WEDDING NOTES

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Rock Hall on Thursday evening of last week when Miss Naomi Thomas, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Joshua Thomas, became the bride of Mr. James Coleman at the home of the bride's parents.

The ceremony was performed by Elder R. M. Spencer, President of the Chesapeake Conference of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

The bride was attended by Miss Etta Coleman, sister of the groom, and the groom's best man was Mr. Glenwood Thomas, brother of the bride.

Guests from all parts of the county attended the wedding and reception. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received.

COUNTRY CLUB ORGANIZED

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION FORMED OFFICERS ELECTED CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS ADOPTED

A very enthusiastic meeting of the stock members of the Chester River Yacht and Country Club was held at the Court House, Chestertown, on Tuesday evening of this week.

Up until Tuesday evening this organization has been operating as a temporary organization and the meeting this week was held for the purpose of forming a permanent organization and electing permanent officers.

The meeting was opened by the temporary President, Stephen R. Collins and reports from the chairman of the various committees was read.

The treasurer's report showed that the club has 67 stock members. The stock charter membership is limited to 100. With all bills paid the treasury showed a good financial standing.

The grounds committee reported the ground prepared for the golf course and eight greens and seven tees completed. Work will start on the completion of the course as soon as weather permits.

The house committee showed plans for the new club house and the pier committee are getting estimates on the building of a pier.

The Constitution and By-Laws as drawn up by a committee, were adopted for the club.

The following officers were elected: President, Stephen R. Collins; Vice-President, Mr. Edward W. Emory; Secretary, Dr. J. S. Wm. Jones, Treasurer, W. J. Stenger; Directors for three years, Thomas W. Perkins and Wilbur W. Hubbard; Directors for two years, Marion deK Smith, Jr., and P. M. Brooks; Directors for one year, Dr. H. C. Hughes and R. H. Rogers. The Board of Directors include the officers and Directors.

According to present plans the golf course will be completed in the spring and the club house and pier built as soon as necessary arangements can be made.

The location of the club is approximately one mile from Chestertown on the Quaker Neck concrete road, bordering on the Chester River. The land is ideal for golf purposes and the club house will be located about 150 yards from the river with a wonderful river view. The pier will accomodate yachts with a five foot draft, and a sand beach will be used for the pleasure of the members.

Preparations are being made for making a large lake on the south side of the property with prongs projecting into the golf course making water hazards. When completed this club will be one of the most desirable in the state.

DEATHS

The funeral service of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Corwin, widow if the late H. Scott Corwin, was held in Newbury, New York, this week and the remains were brought to Chestertown Wednesday evening and rested in Christ M. P. Church.

Burial service was held Thursday morning at 10.30 a. m., interment in Chester cemetery, Rev. N. O. Gibson officiating. The bearers were: Messrs. Robert Huey, Fred G. Usilton, Walter Lusby, Elwood Baker, R. H. Collins, Jr., and Herbert Perkins. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

Mrs. Corwin was a sister-in-law of Mr. Edwin Corwin, of near Chestertown.

Captain Howard Woodall, age 61, for 15 years a pilot for the Wilmington Steamboat Company, died in Wilmington shortly after noon yesterday. He had been ill for three months from heart and kidney trouble. Captain Woodall was born and spent his early life in Kent county. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Woodall and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Woodall.

TRANSCRIPT'S MUSINGS

Whatever I have tried to do in life, I have tried with all my heart to do well; Whatever I have devoted myself to, I have devoted myself to completely; in great aims and in small, I have always been thoroughly in earnest.

—Charles Dickens

Dickens, the great master of fictions, has been dead over fifty years but his memory is still held in affection, and the characters which his fertile brain has created are still very personal and real.

So when February 7 his birthday comes around these characters leave their book covers and perform the parts which he assigned to them. It was just such a group that wended their way to the hospitable home of Mrs. Bayham Badger, that ever youthful and appreciated matron; to be met at the door by the efficient maid, Goodman, and to be greeted by their gracious hostess.

