"NIGHT OF LOVE"

"The Night of Love," George Fitzmaurice's delineation of feudal life which comes to the Lyceum theatre on Thursday and Friday, Jan. 19th and 20th, is in reality a tribute to old Spain and to days that are gone.

Staged among scenery exactly duplicating certain localities of Spain, and with sets designed from authentic Spanish edifices of four hundred years ago, the picture may be called faitful in every detail.

"The Night of Love," which features Ronald Coleman and Vilma Banky, is real romance in an historical setting, and throughout the picture it is the ebb and flow of tense and throbbing love which the spectator follows with suspense-filled interest.

Feudal Spain is there, before your eyes, with its courtly grandees, beautiful women, adventurous vagabonds and soldiers, each character drawn and etched by the master hand of Fitzmaurice.

The love story is the Paramount theme of the picture and romantic love surely has never been better portrayd—nor has the hot blood of Spain ever pulsed more passionately than in many of the scenes between Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky.

Miss Banky as the beautiful Princess Marie is intensely alluring yet only subtly voluptuous. Colman is the perfect lover, strong, manly, and fired by a genius for love-making.

Kidnapping Miss Banky on her wedding night, Colman finds himself hating and fearing and at last loving the woman he has sworn to destroy.

From her attitude of proud distrust in the early part of the picture Miss Banky slowly changes her characterization until at last she becomes a willing victim of the urge that has crept into her heart to conquer her.

Through the whole story runs the thread of beauty and romance, picturseque settings, colorful scenes, brave men and fair women—which will make "The Night of Love" a picture to be remembered.

DEVELOPMENTS TO START IN SPRING

According to the calender we are in the midst of winter but the spring-like weather of this week turns ones thoughts to the huge developments that are scheduled to start in the spring.

Work will shortly startly on the construction of the slag road to the Chesapeake Bay Land Company's development on the Stokes—Kelly farms. The Betterton Ice and Electric Company are making arrangements for running a power line from Betterton to the development.

The Chester River Yacht and Country Club are making arrangements for finishing the construction of their golf course and building a pier and club house.

Other developments scheduled to start in the spring are the Royal Swan Club at the mouth of the Sassafras river; the Skipper farm development near Chestertown and the building of a handsome club house and moorings on Cooper property at Buck Neck Wharf, by the Essington Yacht Club.

While the time for starting the construction of the Chesapeake Bay bridge is very indefinate, yet if the work could be started in 1928 it would certainly add to Kent count's development program for the year.

Detectives from the State Fire Marshal's office were in Kent County on Thursday of this week investigating the attempt which was made to burn the boat at Rock Hall several weeks ago.

TRANSCRIPT'S MUSINGS

Here's a well spent day:—

Take a dash of water cold
And a little leaven of prayer,
A little bit of sunshine gold
Dissolved in the morning air.

Add to your meal some merriment
And a thought for kith and kin;
And then as a prime ingredient
A plenty of work thrown in:

But spice it all with the essence of love
And a little whiff of play:
Let a wise old book and a glance above
Complete a well spent day.

Scientists think we will soon run our cars with motor oil made of vegetable waste. Will it come to this.

"George! How many times has mother told you not to eat your crusts! . . . Take them right out to Daddy in the garage and help him fill the gas tank . . . Jean, dear, run out to the garden and pick about a gallon of old cabbage; we have a long trip ahead of us.

"Mrs. Tourish, what will your car do on a bushel of old spinach? . . . Really! Why, that's much better mileage than we get!"

For Traffic Violation

Omaha Bee: Referring to traffic ordinances, why wouldn't it be a good idea to let violators go free and imprison their autos for periods ranging from 30 days to 12 months. On second offense sell the autos and turn the money into the school fund. A dollar and costs affects the average traffic law violator about as much as a bird's chirp affects the forests.

Sad Plight

Mrs. Flanagan—Was your old man in comfortable circumstances when he died?

Mrs. Murphy—No, he was half-way under a train.

Owing to the reflection of the sun on fine particles of snow in the air, a rainbow may sometimes be seen all day long in a cloudless sky in Siberia.

President Wilson in his lighter moments enjoyed a good joke, he never hesitated to make fun of his own personal appearance. The following was one of his favorite limericks,—

As for beauty I'm no star,
There's others more handsome by far,
But my face I don't mind it
Because I'm behind it,
It's the people in front that I jar.

Old man Grouch says: Isn't it queer that ice always freezes with its slippery side up

Found in Bulan items:

On Saturday night a New Year's dance was held at the Jones Restaurant and the old year was danced out and the new year brought in the same manner.

