THE NEW FORD CAR

The Following Are Some of the Out-standing Features of the New Ford Car:

MOTOR

The new Ford motor has a large and effective oil strainer surrounding the oil pump, in a protected location inside the crank case, but easily removed for cleaning or inspection. It requires no outside oil pipes, that might develop leaks and cause failure of the oiling system. The pump is at the very bottom of the crank case, where it is always submerged in oil, and as the oil pump is protected against clogging or damaged by the oil strainer, there is practically no chance of breakage. There is no misleading oil gauge to give a false assurance of safety, when actually one or more of the pipes leading to the bearing is clogged. The Ford oil pump is capable of 80 lbs. Hydraulic pressure, though with the large oil pipes of the Ford system, it only uses a couple of pounds

The oil pump is of the gear type which gives the positive feed, the most essential function of an oil pump. Being submerged in oil, it can be counted on to last the life of the car.

The cam shaft is of notably strong and sturdy construction to prevent torsional vibration, which might cause inaccuracy of valve timing at high speed.

The simplicity and low cost of maintanence (as compared to chain drive) is retained, while absolute silence and greater durability of the gears is insured by the fact that the cam shaft gear is now of Vakelized fabric. The valves are of new and original Ford design, and are another evidence that Henry Ford stops at nothing, if he thinks better results are to be obtained by some particular type of construction. Both inlet and exhaust valves are of Ford manufacture, of carbon chrome nickel alloy, and evidence that the best possible materials are being used in the Model A. Ford. The valve stem diameter 5-16, the diameter of the mushroom end is ½. The valve taps has been eliminated by having the inlet and the exhaust valve clearance at .015 inches also by not having the rocker arm which the overhead valves have, which gives 3 additional points of contact, noise and wear. The crank shaft is counterbalanced which weighs twice as much as the one in the Model T. Ford. The diameter is 1 by 5-8 inches for the connecting rod bearing while the Model T only had 1¼ inches.

POULTRY AND DAIRY MEETING

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS MEETING ARRANGED BY P. M. BROOKS

Probably the largest poultry and dairy meeting ever held in Kent county was held at William Smith Hall, Washington College, on Tuesday evening of this week.

Between 450 and 500 dairymen and poultry raisers attended the meeting and the program was interesting from start to finish.

The principal feature of the meeting was an address by Mr. A. W. Carpenter of the Larrowe Company. Mr. Carpenter stated that the mild climate and abundance of sun shine which Kent county enjoys makes this section ideal for the poultry business. He stated, that due to these natural advantages, Kent County can remain in the poultry business when many less favorable sections are forced to quit.

In reference to the use of Cod-Liver Oil in Poultry feeds, Mr. Carpenter said that poultry will have to use it according to their own judgement. He stated that this medacine might be used as a substitute for sunshine, but care should be used in its use when sunshine is in abundance.

In reference to the dairy industry, Mr. Carpenter told of the advantages of Cow Testing Association through whose efforts many boarders, or non-producers are weeded out.

Folowing the meeting, Mr. Carpenter stated that he was very much pleased with the people of this section and the interest shown in the poultry and dairying industries.

The fear that error will triumph over truth begets intolerance.

SHORE SOCIETY OFFERS PRIZE

The Play Writing Committee of The Woman's Eastern Shore Society of Maryland is endeavoring to collect for preservation as many of the legends and traditions of the Eastern Shore and its inhabitants as possible.

The records of the Eastern Shore contain much of which to be proud, but this Committee feels that there is a great deal of general interest that has never been recorded.

The co-operation of all is asked by writing your family traditions; such as stories of the early settlers, accounts of their homes, colonial and slavery days, stories of the various wars? Also stories of social gatherings, fox hunting, tournaments, etc.

Also to interview the older members of your family and friends and talk with them of "ye olden days," and write their reminiscences and send them to the Play Writing Committee of The Woman's Eastern Shore Society, in care of Miss Anne Rothwell Stewart, 811 North Charles St., Baltimore, Maryland, not later than June 1, 1928?

It will also be of interest to you to know that this Society is offering, through this Committee, a First Prize of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) for the best play portraying most graphically the atmosphere of the Eastern Shore, before the advent of automobiles and other modern conveniences. A second prize of $50 is also offered. $10.00 each, given for all other plays reserved by the Society. All other plays submitted will be returned to contestants, when accompanied by return postage. The judges reserve the right to reject all plays and this prize offer becomes void if, in their judgement, none of the plays submitted merit production.

The object is to put into play form the early life of the Eastern Shore of Maryland, any time prior to 1900. Not more that two (2) plays may be submitted by any contestant. All manuscript must be typewritten, in triplicate, and on one side of paper only. The name and address of writer shall not appear on the manuscript, but must be enclosed in a sealed envelope accompanying the manuscript.

The contest opens March 1, 1928; Closes November 1, 1928. Send to Play Writing Committee, Woman's Eastern Shore Society, in care of Miss Ann R. Stewart, 811 North Charles Street, Baltimore, Maryland.

Give the light to the man who is in darkness, and he will find his own way out.

A good fortune—the idle rich have ceased to be the idol rich.
