harvard. While at the latter institution he was a member of the Harvard Glee Club.

The charming soprano voice of Gretchen Hood is also familiar to the radio audience. She is an artist of considerable note, and has studied music at home and abroad. While in Europe she was a student at the Brussels Conservatory in Belgium. Miss Hood has been heard frequently the San Carlo Opera Company, and as a guest soloist with the United States Navy Band of Washington.

Mr. Lambdin has a baritone voice of unusual excellence. In the national capital he is well-known as a soloist in church choirs. Mr. Lambdin is district traffic superintendent of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and studied music at the Peabody Institute in Baltimore.

While many people think of radio as a new development of the past three or four years, it was really highly developed in 1915, for ten years ago radio telephone signals were being sent from Washington to Honolulu, Paris, San Francisco—practically as far as at present. Ten years ago the American Telephone and Telegraph Company had perfected its experiments to the point that it could predict the future of radio in almost the same terms that the world today accepts the possibilities and the limitations of this marvelous means of communication.

It can be seen that the progress of radio in the past ten years has been in making it available for the general public, and in educating non-technical people to its use. As far as its basic principles are concerned, the work of the Bell System which reached its climax ten years ago still stands as the foundation of the science.

A TELEPHONE PIONEER

W. T. Williamson, Vice-President, With Headquarters At Charleston.

W. T. Williamson, Vice-President

One of the poplar telephone officials of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of West Virginia is W. T. Williamson, vice president, whose headquarters are at Charleston.

Mr. Williamson entered the service of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company as manager of the Charleston office, January 1, 1901, but was soon promoted to assistant superintendent. Later he was made superintendent of the Southern West Virginia district.

In 1912 when the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company took over the properties of the Bell Company in West Virginia, Mr. Williamson was made division manager for the State. He has been a director of the company since July 20, 1916.

He was active in bringing about the merger of the Central District, Consolidated, and Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies in 1917.

On February 16, 1923, Mr. Williamson was elected vice-president of the company. He is a member of the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Mr. Williamson is active in church work. He has twice represented the West Virginia Conference in the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and is now a member of the World Service Commission of that Church. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees of West Virginia Wesleyan College at Buckhannon, West Virginia.

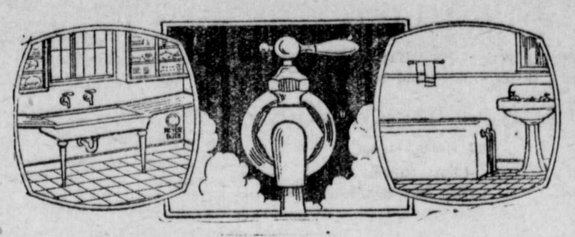

Rain Needed Washing

One afternoon when Richard Mansfield was conducting a dress rehearsal, he and his entire company began coughing violently from a shower of dust which suddenly filled the wings.

"Where does all this abominable dust come from?" the actor demanded.

One of the stage hands, more courageous than his associates, ventured the explanation. "I think it comes from the rain-box, sir."

"And can't you wash the rain?" inquired Mansfield in all seriousness.—Boston Transcript.

HOW TELEPHONES HELP THE PRESS "GET THE FACTS"

High-Speed News Gathering Has Been Made Possible By Use Of Wire Reporting

"Number, please?"

The important part played by the telephone in getting out a large city newspaper is shown in the case of the Chicago Daily Tribune, where an average of 22,506 telephone calls is made for one day's issue of the paper.

Not only is the telephone of the greatest value to editorial workers, the reporters and the city desk, where it is a vital time-saving factor, but it is equally important to the advertising department. On a recent Friday and Saturday the Chicago Tribune received as many as 3,963 want ads entirely by telephone. To handle the immense amount of telephone traffic which this single newspaper requires, a special machine switching system was installed this year.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the first public demonstration of the invention of the telephone by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell was participated in by an enterprising newspaper reporter. The demonstration took place in Salem, eighteen miles from Boston, on February 12, 1877, and an enterprising representative of the Boston Globe telephoned an account of the demonstration to his newspaper, which was printed the next morning. Thus the first telephone newspaper dispatch was printed.

Today, in all the important cities, there is a corps of newspaper reporters who never, or hardly ever, write a single line of copy. Their duty is to secure the news and get it to the newspapers. They telephone the facts to the city desk, which assigns a writer—usually known as a "rewrite man"—who jots down the facts and prepares his "story" in his own way, but the man in the field is no less a news writer than is the man at the desk who takes the points as they are telephoned, and weaves them into newspaper copy.

HOW CAN WE IMPROVE TELEPHONE SERVICE?

Improving telephone manners, by giving every possible consideration and aid to those young women who serve us. Let us make sure, first of all, that we know the correct number we wish to call. Let us speak the number distinctly and painstakingly, making doubly sure that we are understood," said Howard Coonley, president of the Walworth Manufacturing Company and former president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce recently.

"The service is dependent upon the individual even more than upon mechanical equipment. The key to successful and satisfactory service is the operator, and she cannot perform her work properly if we deny her the little human courtesies that are due her.

"Good manners over the 'phone will automatically bring improved service."

STOP THAT BACKACHE!

Many Chestertown Folks Have Found the Way.

Is a dull, nerve-racking backache wearing you out Do you feel older and slower than you should? Are you tired, weak and nervous; find it impossible to be happy, or enjoy the good times around you? Then there's something wrong and likely it's your kidneys. Why not get at the cause? Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Read what this Chestertown resident says:

Elmer Newton, 403 N. Cannon St., says: "If I took cold it settled in my kidneys and caused backache that interferred with my work. I also had frequent headaches and my kidneys acted irregularly, too. I used Doan's Pills from Sterling's Drug Store and they soon strengthened my back and kidneys." (Statement given January 26, 1921.)

On June 4, 1925 Mr. Newton said: "Doan's Pills have always rid me of kidney trouble. All I said in my previous statement holds good today."
