BIGGER POULTRY PROFITS

WITH HIGH GRADE BROODERS

SOL-HOT NEWTOWN BUCKEYE

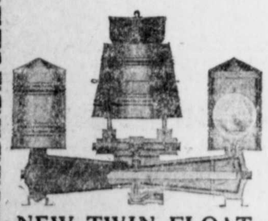

Poultry raisers in ever increasing numbers are being convinced of the folly of trusting the brooding of the chickens they have paid good money for, to anything but the best brooders. The SOL-HOT, NEWTOWN and BUCKEYE are leaders in the field of coal and oil burning brooders. This leadership has been gained by long and satisfactory service. Ask the users. The SOL-HOT is a new line with us this season and has the well earned reputation of being the 100 per cent. efficient oil burning brooder, and is equipped with the new twin float oil level.

We also carry a full line of poultry feeders, fountains, etc. Come in and see the largest and most complete display of brooders we have ever carried, or, if you cannot come in write for booklets.

Yours for larger poultry profits in 1928.

DEL-MAR-VA MEETING HERE JANUARY 24

At a meeting of those interested in the Del-Mar-Va Campaign which was held at Washington College, Monday evening, January 9th, it was decided to hold a county-wide meeting at the Chestertown Court House on Tuesday afternoon, January 24 at 1 p. m., Dr. Franklin Bomberger and Mr. Carl Monsees will be the speakers. Dr. Bomberger has long been the outstanding marketing man in the United States. He has been in the work for a quarter of a century and his position as head of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association's activities assures the Peninsula farming interests of the most expert advice and support.

Group meetings will be held in various sections of the county preparatory to the county-wide gathering on January 24th.

Mr. Carl Monsees addressed the Monday night meeting, Mr. M. deK. Smith, Jr., chairman for the County presided. All those present were enthusiastic concerning the proposed Del-Mar-Va program for the immediate future.

The reduction of the annual dues from $100.00 per annum to $25.00 has made it possible for many farmers who have been keenly interested, to join and help support the work as well as the merchants and bankers of the various towns.

Hard to Get Correct Figures on Longevity

Many and widespread are the disparities in the longevity of animals, birds and fishes. Scientists are unable to say why some species live many times as long as others. They have no explanation, for instance, of the fact that a tiger, a lion or a hippopotamus will die of old age long before an elephant has reached his prime.

An elephant might live to be two hundred years old. A tiger is old at twenty years, a lion at twenty-five years, a hippopotamus at forty years and a bear at fifty years. A swan can survive for one hundred years and an eider duck or a parrot for more than two hundred years. A tortoise might live to be three hundred years old.

Insects usually have short lives, but some ants have lived in captivity for fifteen years. Queen bees live from four to five years, but the bee workers succumb in six weeks. Carp and pike sometimes live to be one hundred and fifty years of age.

Diseases, adverse weather, lack of food and enemies affect nearly all forms of wild life, so that few animals die of old age, and the scientist experiences difficulty in assembling data as to the natural span of their lives.

Take Horrible Risk in Pursuit of Sport

Savages are as fond of sport as are civilized peoples, but many of their games appear to be unduly risky. One such game is "clam baiting," played on the Coral sea. The procedure is for a man to swim directly over a giant clam—which may weigh several hundred pounds—as it lies wide open on the bottom, waiting to entrap fish and other food, and drop a stone into it. This causes the clam to bring its tremendous serrated "lips" together with terrific speed, and the danger lies in the rush of water caused by this sudden movement sweeping the man into the creature's grip, from which there would be no getting away. There have been many narrow escapes and some cases in which the baiter was caught. But the natives think it great fun and talk delightedly of how they had made the clam "think he got something to eat when he only got a stone."—London Daily News.

Didn't Lose His Religion

On the first day of school recently, Junior, age five, proudly started off to kindergarten. Junior is usually a rather talkative little chap and his proud mother was a little surprised that he had so little to say when he returned on his first school day.

"Did everything go off all right, Junior?" she asked, hoping he would tell her of his experience.

"I got into just a little trouble," he answered. "I got into one of the grownups' rooms by mistake. Some one asked me if I was a primary, but I told them no, I was a Methodist."—Indianapolis News.

The Old Sugar Bowl

In the days when candy was a rare treat, children clamored for sugar on their bread. A slice of home-made bread, generously buttered, with a layer of sugar on top, would fill every longing for sweets.

