Maryland sportsmen are beginning to question the value of methods now pursued by the State, in the effort to conserve and propagate upland wild life. For the undisputed fact sticks out like a sore thumb, that in spite of ideal weather conditions, and despite the thousands of birds and rabbits that were shipped to all sections of the State, game was almost unprecedentedly scarce throughout the last season.

Perhaps this is particularly true with regards to rabbits, for there were evidences that some success, at least, had been achieved in the propagation of partridges. But the effort to stock the woods and fields with pheasant unquestionably fell completely flat. Certainly it is true that upland game, as a whole, grows constantly and alarmingly scarce—in spite or all the efforts to conserve and propagate it.

Having passed through two failures, the Easton team is determined to quit as the doormat of the league and be among the contenders for this year's linen. The officers and directors of the club realize that in order to draw and hold the patronage a winning team must be placed in the field at the start of the season. Otherwise ruination will stare them in the face. Easton was the joke of the league two years ago, but the attendance stood up remarkably well. Things were so bad last year that the fans boycotted the club within a month after the season started. Then Buck Herzog came along, put new life into the team, secured new players, but could not get out of the cellar because ball players of ability at that time of the season are not obtainable for love or money.

There seems to be a general opinion that the United States leads in everything. On the other side of the argument it might be noted that the United States is still shy in one of the most important of all the competitive traits—and this is stamina. Finland, through Nurmi, Rittola and Kolehmanen, holds almost every world record from the mile to the marathon, with American athletes far behind. Such men as Paddack, Scholz, Hubbard, Ted Meredith and Mel Sheppard have taken good care of records up to and through the half-mile. But no one has run within two seconds of Nurmi's mile mark, nor within ten seconds of his two-mile romp.

If boxing had any sort of national organization Dempsey would have been thrown into the discards some time ago. He made up his mind to retire three years ago, and he has been stalling for three years in order to get all he can out of the title he won't defend. Dempsey has fought twice in five years—against a light-heavyweight and a novice. That at least is one way of emaining champion for life. Hornsby, Bobby Jones, Nurmi, Tilden, Telen Wilis, etc., are champions. Why should the word be warped by a synthetic titleholder?

Mrs. Richard Carville and Miss Alberta Brice, leading in the organization of a women's polo team in Kent county recently received a challenge from Mrs. Randolph Nicholas, representing the Baltimore Women's Polo team, for a game to be played next spring on a date to be agreed upon by both teams. Mrs. Carville and Miss Brice have been at work on the organization of a strong team in Kent county, the first on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Six young women of the county have agreed to organize a team, and when weather conditions are favorable they carry their horses through an afternoon of hard training. Miss Brice states that real progress has been made and that the horses are rounding into shape. The women comprising the organization are Mrs. Richard Carville, Misses Alberta Brice, Rachel Willis, Anna Perkins, Rowena Wood and Catherine Wright.

Washington College overwhelmed ... final score w... Had Coach Kibler kept his firs... in the game during the entire game the visitors would have been unable to have score a single goal. From the first whistle, it was evident that the result was a foregone conclusion. There was nothing to it. It was simply a question of how many points wanted to score. The fact is that, with Carroll in the form he was Saturday night, none of the State teams have the slighest lookin. With his wearing, persistent, elusive style of playing, backed by his powerful and aggressive thrusts for the basket, it is hard for any team to stop him. when he is "right," in our opinion he is the premier ofany player ever seen in action in this state. However his work would not shine so brightly were it not for the great work of Dumschott, who always seems in top form.

The work of Carrington, Jacobs, Seit, McAuliffe and others also was of a high order. There is the hardest kind of fight on for forward, since Carrol has been shifted to center, where he really belongs this year. No one ever here could out jump Carroll consistently. He plays, naturally, a moving game. It is a good place for him. It will be interesting to see who goes to forward with Dumschott.

The guarding of Fiore and Cavanaugh was as good as ever seen here. They are two really great forwards.

Washington College will play the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy on the local floor tonight, Saturday.

WHITE QUILL-KEEPER OF THE ETERNAL FIRE

Deep within the wild, rocky fastnesses of the Spavinaw Hills of Oklahoma, some thirty miles from the nearest town, burns the "Eternal Fire" of the Creek Indians, attended faithfully by White Quill, the appointed "Medicine Man of the Manitou."

White Quill, now sixty years old, was prepared for his "eternal vigil" not only in the lore of his tribe. He also received a good education in a "paleface" school.

White Quill is "civilized" in practically all respects, with the exception of his dress. He attends to his appointed duty with a faithfulness and attention to detail that no white man would attempt. ...so, as he ... proved. Situated as it is, ... from the nearest habitation, the location of the eternal fire is infested by various dangers.

When off duty White Quill usually wears the ordinary costume of his race— buckskin trousers and hunting shirt—but invariably when replenishing the sacred fire he is dressed in the full regalia of his rank—a medicine man and keeper of the eternal fire. Never, under any circumstances, will he enter the fire tepee in ordinary dress. He sleeps in an ordinary tent, and it is often moved to suit his fancy, according to the weather, but is always in sight of the fire tepee. Not once during the forty years he has been fire keeper has White Quill been out of seeing distance of the eternal fire.

His food is brought to him by the young Creek Indians—from the stores thirty miles away, from the forests and streams, though he often bags a deer or wild turkey within sight of the fire tepee. Needless to say, he fares well, for he is a sort of god to the other Indians. He never receives more than two Indian visitors at a time, and the same individuals only once a year. It is said that only three white men have ever visited him by his consent during the forty years of his vigil, and they were not allowed to approach the fire tepee.

White Quill is a unique character, even for an Indian. He can talk entertainingly on almost any subject familiar to the white race, and keeps himself informed by reading all the late books and magazines. He has never seen an automobile for the reason that one could not be driven to within many miles of his location. but he has seen the "thunder birds" (airplanes) passing overhead and is greatly interested in them.—From Everybody's Magazine for December.

—That the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is now planning the electrification of lines extending from Townsend through Massey to Centreville and Chestertown, with the view of reducing expenses thousands of dollars, annually, by the elimination of steam passenger trains, and the curtailment of crews, is an unconfirmed report that has been circulated in railroad circles this week.

—Appropriate markers will be placed at historicial spots in Maryland in the near future.

Yes, sir! that's my buddy!

TROUBLE'S a bubble, just as the song says. And you can stick it with the stem of your old jimmy-pipe . . . packed to the brim with Prince Albert. Friendly, fragrant Prince Albert. Cool, comfortable Prince Albert. A pal in the pinches . . . a cheer-leader when you're on top.

Pipe-peeves vanish in a P. A. smoke-screen. Problems go up in smoke. Cool and sweet and fragrant, P. A. sifts into your system and pins a big red rose on the workaday world. Tobacco with a real mission in life . . . to make you pipe-happy and keep you that way!

And listen to this: P. A. can't nip your tongue or parch your throat! Because—the Prince Albert process put a padlock on tongue-torture right at the start; gave Bite and Parch the gate in the beginning . . . and they've never been back!

Men who thought they never could smoke a pipe have tried again with Prince Albert . . . and stuck! Go and do you likewise. There's a friendly shop nearby where they hand out P. A. sunshine in tidy red tins. Take the shortest cut. Step lively! Your tobacco troubles will then be over for all time.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!
