DEDICATES FIRE HOUSE

Probably the largest crowed that has assembled in Rock Hall since the Firemen's carnival attend the fire house dedicaion exercises and shad supper on Thursday of this week.

Mr. Urie read a history of the fire company from its organization, a little more than a year ago to the present, showing its remarkable growth.

The dedicatory address was delivered by the Rev. W. S. Grant, of the Rock Hall Methodist Episcopal Church. William G. Smyth, president of the Chestertown Fire Company, and Capt. Harry C. Butler, of the State Police Force, also spoke. Music for the afternoon program was rendered by the Rock Hall Fire Company band of twenty-seven pieces.

Following the exercises a Chesapeake Bay shad supper was served delegations from fire companies of neighboring towns being among the guests of the local company.

In the evening an illustrated address on "How Fires Start and Their Prevention" was given by Battalion Chief Howard Travers, of the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Baltimore City Fire Department.

Douglas Fairbanks As The Gaucho At Lyceum

Douglas Fairbanks again "rang the bell" with his new United Artits production, Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho, which shows at The Lyceum on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 10, 11, 12. Romance tense action, originality of treatment and captivating humor characterize this story of the South American border.

The star appears as a Robin Hood of the pampas, the dauntless captain of a band of outlaw riders, who captures a beautiful shrine city under the nose of the usurper's troops. The Fairbanks of old is in a freshly entrancing setting and he plays with the bravado and whimsical ardor suitable to the clime and its emotional people.

From beginning to end, "Douglas Fairbanks as The Gaucho" holds its audience. The mystery of the shrine, the towering peaks, the battles of the Gauchos, the grim odds which face the hero and the lure of gold and fair women are powerful elements for screen success.

Lupe Velez, as the wold "girl of the mountains," appears in fascinating contrast to the "girl of the miracle," played by Eve Southern, whose spiritual power over the Gaucho leader evokes the jealousy of the other. Doug is betrayed into the hands of the usurper, but the repentent madcap brings the dusky horrde of plainsmen to his rescue. The aged padre and the shrine girl are saved from the scaffold, while vast herds of steers, stampeded by the wily Gaucho, rout the usurper's forces from the city.

New stunts by Doug contribute to his adventures. Riding feats, leaping and bolas throwing are achieved with customary skill. The presence of two heroines affords much interest to the narrative, and until the very end of the picture it remains uncertain whether the miracle girl or the mountain girl will be his choice.

TRANSCRIPT'S MUSINGS

No one has any more right to go about unhappy than he has to go about ill bred. He owes it to himself, to his friends and to the community in general, to live up to his best spiritual possibilities, not only now and then, once or twice a year, or once in a season, but every day and every hour.—Whiting.

Somewhere, always example tells. Clean up your yard and your neighbor will do likewise. Last year two young nature lovers turned a weed bed on Court street into a garden of flowers. Now we read that the Court Yard is to be planted with flowers too, by the active feminine officials of the Court House.

Have you heard whats in the breeze?
A garden, if you please
In the Court Yard is the plan;
And the gardeners are to be
The popular maidens three
Of the Court House Clan.

From the taxpayers, who sigh:
Because the taxes are so high:
The flowers will win a smile;
And the Judge and lawyers too
Will feel cheered by the view
As in the Court they file.

And to dig, gives figures trim,
And grace and strength of limb.
And roses to one's face;
Then, too, though they never shirk,
They'll go back to their work.
With fresh and speedy grace.

There must have arisen a bond of sympathy between Mayor Thompson and the Prince of Wales, as they both know what it is to be unseated.

April left us on last Monday, she certainly made earnest efforts to be as much like February as she dared to be.

Henry Ford made two great sensations while he was in London one when he mounted the plebeian steps of a London bus and paid a 6 penny fare to see the town, and another when he entered the hotel dining room at eight o'clock and ordered breakfast for himself and wife when the dining room does not open until nine. No wonder the waiters almost fainted, But Henry belongs to another nation where the axiom of poor Richard is still remembered by some;

"Early to bed and early to rise
Makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

Conversation Switched

The effect of listening to ultra fashionable parents is shown in the following conversation:

Father—Doris, your mother has told me you have been misbehaving. I shall have to punish you tonight.

Doris (age nine)—Not tonight, father. I shall be too busy with my dancing lessons; but speak to me again tomorrow regarding an appointment.—Chicago Daily News.

Don't forget that Monday, May 7th, 1928 is election day.

Wish I were a candidate
Marchin' with the band,
Where the speakers congregate
Through this happy land,
Stoppin' only, now an' then,
To oblige the camera men.

If you lose, or if you win,
In the big debate,
All serene, amid the din,
You may smile at Fate
As you claim no one can skip
To the handshake championship.