Such a harmonious group they were as they stood before the bust of Dickens which was decorated with ivy leaves while before it was a bowl of his favorite flowers, red geraniums. Mrs. Veneering repeated Brete Hart's poem about the great master which was greatly appreciated by the audience. And who were this loyal group? There were Mrs. iCawber ever ready to confide into the ears of any who would listen, of the woes of her husband; dramatic Mrs. Leo Hunter; the ever polished Mrs. Veneering; the sympathetic, Mrs. Valmia Dedlock; sentinental, Miss Rachel Wardle; the deaf when she please to be Mrs. Wardle; the voluminous Mrs. Winchel and the over flowing with good heartedness and ignorance Mrs. Boffin, besides the charming hostess. What a feast they had! first a real feast of reason and a flow of the soul and then a feast which was delightful to the inner man. Mrs. Leo Hunter's recitation of the "Ode to the Frog was so captivating that she received, on the instance, the first prize, while Mrs. Boffin, in spite of little knowledge of books showed an understanding heart and captured the prize on recognizing the sentiments of her master. Each received as a souvenir, a lovely bunch of red geraniums, and when they bade goodby to their hostess, they departed, regretting that twelve months would have to elapse before they meet together again.

Bargain Hunter

She never missed a bargain sale
In any part of town.
She got the choicest merchandise
Considerably marked down.

And if no sale was going on,
She'd rush into a store
And, for a hat marked ten, she'd say!
"I'll give you six; no more!"

Men couldn't sand her arguments
For very long, and so,
The keeper of the store would sigh:
"Yes, yes; I'll let it go!"

I think her very prayers at night
Were wordy bargainings
With gods who in despair, at last
Gave her her way with things!

VIOLET ALLEYN STOREY.

Who cares a hoot about the f. o. b. price of a car? Why don't they tell us how much a month?

"I can not say the crow is white,
But needs must call a spade a spade."

International Relations

All around we hear the nations,
Holding peaceful conversations,
Memoranda flying thicker
Than the telegraph can flicker.
Statesmen Kellogg and Briand
Very sweetly correspond
And agree the dogs of war
Are a species to abhor,
Though it rather seems to puzzle them
Just how much they ought to muzzle them.

That famous phrase "I do not choose,"
Is once more head-lined in the news;
La Follette thinks it's much more fun
To make it read "You shall not run!"

The G. O. P. is surely done,
If Herb decides that he will run.
Ohio sounds a doleful note,
Designed to get young Hoover's goat.

"Do you think poultry keeping pays?"

"Well, that I don't know; but I think it pays my boy Tom."

"How's that?"

"Well, you see, I bought him the fowls, I have to pay for their keep I buy the eggs from him when there are any, and he eats them!"

"Why do they call a dental office a parlor?"

"That's just another name for drawing room, isn't it?"

PENINSULA NEWS

Arrangements are rapidly being completed by The Centreville Observer to stage Centreville's first annual Automobile Show in the National Guard Armory next month. The dates tentatively selected are from March 6 to 10. Negotiations already have been closed for the Armory building and it is probable that the Sudlersville orchestra will furnish music each evening.

Despite the threat carried in a note found last Friday in the home of Edward McCoy, Federalsburg, the disaster threatened did not befall, even tho the writer's demands remained unfulfilled. The mysterious note was found by Mrs. McCoy late Friday afternoon when she returned home from shopping down town. It was lying on the floor in the closed, locked house and demanded that $100 be left in a box on the bridge by eight o'clock or the McCoy home would be blown up at midnight.

Charged with the murder or Thomas Jolly, aged 23 years, with an axe in a fight, Earl McGlotten, aged 22 years, also of Sharptown, Md., is being held without bail in the Salisbury Md., jail for the action of the Grand Jury.

Montgomery Ward and Company, one of America's largest mail order and retail stores concerns, will open a Salisbury department store and display rooms about June 1. Renovations to the building leased by the company will be completed and the place ready for occupancy by that time.

