LOCAL MATTER

—The local market is being flooded with cantaloupes, peaches and watermelons.

—The Rock Hall Carnival will continue until and including Wednesday, September 1.

—With the exception of one day, Kent County had eleven days of rainfall recently.

—Mr. J. C. Hopkins has moved from Mr. Mark Perkins house on Queen street, to Delaware.

—The Kent County Farm Bureau started its drive for membership on Thursday and will continue one week.

—Because the draw on Chester River Bridge was out of order, traffic was interrupted for a considerable time on Monday last.

—An attempt at hold-up occurred on the Chestertown-Elkton highway last Monday night, when Mr. Claude Parks and a party of friends were ordered to stop by occupants of another machine. Mr. Parks failed to obey the command.

—Mr. J. Raymond Lusby, has rented the Eliason farm in Broad Neck, now tenanted by Capt. H. W. Hadaway, who will move to his farm near Fairlee. Capt. H. W. Fletcher, will occupy J. Gale Usilton's Cacaway farm, ow being tenanted by Mr. Lusby.

—Historic Old St. Peter's Catholic Church, near Queenstown, one of the most venerable of all Queen Annes county's numerous religious edifices, is to be restored to all its former beauty through the activity and financial aid of the pastor, Rev. Charles P. McGoldrick, and his flock of loyal parishoners.

—The Delta Beta Delta Society of State Normal School, Towson, are camping at Rolphs wharf. Among those present are Misses. Doris Brookhart, Katherine Norris, Elizabeth Arnold, Isabelle Boone, Hannah Peacock, Mary Kingdon, Hilda Swan, Ethel Coleman, Marguerite Seippe, Gertrude Willson. Mrs. Eva Sykes, of Millington is chaperoning the party.

—The following Kent women were appointed by the County Commissioners to represent the county at Maryland Day at the Sesque-Centennial yesterday: Mrs. William G. Smith, regent of Old Kent Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. William T. Brown, Miss Lillian Brown, Mrs. Carolyn Stevens, Mrs. Thomas C. Cruikshank, Mrs. Walter T. Morris, Miss Emma Knight and Miss Mary Nicholson.

—Yellow-leg plovers are now being killed in Kent. Prior to 1926 th United States Department of Agriculture permitted the hunting of black-bellied and golden plover, however, same have been eliminated from the list and at present a closed season is provided. Therefor it is unlawful to hunt, shoot or kill any species of shore birds except the greater and lesser yellow-legs. The bag limit provides for 15 in the aggregate of both kinds per day.

DEATHS

Robert Holdson, one of Kent's prominent retired farmers' died Saturday at his home near Hanesville, four miles from here, from infirmities. Mr. Holdson, who was 83, had lived in this section practically all his life.

He is survived by his widow and 6 children as follows: Walter, Thomas, Romie, Herman and Frank Holdson and Miss Susie Holdson. Funeral service was held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home, Rev. Randall officiating, with burial in Union Cemetery, Worton. The pall bearers were Thomas, Frank, Walter, Herman and Romie Holdson nd Walter Taylor. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

REGISTRATION DAY SEPTEMBER 7.

Tuesday, September 7, will be the only registration day before the primaries on Tuesday, September 14. Registrars will sit at the various registration booths throughout the county on this date. It is expected that seeral hundred new voters will enrol to participate in the primary and general election, and the indications are that numerous women who have before availed themselves of their priviledge to register and vote will also comply with the election laws so that they may be fully enfranchised.
