MAY HAVE RIGHT OF WAY

TRAVELLERS OVER STATE HIGHWAYS FAVORED OVER SECONDARY ROADS

John N. Mackall, chairman of the State Roads Commission, has announced that he favors giving vehicles on State highways the right of way over traffic on county and secondary roads and that he would seek to have such a change made in the State motor-vehicle laws by the next Legislature.

The change would be advantageous in speeding up traffic on the good roads and reducing the number of accidents caused by automobiles darting from obscure roadways into the path of fast approaching machines on the State roads, Mr. Mackall declared.

Under tentative plans the State roads would be transformed into boulevards except at certain points yet to be determined. Should the plan be enacted into law by the Legislature, Baltimore city would not be affected by the right of way change unless city officials wished to follow his action, Mr. Mackall pointed out.

The move to change the State roads into boulevards was started by Mr. Mackall when the need became apparent, he asserted. To obtain cooperation, a conference with E. Austin Baughman, State Commissioner of Mortor Vehicles, and officials of the Automobile Club of Maryland and the Automobile Trade Association was called recently.

Mr. Baughman is understood to favor the plan and will back Mr. Mackall in having a law passed, it was said.

Allen McLane, president, and Henry M. Lucius, secretary of the Automobile Club of Maryland, and A. H. Bishopand and J. E. Raine, president and secretary, respectively, of the Automobile Trade Association, attended the conference on the invitation of Mr. Mackall.

The Automobile Club, representing approximately 8,000 automobile operators, and the Trade Association, representing the dealers, cannot declare themselves in favor or disfavor of the plan until a meeting is held to ascertain the opinions of members, Mr. Lucius said yesterday. It is not expected that either of the clubs will oppose the plan, however.

With the backing of the two representative automobile associations and Mr. Baughman, Mr. Mackall said that little trouble should be encountered in effecting the change in vehicular laws.