Preparations to connect the Citizens Gas Company system with that of the Sussex Gas Company, thus producing a continuous high-pressure gas line nearly 30 miles in length, are being completed by Manager L. M. Jordan, whose headquarters are in Salisbury, The connection will be established by laying approximately 7 1-2 miles of 4 inch gas main between Delmar and Laurel, the present ends of the two systems which are now owned by the same interests. The Citizens company serves Salisbury and Delmar with gas made in its Salisbury plant, while the Sussex company supplies Laurel, Blades, Seaford and Bridgeville from its plant in Seaford.

Harry Faulkner, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Faulkner, 16 years old, left home on Wednesday of last week with his pet dog, stating that he was going to hunt some game. The boy has not been heard of since. The ponds, fields and every available place for miles around have been searched for the missing boy. To date, no trace of him has been found. It is to be hoped that no foul play has happened. If the boy is in hiding, the parents and friends are sure of his return.

"In the year 1879, Mr. John Y. Doak, of Worcester County was one of a party of six plowmen whoplowed six unbroken furrows from Wilson, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, and back the distance being about 400 miles. "The six teams were accompanied by a cook and a blacksmith, and a portable cook shack. An average of 17 miles per day was made for the round trip."

Picking two large stones out of the side of his cell in the Cecil County jail at Elkton, Albert Stokes, of Baltimore, held on a charge of robbing freight cars on the Columbia & Port Deposit Railroad, squeezed through the hole he made and escaped over the 30-foot wall that surrounds the jail.

Reports from the work on the Conowingo Dam indicate that the work is far ahead of schedule in every department. Within the past week one of the service generators has been put to work and is now furnishing power for job. There are two of these service generators in addition to the seven main generators. The first unit of the main line of generators will be hooked up within a few days and the generation of power for commercial use will begin. The dam itself is rapidly approaching completion.

It is learned from the County Commissioners office in Bel Air that the County treasury received a substantial boost from taxes this week. The Susquehanna Power Company on Tuesday remitted its check for $95,000.00 for 1928 county and state taxes, a large proportion of which goes to the county. When the work at the dam is finally completed, it is thought theCompany will be paying around $250,000.00 or more in taxes.

—The Ochtomaquath Camp Fire Girls enrolled 9 new charter members in a new group last Monday. This group is to be called Ayuzunta meaning "Link Together." The members elected officers and were intiated.

—Some very fine pictures are scheduled at the Lyceum Theatre every night next week. See advertisement on page four of this issue.

ORGAN RECITAL AT M. E. CHURCH

Those who attended the Organ Recital at the M. E. Church on Tuesday night heard one of the best musicals given in Chestertown for sometime. It was given under the auspices of the By-Kota Club of the M. E. Church. The money raised by the sale of tickets went into the treasuary of the club and did not go to help pay for the new church, as the By-Kota Club has already paid its share for this year.

Prof. Ender of the Peabody Institute, of Baltimore, played the organ and the following program was rendered.

Grand March (Aida)	Verdi
Will o' the Wisp	Nevin
Ave Maira	Schubert
The Lost Chord	Sullivan
Overture to "Migon"	Thomas
Gavotte from "Mignon"	Thomas
The Swan	Saint-Saenz
Pilgrims Chorus	Wagner
Festival Prelude on "ein Feste Burg"	Faulkes
Intermezzo	Gallaerts
Menuet	Beethoven-Ender
Prelude to "Carmen"	Bizet

Prof. Ender's services were secured by the efforts of Miss Mary Covey who is a graduate of the Peabody Institute.

"WEST POINT" AT LYCEUM

West Point—the very name suggests romance, glorious traditions and patriotism. All these are echoed in William Haines' new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle which comes to The Lyceum on Tuesday, Feb. 14th.

