Opportunity Seized by Men of Small Caliber

Let this fact sink into your mind—it is the non-commissioned officers of life who hurt, and against whom resentment is felt. The foremen and the petty overseers; the small men with near horizons and no vision beyond; the little go-betweens who have acquired the habit of tyranny—these form the habit of tyranny—these form the grit of the machinery of industry.

Sometimes they are for the bosses and make life hell for the men under them. Sometimes they stand for rebellion against the higher direction, but invariably their objective is power. They are ready to adopt the shibboleths of either side so long as they gain authority thereby.

If they learn the trick of oratory they become leaders on one side or the other, not because they possess the intrinsic qualities of leadership, but because they are pleasingly vocal.

Nor is this phenomenon peculiar to any class. Oratory has passed for statesmanship in every phase and every period of our political history, and many a man has risen to the governance of state with no other qualifications than his aptitude for epigrams and sonorous peroration.—Edgar Wallace in "People."

Nature Has Hung Out Traffic Sign for Bees

Highly specialized flowers often have lines on their petals to show insects the way to the glands forming their larder. In these nectar is stored—to be turned by bees into honey.

Honey guides are strongly marked on the upper pair of the nasturtium's five petals. They converge to show the way to the deep spur filled with what children call honey, when they bite the spur to taste the sweet stuff.

On the three lower petals, which have no honey guides, will be seen formidable barricades, blocking the entrance to the tube by the way of these petals. This remarkable fence of bristles stretches right across the faces of the lower petals.

They keep at bay such climbing insects as ants, which might try to steal the honey, but would be of no service to the flower.

Famous Old Canal

The original canal connecting St. Marys falls and rapids was a crude affair made by trappers and traders in 1797-98 to connect with the Northwest country in order to permit them to compete in the transportation of furs with the Hudson's Bay company. This work was practically destroyed by United States troops in 1814 during the war with Great Britain, and in 1853 a system of canals was begun by the state of Michigan within the United States borders to connect Lakes Superior and Huron. This cost $1,000,000 and had two locks. It was enlarged in 1870 in co-operation with the United States government, and in 1882 Michigan relinquished control to the federal government.

Theatrical "Snow"

Few who shiver through a "blizzard" on the moving-picture screen know that the "snow" is cornflakes driven along by blowers. A mill in Chicago and another in Omaha make this "snow" out of white corn. This corn is first made into pearly hominy, then flaked, cooked and finally baked, when it is ready to be a "snowstorm." Breakfast cornflakes are made the same way except that malt and sugar are added, which gives them the brownish color. Flakes used in movie blizzards weigh only five ounces to the gallon. After a scene they may be swept up and used again.

Courteous Spaniard

The palace of the Escorial, where the mortal remains of Spanish royal personages are laid to rest, is one of the gloomiest collections of buildings imaginable. Yet, says a writer in the London Daily Chronicle, I have a very pleasant recollection of it. I was walking from Segovia to Madrid, and wanted to see the Escorial on the way. I inquired from a countryman how to reach the palace. He at once offered to guide me, and did so for several miles. Then he utterly refused, with graceful Spanish courtesy, to take any reward. The heavy halls and chapels could not depress me after that display of kindly fellowship.