The sugar bowl, to meet its occasions, was tall, with a roundness that suggested the girth of an alderman. Always filled, it occupied a place of honor on the table. Behold the sugar bowl of today—a thing no larger than a baby's fist. The candy shop has swept away the large old-fashioned container.

What a Question!

"Where are you going in such a hurry?" asked Mrs. Bibbles.

"Over to John Jagsby's house," said Mr. Bibbles. "He has just telephoned to ask if I could lend him a corkscrew, and I'm taking it myself."

"Couldn't you send it?"

"Mrs. Bibbles," said Mr. Bibbles in cutting tones, "the question you ask me shows why most women are unfit to lead armies and make quick decisions in business deals involving millions. When the psychological moment arrives they don't know what to do with it."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Hurt by Wrong Training

A man should be in his prime physically at thirty years old. If he is not, it is because of a lack of balance in his physical training, declares the bulletin of the Dayton department of health.

Overtraining may strain the heart and unbalance the nerves. Undertraining is responsible for weakness of muscles and lack of development of the lungs. Dissipation undermines his resistance. One or more of these factors must be present if a man begins to look and feel old in his early thirties.—Hygeia Magazine.

Cause of Poor Writing

Dr. William Root of the University of Pittsburgh says that as a general rule persons of low mentality are good hand writers. "Intelligent people," according to Doctor Root, "think 20 times faster than they can write and, therefore, the arm is so far behind the activity of the brain that the result is poor writing. A person low in mentality has nothing else to think about but the shaping of his letters. But it does not necessarily follow that if you are a poor penmen you are intelligent or vice versa."—Pathfinder Magazine.

DEATHS

J. Raymond Bowers died at his home in Worton, Wednesday, January 11th, aged 70 years.

He leaves a wife Mrs. Alice B. Bowers and the following children: Howard and Raymond Bowers, Mrs. Edward Greenwood, Lester Bowers, Mrs. Allan Urie, Vickers Bowers, Hildren Bowers, Mrs. L. H. Mast, of Baltimore, and Alice, Ray and Samuel Bowers at home. Mr. Bowers is also survived by three brothers, Rob. George and Ellsworth C. Bowers and two sisters, Miss Lavenia Bowers and Mrs. Linda Starcher, of Va.

Funeral services were held at the home Friday at 2 p. m., services private. Interment in Chester cemetery. Sons and son-in-law acted as bearers. Rev. Hanby officiating. C. L. Dodd, undertaker in charge of funeral arrangements.

John A. Russell, a former resident of Chestertown, died at his home in Chester, Pa., last Wednesday night, aged 53 years. Death came as the result of heart trouble following an attack of neuritis. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Mary B. Russell, who was before marriage Miss Mary Hoffecker, of Queen Annes County. He is survived also by one sister, Mrs. Wm. R. Maul; L. Bates Russell and Fred S. Russell, of Chestertown and Carl M. Russell, of Baltimore.

The deceased was born in Chestertown, being a son of the late James A. and Sarah Amanda Russell. He learned the trade of printer in the office of The Enterprise, and left here in 1904 and took a position with the Chester Times which he held at the time of the death, having been promoted to the head of the job department of that paper.

His remains were brought here by train on Monday and rested in Christ M. P. Church where funeral services were held, conducted by Rev. Dr. N. O. Gibson, assisted by the Rev. Edwin S. Fry, Pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Chester. Interment was in Chester cemetery, the pall bearers being his brothers, Fred S. and Carl M. Russell, Vernor M. Barnett and George H. Burke, of Chestertown; W. W. Clayton and Denny Hoffecker, of Chester, Pa. Undertaker Charles L. Dodd had charge of funeral and burial arrangements.

Mr. Russell was one of the Charter members of Chestertown Council Jr. O. U. A. M., and also of the Woodmen of the World, of Chester. These lodges sent representatives and beautiful floral tributes to the funeral.

Enoch S. Pleasanton died at the home of his son, Oscar Pleasanton, near Millington, on Sunday morning of heart trouble, aged 80 years.

He leaves three children, Oscar Pleasanton, of Millington, Md.; Mrs. Rosa Cohee, of Frederica, Del.; and Mrs. Mollie Walmsley, of Wilmington, Del. Also several grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from his sons home today at 1 p. m. Interment in Chester Cemetery. William H. Good, of Church Hill, undertaker in charge of funeral arrangements.