The Rock Hall Fire Co. has reason to be proud of the rapid growth of their organization. Real team work it has been. All working for a common cause. And the Fire House will be the scene of many social evenings and entertainments. All honor to them, who work for the people's welfare.

This world is a difficult world, indeed,
And people are hard to suit,
And the man who plays on the violin
Is a bore to the man with the flute.

That music does not always have power to soothe the savage breast, was proven the other day, when two ladies of a musical turn, while on their way from the convention in Easton, in an auto began to sing "This is the end of a perfect Day." The driver, hearing the sound and thinking it was an auto horn, turned aside to give the right of way. Is it any wonder that the singers ceased?

That it is never too late to learn and to accomplish in spite of the wise Dr. Osles we read of what socrates accomplished when old.

It is too late: Oh, nothing is too late Till the tired heart shall cease to palpitale, Cato learned Greek at 80; Sophocles Wrote his grand Edipus and Simondes Bore off the prize of verse from his compeers.

"THE DOVE" WITH NORMA TALMADGE AT THE ARCADIA

The lovely Norma Talmadge, one of the first dramatic favorites with the screen world, has made for her latest picture "The Dove." This picturization of Willard Mack's play is to be at the Arcadia Theatre in Wilmington the week of May 7th.

"The Dove" is a colorful story packed with such incidents that made it absorbing entertainment. As the Dove, Norma is a Central American girl, a soft-viced beauty whose job it is to entertain the guests of a small cafe. A young American gambler falls madly in love with her but nearly loses his life on several occasions trying to defend her from the plots of one mighty caballero, the latter role is played with a swagger by Noah Beery. Gilbert Roland is the American lover.

ROCK HALL CO. ANSWERS CALL

The Rock Hall Volunteer Fire Co. answered a call to the home of Charles Scott, colored, in Sharptown at 7 a. m. Monday. A loose terra-cotta pipe, used for a chimney, had set fire to the roof and all efforts to extinguish same had failed until the fire company arrived.

The Rock Hall company with the new LeFrance engine carrying 100 gallons of water soon extinguished the fire and saved the building. Estimated damage was about $60.

GAS PLANT REPORTED SOLD

Although the report has not been officially confirmed, it is generally understood that the Chestertown Gas Plant has been sold to the Atlantic Gas Co., of Philadelphia. This company has been negotiating with the Chestertown Gas Co. for the purchase of the plant for some time.

It is also understood that the change in ownership will mean extensive repairs and enlargement of the present plant. The Atlantic Gas Co. owns a number of plants in Eastern Shore towns, having recently purchased the Crisfield plant.

TWO SLAG ROAD PETITIONS

Two delegations appeared before the County Commissioners on Tuesday of this week and requested the building slag roads in the third and seventh districts.

A delegation representing the people living in the vicinity of St. James Church petitioned the commissioners for one mile of slag road from Cherry Lane to the farm of Mr. Charles Nicholson. This was considered the worse part of the Chestertown—St. James Church road.

The delegation from the Seventh District asked for a slag road from Pomona toward the Chestertown—Fairlee Road at the old Ford's blacksmith shop.

The commissioners held both propositions under consideration.

In the Wrong Category

A certain contractor who had always professed to be fond of children, became very angry because some little fellow stepped on a new pavement before it was dry. In the midst of his tirade, a bystander broke in: "I thought you loved children," he said.

"I do in the abstract, but not in the concrete," he replied.

PENINSULA NEWS

A large gathering of citizens of Chesapeake City met Col. R. P. Howell, District Engineer, in charge of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, in Masonic Hall, Chesapeake City, on Wednesday afternoon, of last week for purpose of discussing mooring basin and harbor for commercial and pleasure crafts using the Canal.

Col. Howell stated that the Government had planned mooring facilities each side of the bridges across the canal and called for suggestions from those interested. Representatives of the Phiadelphia and Baltimore Steamboat Company, Southern Transportation Company and the Eastern Transportation Company expressed their views on the matter and their suggestions were taken under advisement by Col. Howell.

Many important changes were made by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in its schedule, effective April 29, when several old and familiar trains will be eliminated from the schedule, due to the slowing up in traffic, caused by the busses and automobiles.

Following the agreement reached by the Maryland and Pennsylvania Conservation Departments and the Philadelphia Electric Company as to stocking the lake, formed by the great Conowingo dam, with fish, the Maryland Department on April 13 placed six millions of yellow perch fry in what is now the widened reach of the Susquehanna, above the dam. With yearly stocking by both States, the lake will ere long teem with fish. Providing serviceable fishways or ladders for migratory species, which seek tidal waters for spawning, was judged impracticable by experts of the Federal Fisheries Department and those of several States. Such being the case, the Philadelphia Electric Company agreed to pay yearly to Maryland and Pennsylvania $4,000 for stocking the lake with fish likely to thrive in its waters. With the success of the plan for securing an supply, the lake would become one of the country's noted fishing resorts.

