FOR CONGRESS

T. Alan Goldsborough

The announcement that Hon. T. Alan Goldsborough will be a candidate to succeed himself as Representative from the First Maryland District has been received favorably by the people and the newspapers of the Eastern Shore.

The following editorial excerpts from newspapers on the Shore are typical of many others wherein editors have voiced the sentiment of their readers, who believe the Congressional record of Mr. Goldsborough entitles him to the favorable consideration of Democratic voters when they go to the polls on May 7th:

"Mr. Goldsborough has made a good Congressman. Any one who has had occasion to call upon Mr. Goldsborough in any capacity has always found him courteous, and eager to help."—The Marylander and Herald.

"Mr. Goldsborough has ably represented his constituents and we think it fair that he should be kept in his present position, to be more useful as the years come and go to the citizens of the nine Eastern Shore counties."—The Caroline Sun.

"The Congressional campaign on the Eastern Shore, from which the Democratic party expects to choose a nominee for the seat in the House of Representatives in the May 7 primaries has taken an unusual turn—one that is far from complimentary toitsinstigators. Political foes of Representative T. A. Goldsborough are whispering tales concerning his health, following a nervous breakdown nearly two years ago. They repeat in a low monotone that he is unable to continue the work in the lower House of Congress in which he has served the Eastern Shore continuously since 1920. Mr. Goldsborough has paid several visits to Salisbury recently and, while he may have suffered at one time from the ill effects of overwork, his mind appears as brilliant and as keen to the obligations of his office as when he was first elected."—The Salisbury Times.

"Mr. Goldsborough is too valuable a citizen to be retired to private life either by impaired health, or by a mistaken electorate. His services to the State have been such as to characterize him as a man of brilliant mind, industrious habits, honest convictions, and loyal to the interests of his constituents."—The Worcester Democrat.

"The Eastern Shore has never enjoyed the services of a more capable representative in Congress than T. Alan Goldsborough; he has been faithful to the interests of his District, has been tireless in serving his people, and has built a record of which his party and his District are justly proud. The re-nomination ofMr.Goldsborough means Democratic success in November, and another term in Congress for a most worthy public servant who has been capable, steadfast andtrueto the best interests of the Eastern Shore of Maryland."—The Crisfield Times.

FORESTS VALUABLE IN KENT

GROWTH VALUED AT $337,776 ANNUALLY

The value of forest growth in Kent County has not been considered a valuable crop yet, according to information received from Mr. Alfred A. Dopple, District Forester, if properly managed the average market value each year will prove a valuable asset to woodland owners.

According to Mr. Dopple, the value of all agricultural crops in Kent county in 1924 was $1,793,360.

Kent county forests, if managed, based on yield of 500 bd. ft. per acre per year and an average market value of $20 per M. part lumber and part cordwood will make a yearly growth of $337,776.

In case of forest fires the nearest forest warden should be notified immediately. The wardens for Kent county are Roland Comly, Locust Grove; R. D. Hoopes, Fairlee Creek; E. Thomas Massey, Massey; Charles Shure, Chestertown; Tilden Willson, Rock Hall.

—On Monday of this week spring broilers were quoted at 60 cents per pound in New York; yesterday the market was 55 cents. Mr. Baynard Harper trucked 60 coops into New York this week. Mr. Paul Joiner is also taking advantage of the high broiler market.
