A word to the WIVES—

P. A. says "MERRY CHRISTMAS" in capital letters

"NO MORE WORRYIN'," as the song says, about what to give the man who smokes a pipe. Here is the National Joy Smoke, Prince Albert, all fussed up in holiday attire. A gift to gladden his heart on the Big Day; a generous supply to keep him happy.

Peeping out of the special Christmas carton is the pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top. A container to grace any smoking-stand or office-desk. As practical as it is good-looking. Best of all, it contains Prince Albert—mild, mellow, and fragrant!

In addition to the glass humidor, there are pound and half-pound tins of this same wonderful tobacco. It's the tobacco, after all, that counts. Experienced smokers know that no other tobacco is like P. A. for sheer pipe-enjoyment, day in and day out.

Take out your Christmas list now. Alongside the name of every pipe-smoker write "Prince Albert." This is the happy solution of the annual problem so far as the men-folks are concerned. It will save your time and give others the time of their lives.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

BASKET BALL SEASON BEGINS

WASHINGTON CRUSHES PHILADELPHIA AGGREGATION IN ONE SIDED CONTEST—OTHER SPORTS NOTES OF INTEREST

Washington College's 1926-1927 basketball aggregation began its season on Saturday night, on the local floor, before an crushing victory over the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy. The score was 37-21. Washington could have probably scored twice the points recorded, but Coach Kibler tried out his second and third string men a large part of the game.

Washington began the game with the following line-up: Leit, center; Carroll and Giriatis, forwards; Cavanaugh and Dumschott, guards. Washington, with Carroll and Giriatis, as the scoring aces, jumped into the lead at the start, and, before the game had progressed but a few minutes, it was easily seen that the visitors were no match for the fast, first team of Washington. The forwards and center were having no trouble in reaching the visitors' basket, and their shooting for the basket was as accurate as their ability to read the basket easily accomplished. By the end of the first half Washington was in the lead so far that there was little, if any chance of the visitors even tying the score.

The second half soon found Washington increasing their lead to such an extent that Coach Kibler sent in his second and third teams against the visitors.

Giriatis and Carroll scored the most points against the Philadelphia team.

This game being the first opportunity of local fans to get a live on the new team, they were quick to form their opinion that the team which started the game against the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy is decidedly one of the fastest aggregations ever seen on the local floor.

It was freely predicted prior to the game that Garitis, the player from Hartford, Conn., picked up by Capt. Jack Carroll, would be able to fill the gap made by the departure of Capt. Michael Fiore, one of the best players ever turned out by the college, and those who saw Garitis play on Saturday evening are convinced that the team has lost nothing by the departure of Fiore, as good as he was, Garitis is fast, knows all the fine points of the game and is a sure shot for the basket. With Carroll and Dumschott, two original "Flying Pentagon" members, ready, the combination is believed to be the fastest ever to don maroon and black uniforms.

Coach Kibler expresses himself as well pleased with his team. He was good men for all positions and plenty of reserve strength.

It may be interesting to note that in 1913 Coach Kibler took charge of the Washington College basketball team. In 1912, a year before, the team won one game and lost 12. During the past 13 years Washington has lost but few more games than during that one year.

—Mr. James M. Hepbron, formerly of Worton and well-known in Kent County, who is now managing director of the Baltimore Criminal Justice Commission, will address the Philadelphia meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science on December 28. His subject will be, "Local Crime Commissions, their Origin, Purpose and Accomplishments."

—Muskrat trappers are preparing for the opening of the season on January 1. Much activity is found in the Counties of Maryland along the Chesapeake Bay where this industry has become very extensive and remunerative.
