CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

At the request of a number of friends I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Sheriff of Kent County, subject to the Democratic Primaries in September.
CHARLES L. GILL

RIGHT MUST PREVAIL

By S. E. Kiser

The man who, knowing he is right,
Moves onward day by day,
Is sure to reach his goal in spite
Of troubles on the way.
When doubt is banished from his mind
He cheats himself, unless
He leaves timidity behind
And fights through to success.

Columbus, being right, could dare
To face the vast unknown;
When others muttered in despair
He held to faith, alone.
No matter what the doubters said
Or what ill fate they feared,
He resolutely sailed ahead
Till land at last appeared.

Without the certainly that right
Was in the choice he made
The Father of his country might
Have faltered or been swayed;
But, being right, he would not hear
The quaking voice of Doubt;
Because he knew, his course was clear
His faith could not wear out.

Success must crown them, soon or late
Who, being right proceed;
But no one can be truly great
Whom false beliefs mislead.
One trouble with the system, though,
That should be kept in mind,
Is that most men who think they know,
Know nothing of the kind.

KENT COUNTY APPLE KING

Mr. Walter B. Harris, the Apple King of Kent county, is shipping large quanities of the Transparent variety of apples. Car loads are leaving his orchards each day. Just what price Mr. Harris is realizing for these apples we do not know, but we feel safe in saying that a satisfactory price is being realized.

DR. SUNSHINE FOR BABIES.

"I am here as a messanger from my friend, Dr. Sunshine," the Health Gnome remarked, as he blew in through the open window at the State Department of Health, and settled down on the desk of the Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene for o conference. "I've a bunch of Sunshine prescriptioss, "he remarked," for babies and the little kids, and it wouldn't hurt the grown ups to take some of the same medicine.

"But the wee babies, those only two or three months old, are my particular charge, today, and this prescription will help prevent rickets, that disease of the bones that gives them bowlegs, knock knees, pigeon greasts, and causes other deformities and illnesses.

"This prescriptios says 'Give the baby a sunbath every sunny day', but as a baby's skin is tender, you have to be very careful not to give him an overdose of anything as powerful as sunlight.

"So it goes on to say 'Begin with very small doses'. And the directions are to put the baby in his carriage or in his kiddy coop, screened from the flies and mosquitoes, on the porch or out of dodrs where he will be protected from the wind.

"Then it says, 'Always screen the baby's eyes from the direct sunlight.' Uncover the baby's hands and arms and let the sun shien on them for five minutes. Then another five minutes on the feet and legs. Covering the legs, let it shine on the chest; just for five minutes, mind you; and then on the back. Try this twice a day for a week. You can tell whether the sun is soaking in and helping the baby by the gradual tanning of the skin. Aften the skin begins to be tanned the baby can have an all over sun bath of twenty to thirty minutes once or twice a day without getting sunburned."

The Health Gnome consulted the slip he had taken out of his little green cap and that was marked with the Rx that decorates every orthodox prescription." It also says, "he continued" that at this time of the year the sunbaths should be given between eight and eleven in the morning; and if a second bath is given after three in the afternoon. Especial care should be taken to keep the baby in the shade between eleven and three when the sun is highest and hotest.

"The sun baths will not only help the bones to grow straight and strong but they help the skin and muscles to get firmer and more resistant to disease. Grown-ups are supposed to have a lot of common sense, so of course they will understand that they have to shorted the time when it is intensely hot, or is suddenly very cool.

"You just ought to see how much good the sunbaths do to older kiddies, he went on. "But they have to be gotten used to them gradually, too. And bf the waf, little bathing trunks are as good for sunbaths as for sea baths. Best of all, the little nids can keep them on for the greater part of the day, only—and he shook his forefinger very impressively—"their eyes and the tops of their heads must be protected from the direct sunlight. You can get mighty cute sun hats in all of the stores.

"That's all today, thank you."—anh he was gone again.

WATCH FOR THE CROSSINGS

Flagmen or gatemen are on duty at certain crossings during such hours as conditions warrant.

Their duties are few but important. As a rule they are staunch, reliable, and faithful employees, deserving your respect. When they bid you to stop it is for your safety.

They are not targets for attack by car or tongue, as some drivers seem to think. Give them a square deal.

Even though a crossing is supposed to be protected by gates, flagmen, or oher menas, do not lessen your own vigilance at such a crossing.

