ANNUAL MEETING OF HEALTH ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Kent County (Md.) Public health Association for the election of officers will be held at the Health Center of the association High Street near Queen, Chestertown, Maryland on Thursday, June 10th, 1926 beginning at 2.00 p. m.

The association has accomplished much good during the past year by having the Public Health Nurse under its direction co-operate with the Deputy State Health Officer, but there are still several important lines of work yet to be organized and followed up. This cannot be done successfully without the hearty co-operation of people interested in health conditions throughout the entire county. Ways and means of promoting the work will be discussed at this meeting. It is sincerely desired, therefore, that all the district leaders will urge as many people as possible in their respective districts to attend this meeting. MARYLAND EXHIBIT AT SESQUI-CENTENIAL

GIANT REPRODUCTION OF STATE SHOWS ELEVATIONS, BAYS AND RIVERS

The Sesqui Centenial at Philadelphia will unofficially, open June 1 while the official opening date is set for July 4. The Maryland exhibit which will be located directly across from the Broad street entrance will be a pride to every resident of the state.

The Maryland exhibit will be a huge map of the state, 13ft x 9ft. showing all the towns, rivers, bays and elevations. This map will be a wonderful advertisement for Maryland by showing people from other states the wonderful waterways and agricultural advantages of the state especially the Eastern Shore. Another great advantage of the exhibit will be the educating of our own people in the "Know Your Own State" movement.

The exhibit will be surrounded with panels describing the particular advantages of each county of the state. The walls will be covered with enlarged pictures of the towns and special points of interest throughout the state.

Kent County shows to particular advantage on the map being directly across the Bay from Baltimore, with Betterton, Tolchester and Rock Hall on the Bay all of which are connected with Chestertown by hard surface roads.. It shows the good transportation facilities between Philadelphia and Kent County by boat rail and automobile.

KU KLUX GATHER HERE.

Ku Klux Klansmen from all over the Eastern Shore of Maryland Gathered in Chestertown on Thursday evening and gave a big demonstration in the field of Mr. Julian Jones, which began at about 8.30 o'clock. Long before the time for the demonstration the field was packed with interested spectators, who had come from far and wide to see the Klansmen, clothed in white, who presented a somewhat unique appearance as they paraded about like ghostly figures in the pale light of moon. A huge cross had been erected in the center of the field which at the proper time, was ignited. This flaming emblem, surrounded by white-clothed figures, presented a most impressive sight. During the evening's ceremonies, a speech was made by one of the high officials, telling what the order stood for and what its purposes were. The affair created quite a good deal of interest and was the subject of much discussion.

—Mr. J. Raymond Lusby has rented the Eliason farm on Lankford Bay in Broad Neck, now tenanted by Capt. H. W. Hadaway, who will move to his farm near McClain's Corner.

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE TOMATO SITUATION

The Transcript is indebted to a friend for the following clipping which appeared in the Cash Grocer and The Grocers' Guide. It may encourage our growers who have to-date refused to contract at a price below production cost.

TOMATOES. There has been a very marked change in the Tomato situation within the past two or three weeks. The lethargy, indifference and weakness in the market, that has so long prevailed, has entirely passed and a very much stronger market, with higher prices in first hands, has developed. Good quality No. 3 Tomatoes are not easily obtainable and, if so, cannot be secured within 7½ to 10c per doz., of what they would have cost four or five weeks ago and No. 2s are fully 5c. to 7½c. per dozen higher in first hands. The extremely low prices, that have prevailed for four or five months past, have produced a tremendous consumption, which is now being reflected in the market. The fact that Tomatoes are now selling far below the cost of production is another factor that is causing much inquiry and considerable purchasing to carry into another season. From present outlook, it seems absolutely safe to call the retail trade's attention to Tomatoes and advise that they are, without doubt, a paricularly good and safe purchase either for spot, further season's requirements or even to carry into another season's requirements or even to carry into another season. It has been a long, long while since Tomatoes could be spoken of in this strain.