It's a story of youth and romance—with the thrills of a great football struggle, the spectacle of parades and evolutions of Uncle Sam's future officers—and a delicate romance between Haines and Joan Crawford running through it.

Haines plays a "fresh" young man who comes to West Point to play football. The traditions of the corps mean nothing to him. He's conceited, selfish, wayward.

The remaking of the youth from this raw material into ideal timber for officership is strikingly shown in a dramatic and entertaining sequence. There are many comedy moments in his training—comedy moments of which Haines takes the fullest advantage; there are heart throbs as the cadet is put through the bitter experiences that must be his lot before he can learn the lesson of the corps; one has every sympathy with him even while realizing that he deserves his lesson and that's all for his good. The love theme is wonderfully carried out by Haines and Joan Crawford, who plays the heroine of the new story.

At an estimated value of 10 cents each, which is very low, the wild birds of the United States prevent an increase in the annual damage done by insects of at least $444,000,000.

2ND DISTRICT DAIRYMEN MEET.

WORTON MILK STATION TO RECEIVE ONLY T. B. TESTED MILK

As a result of a rumor circulated to the effect that in the spring Worton Milk Station will receive only tuberculine tested milk, the dairymen in the second district, who carry milk to the Worton station, met at Bramble's Hall, Still Pond on Friday, February 3rd.

The dairymen asked County Agent H. B. Derrick to preside at the meeting and Dr. Dell Hendershott, representing the Suplee-Willys-Jones Milk Co., was invited to attend the meeting. Mr. Hendershott confirmed the rumor and said that it will take effect April 1st.

The third district has been T. B. tested and the retest is now underway but as the test has not reached the second district, the 17 farmers from that district who used the Worton Milk station were placed in a position whereby they would have to haul their milk to Kennedyville.

A lively discussion was held among those present on the T. B. test and finally a motion was made and unaniously carried to request the State and Federal authorities to tuberculine test the herds of these 17 men in the second district who used the Worton Milk Station.

FARM BUREAU DIRECTORS ELECT OFFICERS

The Directors of the Kent County Farm Bureau met at the Farm Bureau office in Chestertown on Saturday of last week and elected officers for 1928 and discussed the work for that organization for the year.

The officers elected were Messrs. E. Thomas Massey, President; James E. Morris, Vice President; William G. Smyth, Secretary and Treasurer. An executive committee was elected, composed of the above named officers with Messrs. Edgar Pennington and L. A. Sutton.

A committee was appointed to map out a program of work for the year composed of Messrs. E. Thomas Massey, Stanley Sutton, H. B. Derrick, Owen Edmonston and William G. Smith.

The general opinion of the directors were that the organization should concentrate on fewer projects of work and turn their attention to dairying and poultry and endeavor to cull out the scrubs and make Kent County 100 per cent. in having pure bred sires.

A resolution was adopted that the Kent County Farm Bureau urge all the farm organizations in the country to get together on some constructive Legislation for the benefit of the farmer.

QUEEN ANNE'S ROAD PROGRAM

Queen Anne's 1928 Road Program was definitely decided at a meeting held in Baltimore, Friday afternoon in the office of John H. Mackall, State Roads Commissioner.

Four sections totalling approximately four and one-half miles will be constructed during this year.

The road from Sudlersville toward Anderson's Corner will be continued this year. There will be a mile added to the road that was started last year.

The road from the Fingerboard to Crumpton, a distance of one mile, will connect the Chester river causeway at this town to the Dudley's Corner road. It is understood that this road will be the usual width, fifteen foot, and not nine, like the Dudley's Corner road.

It was also decided to extend the Stevensville road toward Love Point for a distance of one and one-half miles.

The Commissioners and Mr. Mackall have agreed on the Queen Anne's-Damsontown Road, about which there has been considerable dispute. A road will go toward Starr, through the Ruthsburg route, this road will eventually join the Easton road at what is known as Price's Corner.

CAST FOR GYPSY ROVER

The following characters have been chosen for the operetta "The Gypsy" planned to be given February the twentieth and twenty-first.

