Dear Congressman Goldsborough:

Permit us to acknowledge receipt of yours of March 16th in reply to ours of March 15th with reference to the importation of Italian Canned Tomatoes into this Country.

We were aware that you had been working with the Tri-State Canners Association, the National Canners Association and various other farm organizations on this matter. We have already communicated with Mr. Fooks of Preston, Maryland and with the National Canners Association.

We appreciate your efforts in this matter and feel that you will continue to do everything within your power, as you have in the past, to protect the farmer's interest.

Yours very truly,

Congressman T. Allen Goldsborough
Denton, Maryland

Dear Mr. Goldsborough:

The Tri-State canners are particulary impressed with your efforts in helping our committee in the matter of securing an increase in the rate of tariff on canned tomatoes.

At a meeting of our Association held in Easton on Friday, August 6th a formal resolution expressing this feeling was passed unanimously. I am pleased to enclose you herewith copy of same.

Very sincerely yours,
C. M. Haskell
Secretary.

Whereas the Tri-State Packers Association through its officers and committees in its endeavors to secure an increase in the tariff on the importation of canned tomatoes has been in touch with various members of congress, all of whom have given us valuable aid and assistance, and whereas, Congressman A. M. Free of the 5th District of California and Congressman T. Allen Goldsborough of the 1st District of Maryland have been particularly active in furnishing us valuable information and statistics, and by their untiring efforts securing for us valuable aid in presenting our case to the proper authorities;

Therefore be it resolved that the thanks of this association be extended to Congressman Free and to Congressman Goldsborough for their efforts in our behalf.

MOTORISTS SHOULD BE CAREFUL

ACCIDENTS DUE TO NERVOUSNESS AND CARELESSNESS

It may be due to nervousness but an ailment prevalent among motorists, the urge to overtake the car ahead and to run around any line of slow-moving or stalled cars, is the cause of a great deal of annoyance, grief and regret. In Texas a driver was in such a hurry to pass a line of stalled cars on a bridge that he did not take the precaution to not that the cars had stopped when a bridge span was opened. The impatient driver lost his life. Had he lived he might have learned an important lesson in driving. Davy Crockett's advice is still good, and it aplies particularly to driving a car. None but those who are sure they are right, can go ahead without risking life, limb and property.

Aside from the important factor of safety, is to be considered another factor, more or less important, according to the individual's point of view. This is the factor in driving known as good manners. Traffic would be in a tangle constantly if all drivers were bad-mannered and unwilling to keep their place in line. The hasty, the thoughtless, the selfish, make trouble every day and everywhere. Men on foot pay more attention to the rules of predence in line. Business would be in a bad plight if bad manners prevailed among patrons of banks. Service at cafeterias would become impossible if no attention were paid to the rights of the people in the line first. But seemingly there is a distinction between walking and riding in their relationship to ordinary courtesy.

It is safe to assume that most of the hurry and worry in driving could be avoided without loss of time. Very few persons are under any real pressure to push ahead of a line of cars. Accidents are deplorable, but they have on value—they serve to suggest caution.

ARE THEY READY

If your small son or daughter is going to enter school this fall, don't wait until Mary comes home from school with a headache or Johnny has a toothache to find out that one of them has eyes that need attention, or unhealthy tonsils, and the other has decaye teeth. Take them to your doctor, have them looked over just as you would have your automobile inspected if you were going to start on a long trip and follow your doctor's advice as to whatever attention is needed. Take them to the dentist, or if necessary to the throat or eye specialist. As there are only a few days remaining before the schools open, you'd better take them today, is the advice of Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the State Bureau of Child Hygiene.