The deputy sheriffs present to help preserve order had nothing to do, so they contributed some musical selections during the evening, one of which was enjoyed.

Those who look up and not down are charmed with the skies this month. At dawn, when morning is painting the eastern skies, the moon is shedding down her silver light in the west and all day long the sun is shining. Last Sunday morning a rainbow was seen in the sky, by a veritable maker of rainbows,

"My heart leaps up when I behold,
A rainbow in the sky."

TO LINDBERGH

May Lady Luck her vigil keep
As through the skies you pass,
And may you learn to get some sleep
While public speakers "gas."

May you stand oratory trite,
Oh, greatest of all airmen,
And keep your spirits up despite
Those toasts of banquet chairman.

So leap year is here again. Now the Chestertown "bach" will have no chance at all. And yet it rids him of much cogitation for while he is debating on which is the right one, his fate can propose and save him the trouble. It is fortunate that leap years come once in a while.

Chestertown M. E. Church

W. F. Corkran, pastor. The evangelistic Campaign is progressing splendidly. Both the 2.30 p. m. and the evening meetings are growing in attendance and interest every day. St. Paul's Motto, "I press toward the mark for the prize of my high calling in Christ Jesus," put into practice by the church will bring abundant success. Any failure will lie at the door of those who do not come up to the help of the Lord." The deepening of the spiritul life of believers and the salvation of sinners is certainly the work of the Lord. One of the many gratifying features of the campaign is the spirit in which the choir has come up to the leadership of the music. This is best the pastor has ever had and it is help indeed. The campaign will continue all next week. The services to-morrow will all be of an Evangelistic character. The Sunday School was the largest last Sunday that it has been for a long time. The 4th quarterly conference was held January 6th. The reports showed the church to be in a prosperous condition.

The quarterly conference approved of the election of the Hon. W. B. Copper as the representative of the church in the lay electoral conference to be held in Wilmington, Del., late in March, Mr. Copper had been elected to that honor at a membership meeting on Wednesday evening, January 4th J. S. Kreeger is the alternate delegate. The quarterly conference by a unanimous rising vote elected Earle Willis to the Order of a local preacher in the church Earle intends to enter the regular ministry when he has completed his college and seminary cources. The pastor was invited by the third quarterly conference to continue his pastorate in the church next conference year.

All the machinery of the church is in good working order and peace and harmony prevails throughout her borders. When she shall have attained the full measure of spiritual life and power she will do her full part in the worlds salvation.

PENINSULA NEWS

At a meeting of the Town Commissioners held last Friday evening in the Municipal Building, present Mr. Francis Dryden, of Salisbury Consultant Engineer for the Board, it was decided, to purchase certain equipment for the installation of the new water supply system of Federalsburg.

Carol K. Eder, a prominent business man of Elkton, was installed on Wednesday evening, as commander of Cecil Post, No. 15, American Legion of Cecil county.

Rev. Richard T. Westren, formerly of Elkton's marrying parson, whose fine of $500, imposed at the September term, had been reduced to $300, upon his plea of inability to pay the full amount, provided he paid $100 installment on Tuesday, failed to appear. The Court directed the Sheriff to take him in charge. Mr. Clayton, his counsel, told the Court that he could not pay the $100. He had a sick child at the hospital here, his wife was with it and they had two other young children at home. He was told to appear in the morning, so that the Court might dispose of his case. After he left $76 was raised for him which with $26 previously contributed made a total of $102. Enough to meet his first payment.

"Knockout" Lister, heavyweight champion of the Eastern Shore, who was scheduled to defend his title in Centreville Arena Sat. against Joe Proctor, amateur heavy-weight champion, of Washington, D. C., will be out of the fight game at least for several weeks, due to injuries received Wednesday night in an explosion of alcohol.

He attempted to look down into an automobile radiator with the aid of a lighted match, when the alchol ignited and seriously burned him about the head and face. He narrowly missed losing one eye in the explosion.

Four members of the Duval family at Clayton, died within a week's time, all caused by pneumonia, and the fifth member is ill of the same disease in a Baltimore hospital.

About 10,000 rabbits and an undetermined number of bob-white partridge are to be released in Maryland woods by State Game Warden, announced this. Contracts are being drawn up by the conservation department, though final decision on the numbers to be bought had not been reached. The rabbits come from Missouri and Kansas where they are trapped by farmers and usually cost from 60 to 80 cents apiece, he said.