Meg,Isabelle Crow; Zara, Katherine Ford; Marto, William Crow; Sinfo, John Bennett; Rob, Vernon Needles; Lady Constance, Emily Jewell; Lord Craven, William Kirkbride; Sir George Martendale, Weldon Townsend; Nina, Ruth Brice; Captain Jerome, Charles Harris; Sir Toby Lyon, Alfred Hodgson; McCorkle, Allan Barnes.

There will also be three choruses—the Gypsy Children, Gypsy Chorus and Old Fashioned Chorus.

The procedes will go towards a new piano for the High School.

STRIKE AT SPARKLER PLANT

Following the announcement of a reduction in the price paid for piece work at the Victory Sparkler Co., in Chestertown, a number of employees went on strike Wednesday morning.

Mr. Harry F. Jefferson, chairman of the Industrial Committee of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce took the matter up with the manager of the plant and the employees returned to work on the old wage scale. The strikers included both men and women.

CHAUTAUQUA AT BETTERTON

The Swarthmore Chautauqua will come again to Betterton this year on February 23rd—27th inclusive. On the evening on the 23rd an oratorical contest will be given by the school boys and girls in the community, on "Citizenship." This will be under the supervision of the Chautauqua. The Chautauqua programs will be held Friday, Saturday and Monday. Sunday evening a community gathering will be held with a Chautauqua speaker.

MILLINGTON SCHOOL STUDENTS DEBATE

At the monthly meeting of the Massey local, Kent County Farm Bureau, held in the school building on Thursday evening an interesting debate was held by students of Millington High School.

The question of the debate was the advisability of tractor farming. Due to the small attendance at the meeting attributed to the condition of the county roads, it was decided to hold the debate at a later date. The decision of the judges was not rendered.

LEGION DRIVE ENDS MARCH 1ST

The drive for membership to the American Legion, Frank M. Jarman Post No. 36, now underway in Kent county, will close March 1st.

The local post is endeavoring to enlist every ex-service man in the county by March 1st and todate the results are very encouraging.

The merican Legion is an organization of ex-service men who served in the late war, who among other activities have assisted in carring for the sick and wounded veterans.

All veterans of the late war are eligable for membership and as there are approximately 175 in the county, this local post should develop into a strong organization.

LOCAL COURT BATTLE MONDAY

A game between St. James church and the Chestertown Rotary Club has been scheduled for next Monday evening, February 13th. While this game will not show the flash of basket ball that local fans are accustomed to, it will no doubt, be interesting.

The possible lineup for the Rotary Club will be J. T. Kibler and P. G. Wilmer forwards, H. S. Russell center, Charles Kibler and Austin Shure guards. This team has never played or practised together but are going into the game armed with the result of a lengthy discussion of the way to do it.

The St. James quintet is built around Rev. L. C. Randall who received his early training on the Western Maryland Freshman team some years ago.

A preliminary game will be played by two picked teams from Kibler's Rotary Boys Club.

TO APPEAL NARROWS DREDGING PROPOSAL

Through the intercession of Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough, of the First Congressional District of Maryland, arrangements were completed this week for a new hearing on the proposed dredging of Kent Island Narrows.

It is expected that a large delegation of watermen, packers, shippers and business men will comprise a delegation to appear before the Board of Harbor Engineers in Washington.

Last week Congressmen Goldsborough took up the matter with the Board in reference to an appeal from the unfavorable report of the district engineer, Major C. R. Pettis, Baltimore. The Board promptly granted a new hearing, to be held about the middle or latter part of February. Congressman Goldsborough will be notified two weeks in advance and will promptly communicate the information to Queen Annes countians interested in the project.

All those interested in the $100,000 development are asked to join the delegation on its trip to Washington.

The dredging of the "Narrows" is of much interest to Kent county watermen and yachtsmen as it affords a short cut from Chester River to Easton Bay and down the bay points.
