HOSPITAL FUND NEARS $40,000

The hospital fund took a step nearer the new goal of $40,000 this week when reports on Monday evening brought the total to $37,375.25, with a number of prospective contributions not counted.

The original goal of $25,000 was reached and the last official report meeting brought the total up to $35,441. The workers knowing the enthusiastic and financial support which the people of the various communities were giving the project and the large number of people who had not been solicited, decided to increase the goal to $40,000. The total amount reported Monday night leaves $2,624.75 yet to raise to reach the new goal.

Considering the large number of people in the territory to be solicited and the comparatively few workers, it has been impossible to visit every one. Any one who is interested and has not been solicited are urged to help the workers by mailing their contribution to W. B. Copper, Treas.

COMBINE HARVESTER

While two combine wheat harvesters and threshers are operating in Kent county the second year with reports of very favorable results the following article may be interest.

The operations are confined to farms with large wheat acreages, and the experiments of last year have convinced a number of farmers that these machines are a great saving of cost and labor. A report from the U. S. Department of Agriculture follows:

Summarizing an article on "The Influence of the Combine on Agronomic Practices and Research," John H. Martin, of the United States Department of Agriculture, says:

"Extensive use of the combine probably will result in a decrease of diversified farming and increases both in the size of farms and fields and in the practice of early tillage. The combine also will facilitate the practice of double cropping in some sections.

"The use of the combine is limited much more by the type of farming than by climatic or topographic conditions.

"Combining will probably largely solve the problem of organic matter in the soil in the regions east of the Rocky Mountains by immediately returning the crop residues to the land, if needed.

"The usual loss of straw for feed in combining probably will be compensated by growing feed on land now used for green-manuring crops. If straw is desired for feed, it can be saved by some additional labor.

"Crop varieties susceptible to lodging can be harvested more efficiently with a combine than with a binder. Only a few varieties of wheat will ever shatter enough to cause appreciable losses, but most varieties of oats and some of barley will shatter unless harvested as soon as they are ripe enough to combine.

"Crinkling, or breaking over of the stalks after maturity, frequently occurs when the season is damp and harvesting is delayed considerably. Harvesting losses are increased considerably by crinkling.

"Combined grain will contain excessive moisture unless harvesting is done only when the crop is in proper condition, with special care to permit drying of the dew or rain.

"Green weeds are a serious handicap to combining, but weedy crops can be combined satisfactorily by the windrow method.

"The use of the combine and accompanying large-scale power farm equipment has made possible the economical growing of wheat on what formerly were considered marginal lands."

MEMORIAL GIFT TO HOSPITAL

Among the memorial gifts to the Kent and Upper Queen Anne's Hospital was a $1000 memorial to the late Alexander Mair by Mr. Morris L. Clothier, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Mair until his death several weeks ago, was manager of Mr. Clothier's estates on the Sassafras River for several years and the gift will name a private room in the hospital in memory of Mr. Mair.

Since purchasing land in Kent county, Mr. Clothier has done a great deal toward the development of the section near his estates and has been instrumental in the buidling of good roads in that section. The gift is very much appreciated by the Hospital Board.

COUNTRY CLUB ACTIVITIES

Much activity was in evidence at the Country Club on the fourth of July, both on the golf course and on the water.

The golf course was very popular during the entire day and the aquatic committee carried out an all day program for the yachtsmen.

The fleet of yachts left the club pier in the morning for a cruise down the river, returning at noon for a basket picnic on the pier In the afternoon bang and go back races were held and the speed of the boats entered varied from 25 mile an hour speed boats to the 9 mile an hour cruisers.

Three races were held, each being won by a different entrant and then a race of the three winners determined the final winner.

The first race was won by Mr. Robert D. Wilson in his fast Criscraft. In the second race the Matthews cruiser owned by Mr. I. Price Ewing finished first. Mr. R. H. Rogers, in his cruiser yacht won the third race.

Mr. I. Price Ewing won the race of the three above mentioned winners and was declared winner of the event. A number of spectators witnessed the boat races in the afternoon.

The club golf team will play Dover next Saturday, July 13th, at Dover, in the third match of the Eastern Shore Golf League. Each of the four clubs in the league have won and lost one match which makes a tie and the match next Saturday will be very interesting to those interested in the league. A number of local fans are expected to accompany the team to Dover next Saturday.
