What Is a Diuretic?

People Are Learning the Value of Occasional Use.

EVERYONE knows that a laxative stimulates the bowels. A diuretic performs a similar function to the kidneys. Under the strain of our modern life, our organs are apt to become sluggish and require assistance. More and more people are learning to use Doan's Pills, occasionally, to insure good elimination which is so essential to good health. More than 50,000 grateful users have given Doan's signed recommendations. Scarcely a community but has its representation. Ask your neighbor!

MR. EDISON'S TRIBUTE

Thomas A. Edison pays this tribute to the telephone in a congratulatory communication received by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in recognition of its fiftieth anniversary:

"Found on science and great business sagacity, the march of the telephone has been steadily onward and upward to the stupendous success of the present day. The end is not yet. I heartily congratulate the company and its personnel on the celebration of its Golden Jubilee."

(Signed) Thomas A. Edison.

TELL ME NOT THE LISTED NUMBERS.

WHAT'S in a name often has a distinct bearing on furnishing telephone information. The information bureau is all that the name implies and is a very necessary part of the telephone service for every community. It is maintained to supply the telephone number of those subscribers who have been furnished service since the closing of the latest directory.

Another function of the information bureau is to assist telephone users in locating the numbers of those subscribers whom the calling party cannot locate in the directory.

This is very frequently due to the calling party not knowing the proper spelling of the name; for instance: Baer might be spelled Bair or Bare and Cain might very readily be Kane or Kain while Cohen might be Cohan, Coen or Kohen. If Johnson is asked for, the calling party might want Johnson, Johnsen, Johnston or Johnstone. Klein might be spelled Kline and Lea is frequently confused with Lee or Leigh. Read might be Reid or Reede. While Rhodes might be spelled Rhoades or Roads. Shepard is another name that is often confused with Sheppard or Shepherd and Smith might be just plain Smith or it might be Smithe, Smyth, Smythe, Smidt, Schmid, Schmidt or Schmitt.

Sometimes people are not sure of the initials of a name or do not know where a person lives although they may have the correct spelling of the name. This, of course, is a handicap to the information operator who cannot be supposed to furnish the telephone number unless she has some clue to work on.

In days gone by telephone users have asked the bureau for information on almost every subject under the sun, but today the telephone using public generally appreciate the fact that the information bureau is to furnish "information" relative to telephone numbers and very few requests are made for service other than this, it is said.

The public generally is very considerate and it is only occasionally that the operator is now asked for other than definite telephone information. When such questions do come in, the operator courteously informs the calling party that she is unable to supply the information wanted.

"Miss Information"

MORE EVIDENCE OF THE HORSELESS AGE

When the telephone was first introduced in the city of Hartford, Conn., only one bank became a subscriber. On the other hand, there were fourteen livery stables, whereas today there are but six listed.

In all other respects there has been a great growth. In 1878 only two lawyers had telephones. Now 192 are listed. Fourteen physicians and seventeen druggists had telephones as compared with 287 physicians and 132 druggists today, while the number of grocers and markets has grown from 41 to 584.

The telephone lineman whose special duty it is to keep the branches of trees from injuring the wires or cables carries a booklet carefully prepared under the guidance of forestry experts, showing him how to trim trees so that his work will be a benefit, rather than an injury, to them.

Fell for Three Stories

"Now it's jist like I was a-tellin' ye," said a grizzled old Irishman to a group of workmen. "Oncet when my gang was helpin' put up a skyscraper, I fell fer three stories an' it didn't hurt me nary a bit."

Here the stranger who had paused to listen remonstrated.

"But how could a person fall for three stories and not be hurt?" he sternly inquired.

"Well," replied the veteran, a twinkle creeping into his eye, "you've already fallen for one, an' I guess fallin' fer two more won't hurt ye."—Everybody's Magazine.

WAR HEROES POPULAR

MANY HAVE GONE TO PRESIDENCY BECAUSE THEY HAVE SERVED NATION ON FIELD OF WAR

While the people of the United States have consistently followed the pleasant paths of commerce and peace rather than the stern highway of military policy, yet they have not failed in appreciation of military prowess. This has been shown in their bestowal upon men who have been their war heroes the highest gift in the people power to bestow—the Presidency of the republic. Washington, the heroic figure of the American Revolution, was the first President chosen by the nation, in 1789. Andrew Jackson, who, in the concluding hours of hostilities of the War of 1812-1814, was the hero of the successful Battle of New Orleans, was elected President in 1829. William H. Harrison, who was aide de camp on the staff of General Anthony Wayne during Indian Wars, became President of the United States, in 1841, but lived only one month to enjoy his Executive honors. Zachary Taylor was made President in 1849, after distinguished service in the Mexican War. Ulysses S. Grant was chosen for the office of President in 1869, after having brought the Civil War to a close. Theodore Roosevelt was the people's choice for Executive honors after his patriotic and picturesque service in the Spanish-American War. And after America's successful participation in the World War there were many who seriously considered the nomination of Gen. John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Forces, for the office of President of the United States.

HARD TO CHOOSE

Once there was a woman who had three suitors. She didn't know which one to marry. One was a grocer, one a doctor, and one a preacher.

If she married the grocer, she could get her groceries for nothing.

If she married the doctor, she could be well for nothing.

If she married the preacher, she could be good for nothing.

MULTIPLICATION

Teacher: "William, how many bones have you in your body?"

William: "Four hundred thousand."

"That's a great many more than I have."

"But, teacher, I had sardines for lunch."

PLUS AN AMAZING REDUCTION IN PRICES

America has always expected great things from its greatest industry But the announcement of the Most Beautiful Chevrolet has been the automotive sensation of all time!

Here is a car which in beauty, luxury, quality and modern design challenges the costilest creations of the day.

Here, in a price class where average standards have been the rule, is now offered a car so far beyond all expectation that comparisons cease to exist.

Seven superb models styled as low priced cars were never styled before and offering such marks of fine car distinction as: full crown one-piece fenders, bullet type lamps and "fish tail" rear deck modeling. New and supremely beautiful bodies by Fisher! And, above all, infinitely finer quality—the result of a host of additional improvements such as AC oil filter, AC air cleaner, coincidental steering and ignition lock, larger 17" steering wheel, gasoline guage and many, many others!

All this is combined to a supreme degree in the long famous leader of the Chevrolet line—the Coach. It would be a brilliant achievement for any manufacturer merely to design such a splendid car to sell at ANY reasonably low price. But to sell it at the amazing price of $595 is a feat of history making proportions. This one-price reduction alone would suffice to center world-wide attention on Chevrolet. But due to economies of tremendous production plus the vast resources of General Motors, Chevrolet also announces striking price reductions on other models.

For years Chevrolet has led the world in providing Quality at Low Cost. But now with a new and more beautiful car—with a car infinitely finer in quality and greatly lower in price, Chevrolet stands supreme and unchallenged in dollar-for-dollar value!

No matter in what price class you intend to buy or whether you plan to spend more or less than the price of a Chevrolet, come in today and see the most beautiful low priced Coach ever designed. Admire its marvelous style and grace! Mark its many new fine-car features! Learn for yourself by personal inspection why, at its new low price, it is the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry!
