Washington College Wins From Philadelphid College of Osteopashy---Other News of the Sporting Realm

Washington College, with only two of the once famous "Flying Pentagon" in the line-up, had their hands full on Saturday night on the Washington floor, before a large crowd, in defeating the baketball team from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy. The game ended with Washington having a 22-19 edge.

Washington started in to swamp the visitors, but the flashing Dumschott retired from the game after the first minute, with a sprained leg. McAuliffe took his place, but seemed in poor form and was unable to get started right. The Washington five had a hard time overcoming the loss of Dumschott, although Carrington flashed brilliantly during the first half and caged the ball almost at will. Carroll layed at center for Washington and was outjumped somewhat easily by the tall and sturdy center from Philadelphia, who was a tower of strength for them.

Carrington's great shooting put Washington far in the lead in the first half, which ended with the score standing 16-6. The visitors played better basketball in the second half and toward the close scored several baskets, but they were never really serious contenders for the honors.

Washington College will have two hard games this week. Last night, Friday, they played University of Maryland's crack five, which defeated Navy this season. Tonight they will play the Georgetown University five.

The women's polo team of the Eastern Shore, recently organized by horse-women of Chestertown and vicinity, has accepted the challenge to play a group of Baltimore women affiliated with the Maryland Women's Polo Association, it was announced Saturday. Plans are being made for the match to be played in the early spring at the Pikesville field.

The Chestertown women organized their team about two months ago, following the announcement that women in Baltimore city and Baltimore county had decided to form a polo squad under the direction of Col. Ola W. Bell, of the Third Corps Area headquarters, captain of the Third Corps polo team. Miss Alberta Brice, of Chestertown, with the assistance of Mrs. Richard Carville, of Kent county, called a meeting of a group of interested women and practices were begun at a farm near Chestertown.

At present the players are meeting three times a week when weather permits. Besides learning the principles of the game they are training ponies. Arrangements have been made to finance games booked for the team and to purchase equipment for the players.

A prominent coach is being sought, it was said.

Besides Miss Brice and Mrs. Carville other women in the Eastern Shore group are Miss Rachael Willis, Miss Anna Perkins, Miss Rowena Wood and Miss Catherine Wright. Sentiment in that section of the State is said to be favorable to the promotion of women's polo, and although the present group of players is not as large as that in Baltimore, it is believed that it will grow steadily.

There is a possibility that the Army Navy game will again be played in offering the largest seating capacity of any city in the country.

The Washington College Athletic Association has taken a big step toward accomodating the crowd of fans who turn out for the home basketball games. Last season the seating capacity of the Gym was entirely inadequate for the crowds who attended the games. As a remedy, this season, removable bleachers have been installed on the main floor and on the track. On the main floor there are two tiers of seats on each side while in the balcony there are four tiers on each side. It was necessary to raise the radiators from the floor to positions on the wall before the seats could be placed on the main floor. This, how ever, has been completed and the seating arrangement is made more satisfactory.

"Red" Grange is still apparently eluding his would-be tacklers on the gridiron, and incidentally reaching his goal of millionaire. His famous runs are thrilling thousands and his team is winning by reason of his prowess.

It will be interesting to follow the re-action upon the various universities of Red's entrance into professional football. Already much talk is heard in the colleges about over-emphasis of football. Princeton, Harvard, and Yale are considering a triangular league, and it is more than likely other schools will cut down on schedules.

Loyola College Basketball team will be the opponent of the Washington Five on the local floor on Saturday evening, January 30.

The hockey team of Prof. Fairies, of Washington College, was defeated by the Walbrook Athletic Club team, of Baltimore Saturday in two games, the scores being 6-3 and 7-2. Prof. Fairies was easily the star of the game.

—Oystermen of St. Michaels have been frozen up hard. Every effort to get out to the oyster grounds has proved futile. The oystermen themselves cut large cakes of ice in the harbor and with the wind and tide these cakes floated out to deeper each other and then froze so hard that it was impossible for the boats to get through.

—It is a coincidence that within six weeks three professional men of Oxford have died. Dr. Sappington, November 20: Dr. Long, January 8, and Dr. Evens, January 9. Oxford is now without a resident physician.

OH! MY BACK!

Aching Backs Make Life Miserable For Many Chestertown People

It isn't right to suffer day in and day out with dull, unceasing backache. Or be utterly miserable with sharp stabs of pain whenever you stoop or lift. But chances are you will suffer these tormenting aches and pains as long as your weakened kidneys are neglected. You may have headaches, too, spells of dizziness and urinary disorders. Then use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Experiences of Chestertown people prove the merit of Doan's.

W. R. Bowers, carpenter, 424 W Cannon St., Chestertown, says: "A cold settled in my kidneys and caused a constant, dull hurting in the small of my back. When I stooped or lifted anything, a sharp catch seized me and it was hard to straighten up. The kidney secretions passed too freely at night and I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, too. After using Doan's Pills from Toulson's Drug Store, all symptoms of kidney trouble left and I have enjoyed good health ever since."

No mystery!

THERE are probably some things about the telephone business which mystify you, just as there are things about other businesses which you do not thoroughly understand.

Perhaps it is a charge that appears on your bill, or some practice about the service which puzzles you, even if it does not actually annoy you.

When these occasions arise why not ask the local manager about them? He will be glad to explain.

All of this Company's practices are designed to make it easy for you to do business with us and to improve your service. They are the result of long years of experience and they reflect our best business judgment. But they are flexible and are constantly being revised in the interests of service betterment and satisfaction to our patrons.

Willingness to correct and cheerfully explain every detail of our business are, we believe, two of our principal responsibilities in conducting this important public service.

Tie a tin to trouble

A TIDY red tin of Prince Albert, to be exact. There's the greatest little trouble-chaser in the known world. P. A. and trouble don't speak the same language. But trouble understands when P. A. says: "On your way!" Pipe-grouches choose the nearest exit.

Yes, Sir, P. A. is right there with the Pollyanna stuff. Sunshine, gladness, the light heart, the bright smile. Because Prince Albert is the cheeriest, chummiest tobacco that ever tumbled into a briar or corncob. A pal to count on, no matter how the battle goes. A friend in fair weather and foul. Good old Prince Albert!

Smoke P. A.—and smile. Cool, comfortable P. A. Fragrant, friendly P. A. Not a tongue-bite or a throat-parch in a ton of it. The Prince Albert process hung the "No Admittance" sign on Bite and Parch the day the factory opened. That means you can hit P. A. hard and fast—with no regrets!

Men who gave up trying to smoke a pipe have tried again . . . with Prince Albert! That proved to be their password to jimmy-pipe joy. They're P. A. fans today . . . joyous, contented, glad they've found their tobacco. Buy a tidy red tin before you do another thing.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!
