DAY THAT MARKED DOWNFALL OF GERM

August Is Notable in Annals of Surgery.

On August 12, 1865, a youngster, whose name survives only as James G., was run over by a cart in Glasgow and gained undying fame, for his leg, if not for himself. Some one carried the injured lad to the Glasgow Royal infirmary, where presided an eager young surgeon, newly come from London, and possessed of an idea. His name was Joseph Lister and his idea was that those mysterious living germs which Pasteur had just been investigating had something to do with the suppuration then considered inevitable after any surgical operation, as well as after bone fractures in which the skin also is broken, fractures which surgeons class as "compound" ones. Young James had suffered that kind of fracture of his leg. Most surgeons of the day would have said, as probably some of them did say, that James was likely to go one-legged through the rest of his life.

Young Doctor Lister thought differently. He tried on the wound in the leg the new germ-discouraging methods which he had been thinking out and testing. The result was magical. No suppuration followed; the leg healed. On March 16, 1867, Lister used the case to illustrate the first publication of his methods in the London Lancet. Antiseptic surgery, perhaps the greatest of all the gifts of medical science to mankind, had begun.

A world in which the miracle of painless and germless surgery has become a commonplace finds it difficult to realize how short a time has passed since its invention. The centenary of Lister's birth has just been celebrated by the world's physicians. It is less than half as long since his methods of conquering the germs became common knowledge and common practice. Of all the surgical operations now classed as major ones more than three-fourths could never have been attempted so long as germ invaders were admitted with the knife. Nowadays, thanks to Lister and to anesthesia, surgery is perhaps the most advanced of all arts. Indeed, it is far in advance, as Sir Berkeley Moynihan said at one of the Lister celebration, "of all the sciences upon which its future progress depends." Another Lister is needed to open some new field to its conquerors, perhaps another James to lend his leg to some renewed advance.

Studying Street Noises

In an effort to bring about the elimination of many street noises, a survey is being made in the streets of Chicago with an instrument recently devised for recording and comparing the volume of different sounds. According to this instrument the average human voice records 40 and the streets noises on the level of one of Chicago's busiest corners is 657. The volume of noise encountered at the top of a tall building is about one-third that at the street level below. A steam engine pulling up a grade makes three times more noise than an electric motor doing the same amount of work on the same grade.

The Exact Witness

A barrister was cross-examining a rather innocent-looking countryman.

"So you had a pistol?" the barrister asked.

"I had, sir."

"Whom did you intend to shoot with it?"

"I wasn't intending to shoot anyone?"

"Then was it for nothing that you got it?"

"No, it wasn't."

"Come, come, sir! By virtue of your solemn oath, what did you get the pistol for?"

"By virtue of my solemn oath," said the countryman, "I got it for ten-and-sixpence."—Weekly Scotsman.

Too Observant

Frequently in restaurants and other places where a certain rule is continually being ignored, we are reminded of an incident related by a friend of ours. While wintering in Spain he lunched at the monastery of the Benedictines. After lunch he took out his cigar case "I don't suppose you object to smoking here?" he said to the white-robed monk attendant. "Yes, sir, we do," was the prompt reply. "There's a law against smoking in the refectory." "Then where," said our friend, "do all the cigar and cigarette stubs come from that I see about me?" "From men who didn't ask about the law," the monk replied, mildly.—Boston Transcript.

Worked by the Tides

A water-mill that is nine miles inland, yet obtains all its power from the tides, is claimed to be the only one of its kind by the inhabitants of Woodbridge, Suffolk, formerly one of England's great shipbuilding centers. Just how long this wheel has been answering to the rhythm of the tides no one is certain, but about 740 years ago a mill, standing on the same spot, was leased for a yearly rental of a pound of cummin, valued in those days at about twopence. When the tides of the River Deben are at their highest and lowest the little mill rests, but at any other time the great wheel is turning.

Alundum

Alundum is an electrically fused alumina of exceptional purity and great power of resistance to heat, which has been produced for use in making furnaces and other objects in which a material able to withstand excessive temperature is required. It is made by calcining bauxite and fusing it in a water-cooled electric furnace. The less pure products are used for abrasive purposes. Alundum comes from the furnaces in pigs of five tons each, which are crushed and molded with a refractory bond of a ceramic nature. Attempts to make articles of cast alundum have been only partially successful.

Caught

"No such a thing!" retorted Mrs. Johnson. "You wasn't there a-tall. You're just telling me another whopper, so you are!"

"Huh!" sourly returned Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "What's the use of wasting a good excuse on a feller's wife, anyhow?"—Kansas City Star.

Always Stiff and Achy?

Too Often This Warns of Sluggish Kidney Action.

LAME? Stiff? Achy? Sure your kidneys are working right? Sluggish kidneys allow waste poisons to remain in the blood and make one languid, tired and achy, with often dull headaches, dizziness and nagging backache. A common warning is scanty or burning secretions.

Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of bodily waste. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!
