LECTURES AT WASHINGTON COLLEGE

Mr. Warner, of the Baltimore Sun, who has been giving illustrated lectures on the subject "The Making of a Newspaper;" lectured at Washington College at their Thursday morning assembly.

In his lecture, Mr. Warner started out telling of the sign language used by the cave man and his means of writing messages. From there he showed with pictures, the means of written comunications until the time of printing the newspaper of the present day.

FIREMEN HOLD BANQUET

LARGELY ATTENDED AND MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN THE COUNTY BY CITIZENS

The Chestertown Firemen held their third annual banquet Tuesday evening last in the Armory in Chestertown. An interesting programme consisting of addresses and songs were given, notably among the addresses was the one by Mr. Bayard C. Stavely, a former Still Pond resident and brother of Mr. Alwin Stavely, of Lynch. Mr. Stavely is superintendent of the Firemans Home in New Jersey. He brought to Chestertown an interesing story of how the Firemen are supported in the state of New Jersey. He stated that all foreign insurance companies during business in that state were required by an act of assembly to give for the support of the Fire Companies 2 1-2 per cent. of all premiums written in New Jersey, which he stated amounted to many thousands of dollars.

The gathering was presided over by the president of the Chestertown Fire Company, Mr Wm. G. Smith.

The menu follows:

Turkey, Ham, Macaroni, Hominy, Slaw, Celery, Pickles, Cranberries, Rolls, Biscuits, Sweet Potatoes, Mints, Ice Cream, Cake, Coffee.

PROTECT RESTOCKED GAME

The Game Division of the Conservation Department of Maryland, as has been its policy during the past several years, is now distributing throughout the Counties approximately 14,000 Cotton-tail Rabbits and 6,000 Bob-white Quail for propagation purposes. To all know in order to propagate the same must be protected, not only against their natural enemies, but against man as well. The worst nuisance and causing the greatest calamity particularly to Cotton-tail Rabbits and Bob-white Quail is the roaming DOG and the house CAT.

Sportsmen wake up to the necessity of protecting your game and outdoor recreation which is enjoyed by those hunting during the lawful season. Keep your dogs under leash and your cats at home and endeavor to persuade others to follow your example. By so doing you will not only be benefitting yourself, but at the same time will be complying with the state-wide law which prohibits dogs from running at large between March 1st and September 1st.

Game cannot be propagated in the same covers where dogs and cats are allowed to destroy same. A successful hunting season is usually determined by those interested in the preservation of game and with the cooperation of the sportsmen and public in general an increase in our upland game can be assured for the coming season.

The Game Division, through revenue derived from the sale of hunting licenses, annually expends thousands of dollars for purchasing Rabbits and Quail for restocking the covers, and unless dogs are kept out of the covers our efforts to re-establish these species of game will be in vain. A mother rabbit has not a chance of getting away from a pursuing dog.

NARROWS HEARING HELD YESTERDAY

The appeal from the decision of Major C. R. Pettis, district engineer, who ruled against the dredging of Kent Island Narrows, was heard before the Rivers and Harbors Commission in Washington on Friday morning, February 17, at 11 o'clock.

Announcement of this meeting was received from Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough who several years ago introduced and caused to be passed the bill providing for the deepening of this important waterway.

Delegations of oystermen, packers, business men and representatives of civic organizations attended the appealed hearing.

Following the passage of the original bill, which provided for the dredging of Kent Island Narrows, a hearing was conducted at Grasonville by Major C. R. Pettis. At that time facts and figures were submitted showing the importance of this waterway. Subsequently, Major Pettis ruled that the benefits to accrue from the dredging plan were not sufficient to warrant the estimated outlay.

OLD-TIME COSTUMES WORN

The Ladies' Aid Society of Christ Methodist Protestant Church was sponsor for a unique old-time costume pary at the home of Mr. and Mr. James H. Sides Friday evening, which not only provoked amusement on account of the grotesque costumes worn, but offorded one of the most enjoyable social evenings of the winter.

The president of the society, Mrs. John H. Simpers, appeared in a handsome gown of black silk with old-fashioned hoop skirt and a beautiful black lace cape, a family heirloom, while other guests wore their wedding outfits of yars ago, Mayor Satterfield wearing a hat which formed a part of his wedding regalia.