A small sized hurricane, which was very much localized and of brief duration, occured at Denton Saturday night about ten o'clock, when, arising suddenly, a violent wind smashed several window panes in the home of Mr. H. W. Davis, on the northern limit of town, hurling the glass and part of the sash against the porch of Mr. August Croll's home. It also twisted and broke some apple trees in this vicinity as tho they had been mere switches. An automobile belonging to Frank Williamson, parked on Main Street was said to have had its top blown off. After accomplishing this much damage, the wild wind subsided as suddenly as it arose.

Two 18-year-old boys, Edward Tingle and Fulton Harrington wanted for robberies at Stockton, Girdletree, Newark, Ironshire and several other places in Worchester County, were sentenced last Friday in the Court of General Sessions to serve two years in prison for crimes committed in Wilmington.

The Centreville M. E. Church will be reopened tomorrow following extensive repair work. Approximately $15,000 has been spent in remodeling and beautifying the church.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

About 80 friends and neighbors gathered at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. August Money near Kennedyville on Saturday evening, January 7, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their wedding. A beautiful night, roads good, and such a host and hostess as we all knew them to be added charm to the occasion.

The hours from 5 to 9 proved too short for the pleasure derived from their company so we prolonged the affair to suit our selves. A very dainty salad supper with ice cream, cake, mints etc., was served during the evening. The "bride and groom" received many tokens of love and good will, consisting of money, silver, linens, etc., which only proved the esteem in which they were held. After wishing them to be present at their golden anniversary 25 years hense we all wended our way to uor different homes.

HEALTH

STORM SIGNA

Like the weather man w warning up and down the c storms may be expected, D Riley, Chief of the Bureau o municable Diseases of the Stat partment of Health, reminds moth throughout the State that during th winter months, when children are brought together in large groups in school or movies and elsewhere and when they play less frequently in the open air, measles, whooping cough, diphtheria and other diseases that often follow them, particularly bronchitis, and pneumonia, are likely to be prevalent. He accordingly urges Maryland mothers to safeguard their babies and young children, to whom such diseases are especially dangerous, from exposure to them.

"The old idea that children's d eases do not amount to much," Riley said, "and that it would time to let the baby stay in the and play around with Jack and B when the older ones come down w the measles or whooping cough with any of the other catching diseases, so that they may all have it together and 'have it over' has gone into the discard, since health departments have been keeping careful records of when and where and to whom such diseases occur.

"The records of the Maryland State Department of Health," he continued, "like those of other health departments throughout the world, show that these so-called children's diseases, and in fact, nearly all catching diseases, go especially hard with babies and the youngsters under school age. IT IS MOST IMPORTANT, THEREFORE, THAT BABIES AND YOUNG CHILDREN BE PROTECTED AGAINST THESE DISEASES UNTIL THE PERIOD OF GREATEST DANGER IS OVER.

"A glance over the reports o Departments will show why this advice is given. The records of measles, whooping cough, diphtheria and pneumonia all tell the same story of the greater danger of these diseases to very young children. For example, over half of the deaths from whooping cough that are recorded each year, occur among babies less than twelve months old and four fifths among children under three. Measles, too, takes its heaviest toll among children under three, and that is only a part of the damage done by this treacherous disease which often opens the way for a fatal pneumonia.

"When either of these diseases can be warded off until after the children are five, the danger is considerably le s But even though the danger may be less to older children, AT NO TIME SHOULD CHILDREN BE NEEDLESSLY EXPOSED TO ANY CATCHING DISEASE."

MORE SLAG ROADS

Mr. Gilbert Taylor, county road engineer, has just finished laying two carloads of slag on the road from Fairlee toward the old Bacchus Mill.

Work will probably start next week on laying 4 carloads of slag on the Quaker Neck road.

According to a statement made by Mr. Taylor this week, he is going to try to lay aside $6000 out of this years road appropriation for Kent county roads. This will buy 3000 tons of slag delivered, water rate, and will lay approximately 5 miles of 9 ft. road.

From October 1926 to date Kent county has purchased and laid 2680 tons of slag, representing four and one half miles.

The slag for the road from Bonwill's corner to the development of the Chesapeake Bay Land Co. has been ordered and work of laying the slag will start shortly.

OVER TOP FOR HOME

The ladies of Emmanuel Parish, Chestertown, held a series of chain card parties which have just been completed for the Children's Home in Easton. The Children's Home is nonsectarian but is largely supported by the Episcopal Diocese of Easton. In raising the money for Emmanuel Parish the ladies succeeded in going $1.00 over the top. They wish to express their appreciation to all those who helped make the affairs a success.