The prompt response of Havre de Grace firemen on Monday night saved the handsome club house of the Harford Agricultural and Breeder's Association on the Havre de Grace race track, from destruction by fire. Watchmen at the building discovered the blaze on the second floor and breaking into the building formed a bucket brigade and helped to keep the flames from spreading until the firemen reached the scene.

Last Saturday's attendance at the Havre de Grace races was said to be the largest in the history of the track. Among the notables present was Jack Dempsey, the Manassas mauler, who came down from New York to enjoy a day's sport. Three thousand one hundred and seventy-seven automobiles passed over the "Gold Mine" bridge. The traffic on this thoroughfare has been greatly facilitated by the double deck, which is in use for the first time during a race meeting. The traffic at the race track was so heavy that it was several hours before the last automobiles finally got away.

Fire of undetermined origin threatened The Observer Building, Centreville, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, when a blaze was discovered in the stock room on the second floor. The blaze was extinguished without serious damage to the building but about $400 worth of paper was destroyed.

After several months of extensive activity in the renovating, redecorating and refurnishing of the new Centreville Hotel, the improved hostelry formally opened its doors with an elaborate community banquet on Wednesday evening of this week.

Preliminary steps were taken this week by the Board of County Commissioners of Queen Anne's and Caroline counties, looking to the dredging of Long Marsh Ditch, and the eventual reclamation of approximately 50,000 acres of farming land, rendered useless in recent years because the big stream, originally constructed by slave labor, has filled up.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE PRESENTS PLAYS

The Washington Players, under the direction of John D. Makosky, presented three plays on Thursday evening of this week; Suppressed Desires, by Susan Gaspell; Grandma Pulls the Shring, by Edith Bernard Delano and David Carb; Daggers and Diamonds, by Katherine Mosely.

The first play"Suppressed Desires" was a comedy based on psycho-analysis and the play was very good. Those taking part were, Misses Myrtle Bryant, Bernice Wooters and Eric Wood.

Grandma Pulls the String was howling success. This one act comedy was very good and wonderful acting by the entire cast put it across in fine style. This play was up to the usual college standard. Those taking part were: Misses Louise Price, Hilda Willis, Elizabeth Roe, Esther Kauffman, Elizabeth Dukes, and Mr. Charles Smith.

The third play "Daggers and Diamonds" was a little harder to put across than the other two, but was well handled by Miss Helen Tyler and Mr. Joseph Kloman who took leading parts. Miss Elizabeth Titsworth and Mr. William Dodd took the minor parts very well. This play was a little different from plays given by the college in the past and to much cannot be said of the fine way in which it was handled. The scene was laid in an old Castle in Europe.

The plays as a whole were very good, and were a big improvement over the play "Captain Applejack" which was given earlier in the year.

CLUB HOUSE UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Construction work started this week on the new club house of the Chester River Yacht and Country Club. The club house will be of colonial architecture facing the Chester River and built on a 60x40 foundation. Mr. Frank Duyer has the contract for construction.

Work will start next week on the construction of a 150 ft. pier 8 feet wide directly in front of the club house.

POWER HEARING HERE NEXT WEDNESDAY

A public hearing, including all users of power from the Chestertown Electric Light & Power Co. will be held in Fireman's Hall at 2 p. m. next Wednesday, May 9th.

Mr. Wolf, chief engineer of the Public Service Commission, will conduct the hearing. The hearing is to be held for the purpose of discussing the demand horsepower charge. There is a demand charge of $1 per horse power per month plus current used and in a number of cases the demand charge is greater than the cost of the power used.

The hearing is the result of investigations made by the Commissioners of Chestertown and the Kent County Chamber of Commerce.

MR. WALTER PIPPIN RESIGNS

Mr. Walter Pippin, Jr., who has been associated with the Prudential Insurance Co. since last summer, has resigned his position and will again go into the contracting business.

Mr. Pippin was in this business and was doing very well, until he injured his hand last summer. After his injury he was forced to give up building and accepted the position with the Prudential which was vacated by Mr. John Townshend, who has been on a leave of absence due to ill health.

Mr. Townshend has returned from his leave of absence and will probably take the position left open by the resignation of Pippin. Mr. Townshend was to be transferred to Salisury but due to the vacancy here will probally take this position.

NO NIGHT HUNGER

We can go eight or nine hours at night without feeling hungry, although if awake we should want two or three meals, because we breathe slower, and less oxygen enters the body to consume our food and induce hunger. There is, too the absence of exercise.