BOY SCOUTS MEET AT BETTERTON

On Sunday afternoon 14 members of the Chestertown Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, went to Betterton to unite with the local Troop in a Special Service at the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Pastor of which, the Rev. C. W. Clark, is Scoutmaster of the Betterton Troop. The boys met at the schoolhouse, and, preceeded by the two American and Troop flags, marched to the Church, where they listened to an interesting talk on the principles of Scouting, by the Hon. Charles M. Curtis, Judge of the Juvenile Court of Wilmington.

Judge Curtis dwelt particularly on the high Ideals of the Scouts, as exemplified by their Oath and the 12 Scout Laws. In the former the Scout promises "On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my Country, and to obey the Scout Law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight." The 12 laws state that a Scout is Trustworthy, Loyal, Helpful, Friendly, Courteous, Kind, Obedient, Cheerful, Thrift, Brave, Clean and Reverent. At the conclusion of his address Judge Curtis called up Mr. Allen Bonwill, the Senator Patrol Leader of the Betterton troop, and presented him with the insignia of a Life Scout. To obtain this rank the Scout must (1) Have a record of satisfactory service as a First Class Scout for a period of at least six months, and (2) have qualified for ten merit badges, which shall include, First Aid, Physicial Development, Personal Health, Public Health, and Life Saving or Pioneering.

In awarding the emblem Judge Curtis called attention to the fact that in Scouting there is always a further grade or ideal for which to strive. After the Tenderfoot, comes the Second Class Scout; then the First Class; then the Star Scout, then the life Scout, and finally the Eagle Scout. Even after these may come the Official positions, such as Assistant Scout Master, Scout Master, and Officers of the Councils and Executive boards.

Judge Curtis said that there was present an Eagle Scout, now a Scout Master of one of the Wilmington Troops, Mr. Alfred Jervis. Upon request Mr. Jervis stood up and gave the Scout Salute.

The Rev. Mr. Clark then called his Assistant Scout Master, Mr. Howard B. Owens, to come to the front. Introducing him to the Congregation, Mr. Clark said that the Betterton Troop owed most of its progress and efficiency to him, for his faithful and zealous work with and for the Troop. At the Conclusion of the Service all Scouts and Scout Officials stood at salute and repeated the Scout Oath and Law.

"THE BANK WHERE YOU FEEL AT HOME."

We quote the following article from the monthly letter of the American Exchange National Bank of New York:

"OLD HOME INFLUENCES

As an institution for character building there is nothing that can take the place of the old-fashioned home. To those who appreciate the part which the influences of the old home-life had in building up the qualities that made the men who made our civilization, nothing is so important as the preservation and restoration of the home as our mothers and fathers knew it. The old home has not disappeared; it still lives and flourishes; but its struggle for survival grows harder as time passes and appreciation of its attractions and values languishes. Life is more hectic, more intense, its claims upon us seem more extensive, but it offers more diversion than diversity, and the fundamentals are still what they have always been.

The simple qualities that were bred and nurtured in the old-fashioned home are still the qualities that men admire. Honesty, courage, chivalry, courtesy and sportsmanship are still the essentials of our standards of character, the basic things that make our associations with one another possible. These things can be taught outside the home, but they cannot be built into men and woemn by anything but the home influences that bred them. In these qualities we have the foundation of self-respect, of respect for the rights of others, the basis of unselfishness and of kindliness. The old-fashioned home made good neighbors, good citizens and God-fearing men and women. It taught temperance, frugality and self-reliance; it fostered love, loyalty and friendship; it was religious, it was devout, it was pious. It was simple, unostentatious and gracious. Its pride was the pride of sons and daughters in fathers and mothers. It was hospitable, gentle and cultured. Manor or cottage, the old home was the abiding place of all that was sacred and dear to the hearts of men and women who had learned to live as no generation ever lived before or since. No greater boon could come to us than to have the old home restored to us in all the glory of its simplicity.

5 PER CENT. INTEREST ON FARM LOANS
Since the annual rate of interest was reproduced to 5 per cent. on November 15th, 1927, The Kent and Queen Anne National Farm Loan Association has received applications for loans totalling $73,000, showing the increasing popularity of this Co-operative method of borrowing money on farm lands.
If you are now carrying a 6 per cent. mortgage on your farm which never grows less, why not transfer it to the Federal Land Bank and get the benefit of the 5 per cent interest, enabling you to reduce your mortgage principal every year.
If you desire to purchase a farm the Federal Land Bank will finance the proposition to the extent of 50 per cent. of the purchase price on the 5 per cent. annual interest basis.
The Federal Land Bank proposition reduces the principal amount of your mortgage every year until it is finally liquidated on easy payments.
Come in and let me tell you all about it.