ROCK HALL CARNIVAL

At a recent meeting of the Rock Hall Progressive Association plans for the Carnival which will be held on the high school campus of Rock Hall, from August 21 to August 28 inclusive, were formulated. Davis, Charles Judefind and Melvin Warner while the Association will have as its representatives G. E. Leary, W. A. P. Strang and Herbert C. Urie. The Carnival will be the most elaborate affair ever held in Rock Hall and will draw the attention of the county to the rapidly growing town.

During the week of July 5th the Boys' Club of Emmanuel Church had a camp outing at Newnam's Wharf. The boys rose every morning at 5 a. m., marched out on the wharf to raise and salute the Flag; had setting up exercises; took a plunge; got breakfast; washed their dishes; made their beds; cleaned up camp; and then went swimming, boating or "Exploring."

In the afternoon a similar program was followed, with the addition of digging in the sand, draining swamps, and fishing. Messrs George H. Jarrell, Billy Atwater and John Shure caught several large fish of 2 inches long and under. Mr. Rickman took the boys and their baggage to and from the wharf. The following members of the Club attended: William P. Atwater, Charles C. Atwater, Ivan Culver, Billy Derringer, George H. Jarrell, George Peacock, Robert Wright, Don Falls, John Bibbs, Calvin Woolford and John Shure.

RAIN MARS BIG SHOOT

Rain marred the big shoot at Betterton last week, but it was finally concluded on Friday.

N. A. Wright, of Wilmington, won the Betterton championship, the feature of the annual registered tournament of the Betterton Gun Club after having been postponed because of rain.

Mr. Wright broke 99 out of a possible 100 targets and was presented a silver set. A large crowd of spectators from Kent county, Wilmington, Philadelphia and Baltimore witnessed the shoot.

Unusually good scores were made in the championship shoot, three contestants broke 98 out of a hundred while three more broke 97.

In the Betterton handicap S. Evans and J. Hill were high guns and in the shoot off, Hill won with 20 out of 20; while Evans broke 18 out of 20.

The last day's doubles was won by Yonder, with E. Eshman and Walker second. There were 62 shooters in the last dey's events.

SUMMER CARE OF CATTLE

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS THAT WILL HELP KENT DAIRYMEN

It is the most comfortable cow that produces the most milk in summer, states the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics. Instead of turning his cows into the field to swat flies and loaf in the shade, the dairyman will find that he can get more milk from them by feeding them on grain in the cool of the barn during the heat of the day and then turning them out at night to graze.

Following are some hints to the dairyman on the summer care of his cattle, as given by the Institute:

1. Cows need lots of water. Keep it always available in a quantity they want.
2. Provide shade during hot weather, preferably in your stable in the heat of the day.
3. Let your cows graze at night when it is cool, but be sure that they can get water.
4. Screen your stables if you can, to keep out flies.
5. Spray your cows in summer with a good fly preventative.
6. Be sure they are free from lice and other vermin.
7. Remember, a cow must be comfortable and well if she is to produce milk up to her capacity. Such care requires a little effort but it pays big dividends.

DEATHS

Death has claimed Mr. William S. McDonnell, one of Chestertown's most worthy and best known citizens, after an illness of several weeks. Two weeks ago he was taken to Elkton hospital, but it was there found he could not be cured. The deceased was about 74 years of age. He came to Chestertown from Wilmington, Del. when a young man, and worked as a carriage trimmer with the late George E. Lambert. For the past forty years, or more, he has been engaged in the merchantile business. He was an active member and officer of Chester Lodge A. F. & A. M. and was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Mrs. Josephine Robinson, nee Ireland, widow of the late Henry Robinson, died at South Baltimore hospital and home on Sunday, July 18th, aged about 80 years. The deceased lived for many years in Piney Neck and has numerous relatives in that section. The remains were brought to Kent county and interment made in Wesley cemetery. Rev. C. L. Dawson, of that church, officiated. Thomas H. Casey, undertaker.

Parrott, who for many years were among the most prominent families of that section of the County. He was unmarried and leaves a mother and two sisters. Funeral services were held from his home on Wednesday afternoon, with interment in the Friends cemetery, near Lynch. Dr. S. S. Hepbron and Rev. Mr. White, of St. Paul's church officiated. The bearers were Messrs Tilden Cooper, Thomas Bradley, William J. Hepbron, R. A. Bowers, J. W. Robinson and Dr. Harry G. Simpers. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

CHESTERTOWN ON LONG ISLAND

Mr. Dupont who has purchased paneling and other ornamental woodwork from a number of the old homes in Kent county, has erected on Long Island a show place which he will call "Chestertown." In addition to the many valuable ornamental pieces which Mr. Dupont has already procured, he has employed an expert photographer to come to this county and take pictures of some of the historical old homes which will be placed in the various rooms in the Long Island Chestertown building just as they appeared in the original Kent county homes—in fact we understand they will be an exact reproduction. When completed, the building will be known as the "Long Island Chestertown" show place.