SCALDED BY TRACTOR

While operating a tractor on the farm of his father, Mr. Linwood A. Sutton, near Chestertown, Stanley B. Sutton, one of the members of Maryland's National Cattle Judging Team, which is to sail from New York June 18 for England to compete with the champion British team for world honors at the World's Cattle Exhibit, was badly scalded about the face and shoulders, sustaining painful wounds. Fortunately, his eyes escaped injury and it is thought that the accident will not interfere with his ability to judge cattle. While his injuries are painful, it is believed he will be fully recovered by the date for sailing from New York and that he will give a good account of himself in the judging contest. Young Sutton had recently returned from Atlantic City.

BALTIMORE & EASTERN SHORE FERRY LINE SUED

George Rodney of Rock Hall who it is said sustained a serious injury while employed as a fireman on the ferry boat "Eastern Shore" on April 28th last, has brought a suit in the Superior Court of Baltimore City. As a result of his injuries which he sustained through falling when a board broke under him, Mr. Rodney was taken to the Marine Hospital in Baltimore and has been under treatment since. The damages he claims amount to $10,000.00. He has employed to represent him Messrs. Morris K. Barroll and John W. Barroll.

KENT FARMERS TO INSPECT SOIL PLOTS AT ALMSHOUSE FARM

Wheat After Soy Boans, Principal Feature. By County Agent H. B. Derrick.

A field meeting will be held next Friday, June 4th, beginning at 1.00 p. m. at the Soils Plots on the Alms House Farm.

The purpose of this field meeting is to inspect wheat after soybeans, wheat after wheat, wheat after corn, and wheat after sod; to determine the effect of the preceeding crops on the growth of wheat and whether or not any bad effects result from having soybeans preceed wheat. The nine plots in each of these sections have different fertilizer treatments, so that we should be able to determine what fertilizer and cropping combination gives the best results under the conditions at the field.

Here is an opportunity to observe this pertinent question now facing all Kent County farmers. These plots are being conducted under the supervision of the State Soils Department in cooperation with the Alms House Board of Directors, and Dr. McCall, in charge of that work, will be present.

Director of the Maryland Experiment Station, Dr. H. J. Patterson, State Agronomist, Professor J. E. Metzger, and Extension Agronomy Specialist, Professor F. W. Oldenburg, are expected to be present to go over the plots with Kent farmers.

Kent County farmers cannot afford to miss this field meeting. Farmers from other Counties are cordially invited. Two or three hours will give you this practical information, first hand, on a subject of great importance to all Eastern Shore farmers. Say "I will" and bring your neighbor.

The Board of Director of the Kent County Alms House, as well as Mr. J. B. Sutton, deserve much credit for their cooperation with the State Experiment Station in this project, making it possible for Kent and Eastern Shore Farmers to obtain the above information.

THE CHASE

His breakfast done, he loiters,
In a field of dewy hay,
Above him on the hillside
By his mate the young ones play.

With nose that points to windward,
He scents the scouting hounds;
A warning sign he gives his mate,
Listens for the baying sounds.

And off he lopes directed,
To the woods by pungent smells,
Till almost face to face they come,
And now the music swells.

With calm, and feigned indifference,
He jumps upon the fence;
The top rail still for many yards,
Will serve as his defense.

But speed must now be quickened,
He makes across the field;
The hounds in close pursuit confirm,
That Reynards fate is sealed.

Not yet! Some sheep are grazing,
He jumps upon a back;
The flock darts off across the field,
This disconcerts the pack.

He goes into the woodland,
To double cross his track;
Now out again across the road,
He mounts upon a stack.

With monarch mien he watches,
Both man, and dog, and horse,
Marks canine cries of lessening strength,
And then resumes his course.

The hunters view him with dismay,
But what can mere man do?
The hounds have lost down in the woods,
So Reynard says he's through.