LUNAR POLITICS

One evening when I saw the moon,
A-shining down on me,
I said to her; "Please tell me soon
Whice way your vote will be.

The Campaign's on and waxing hot;
We need now every vote;
And we must know, if so or not,
You're sailing in our boat."

The Lady Moon, as is her right,
Could not make up her mind.
She said; "Just watch on Swithin's night
Which way will blow the wind."

But though the ring around her hat
Is dry, I plainly see,
By every sign and action that
She's wet, as wet can be.

MARYLAND CROP REPORT

COMPILED BY JOHN S. DENNEE CROP ESTIMATOR FOR MARYLAND

The low condition reported for Maryland corn on July 1 indicate a very short crop this year. Farmers say the stalks are for the most part small and irregular in size, but the color is good. Corn got a very late start. Cut worms are doing considerable damage. According to the crop estimator condition is 10 points below the ten-year average of condition on July 1. A production of 19,849,000 bushels seems likely. Production last year was 25,560,000; and 23,655,000 bushels is the average of harvests for the five-year period 1921-1925.

The sweet potato yield for Maryland this year is forecast at 1,444,000 bushels on basis of July 1 reported condition. Production last season was 1,290,000 bushels, and the average of harvests during the past five years is 1,202,000 bushels. The area planted to sweets has been enlarged about 2,000 acres this seaon. Just now conditios is about 5 points below average. Weather has been too dry and too cool for the crop.

Grapes promise a big yield in Maryland this year unless something happens. The statistician expects a production of not less than 1,140 tons based on reported condition July 1 by the farmers. The prospect on that date was 10 points above the 10 year average of condition. Last year production was 781 tons.. During the preceding five years the average of harvests has been only 733 tons.

Maryland apples, peaches and pears each showed a condition on July 1 about 45 per cent higher than the average conditios reported on that date during the last ten years. On the whole the prospect may be described as uniformly good. Apples, he says, are forecast at 2,840,000 bushels against 1,870,000 last year, and 1,541,000, the average of the preceding five years. Peaches promise a productios of 560,000 bushels compared with 240,000 last year. Pears 387,000 bushels this year against 280,000 in 1925 season.

KENT COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Enthusiasm was the keynote Thursday night in a meeting held at Rock Hall for the purpose of establishing the Kent County Chamber of Commerce. The organizing committee, after poor meetings in Chestertown, Galena and Millington, had begun to become disheartened, but the Rock Hall gathering returned to the committee all their former enthusiasm, and more. The interest displayed by the lower Kent township assures Kent of a county-wide chamber.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Rock Hall Progressive Association, the wide-awake civic organization of that town.

F. W. Maaloe, Director of Extension for the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association was the principle speaker of the occasion.

Ellsworth Leary was named chairman of a member-selecting committee with the following members: Frank Puppe, Capt. Charles R. Kerr, Herbert Urie, Snowden Maslin, Ed. Smith and George Coleman.

The meeting for the third District was held last night at the Hotel Rigbie, Betterton.

The fourth District committee for canvasing of membership to the Kent County Chamber of Commerce are requested to report to Chairman Thos. W. Perkins by Tuesday, July 27.

—The Chestertown Rotary Club held its regular weekly meeting at the Voshell House Monday evening. The meeting next week will be held Monday evening at Mapelhurst at which time George Balke., former district president, will be present, also a number of visiting Rotarians from other clubs on the Shore.

(COMMUNICATED)

The inclement weather of last week had no terror for the fifty or more guests spending their vacation at "Owens Cottage" Betterton, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens, ever mindful of the comfort and pleasure of their guests, have added to their already commodious cottage, a delightful salarium or sun parlor, where, rain or shine, the guests may enjoy a pleasant time socially in various games, dancing and singing, etc. It is said we enjoy no real good thing in this world without some sacrifice, such was the case when Mr. Owens had to sacrifice a very old locust tree to make room for this addition, said tree having stood on the Owens estate, beforeMr. Owens was born. Stopping over among the guests the past week were an itinerant ensemble of an orchestra now engaged for the remainder of the season at one of the hotels at Atlantic City. These musicians endeared themselves to the hearts of every guest at "Owens Cottage" by their sweet music, and it was with regret to all, when they left Saturday to join the other members of the orchestra at Atlantic City.
